COBBLER INSPIRATION FOR COOLIDGE

Humble Friend Aided President's Thirst for Wisdom

Crowd Praises Irish Troops at Flag Ceremony

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DUBLIN, Aug. 22.—A great crowd witnessed a parade today of 5000 Free State troops, representing all branches of the army, on the occasion of the blessing and presentation of a new flag to the army. The flag was presented by President Cosgrave in a torrential downpour. The fine bearing of the troops was remarked upon by the spectators, including numerous American tourists.

A prisoner named Gunning was rescued today by a gunman from a patrol wagon while on his way from Mountjoy to court for trial on a charge of robbery. The gunman stepped on the footboard of the wagon and, pointing a pistol at the three unarmed policemen guarding Gunning and two other prisoners, secured his friend's release. None of the other prisoners tried to escape.

CUBA WIPES SLATE CLEAN OF WAR DEBT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The Cuban government today became the first of America's war-time debtors to pay off the total amount of its loan. The second and final payment on the balance of $6,988,000 owed by Cuba was paid to the Treasury by the National City Bank of New York, acting for the Cuban government.

VICTORY OVER MOROCCANS CLAIMED BY SPANIARDS

Garrison Besieged by Tribesmen Rescued; Gen. Weyler Furious, Would be Dictator

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MELILLA (Morocco) Aug. 22.—The Spanish forces dispatched to the aid of the garrison of Tifaruin which was surrounded by Moroccan rebels, have succeeded in reaching the town after severely punishing the enemy, according to an official communique.

The victorious forces entered the town, relieving the garrison.

SUPPORTED BY AIRPLANES

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The Spanish attack on the Moroccan positions around Tifaruin, where the Spanish garrison is besieged, began at 10 o'clock this morning, says a Central News dispatch from Madrid. The infantry was supported by artillery and airplanes.

Five thousand Spanish troops have arrived in Morocco to replace those killed or wounded in the recent fighting, the dispatch says.

Premier Alhucemas is reported as denying that the Moroccan situation has caused a Cabinet crisis.

WEYLER FURIOUS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MADRID, Aug. 22.—Manifestly furious at the government's refusal to give him a dictator's power over Morocco and the Spanish campaign there, Gen. Don Valeria Weyler left Madrid last night for Alicante, where he took a boat for the Island of Majorca.

Gen. Weyler intends to spend the summer and autumn on his estate there unless the Cabinet—faced with a dangerous Moroccan war without a capable leader, is forced to demand his return and to give him full powers.

"The Moroccan difficulty never will be settled until the government decides to send some capable general there with absolute powers such as I had in Cuba," he snarled at reporters at the station.

The first division of the naval air force rained more than 1000 grenades over the Moorish city of Alhucemas this morning while transports debarked 5000 infantry reinforcements at a position near

GIVES LIFE TO RESCUE SIX OTHERS

Man Who Rose to Great Heights Only to Lose Grip, Killed by Train

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—John Gilmartin, who by dint of hard labor and study, worked his way up from a New York City policeman to assistant State's attorney of Illinois, only later to fail by cause of ill health, was killed today in saving the lives of a gang of six railroad track laborers.

The former State's attorney had a job standing on a curve of the New York Central Railroad, a whistle in hand, to warn track workers of approaching trains. A dozen men were working in a cut at Gouverneur Place when Gilmartin saw an express train approaching. He blew his whistle and the men stepped over to the express track, thinking the train was a local. Gilmartin, seeing their mistake, ran toward them shouting a warning. As they jumped back to the other track the engine truck him, killing him instantly.

Fifteen years ago Gilmartin gave up his job on the police force here and started to study law, attending Kent's College. He went to Chicago, was admitted to the bar and made a name for himself in private practice. Then he went into politics and became assistant State's attorney, holding that position for several years.

However, the hard pace of study and work finally told on him, and he was forced to give up. On doctor's orders he traveled for a time. Then his money gave out and, his private practice being gone, he took the railroad job, his health still broken, in order to support his wife, Florence, with whom he lived here in a two-room apartment.

HANDSHAKING PART OF COOLIDGE ROUTINE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—President Coolidge will continue the practice of shaking hands with delegations of visitors to the White House at the conclusion of each morning's business, although he has been urged not to do so on the ground that it imposes an additional strain upon him. The practice was revived by President Harding after it had lapsed for several years. Mr. Coolidge shook hands with more than 100 callers before luncheon today.

EAST NIPPED BY FROSTS

Middle West Has Severe Chill

Mercury Drops 24 Degrees as Arctic Weather Pays Visit

Experts Rush to Explain Freak; Coal Bins Only Mockery

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—The cool weather which surprised Chicago and the middle northern section of the country today, smashing low temperature records in some places, was explained by the local Weather Bureau as a reaction of the recent stormy conditions.

It was the lull after the storm. The unsettled condition brought low pressure over the area and this was immediately followed by high pressure or clear and cold conditions. Relief was promised by the weather man.

Frost was reported in portions of Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin. In Detroit it was the coldest August 22 in the history of the city, with temperature of 45 deg. at perature tumbled from 75 deg. Tuesday to 53 deg. Wednesday. In some cases the drop was as much as 24 degrees from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m.

IF WINTER COMES

The lowest temperature in Chicago was 54 deg. at 6 a.m.

In Kansas City a temperature of 53 deg. at 7 a.m. was reported.

Weather sharks are predicting an early winter and a severe one and advising people to stock up their coal bins.

Prognosticators, however, base their predictions on the flight south of large flocks of teal ducks, always the latest of the duck family to leave the North. Old-timers say this is the first time they ever recall seeing teal start south in August, and accept it as an indication that the weather farther north has become so disagreeable that they are forced to migrate to warmer territory.

EXPERTS EXPLAIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Weather experts displayed keen interest today in the theory that unusual ice floes in the North Atlantic influence this year's weather conditions and are responsible for some of its freak features. Possibility of early frosts in Northern Canada is believed to be closely connected with this condition.

Presence of unusual amounts of ice in northern waters is regarded as having a close relationship with the abnormalities of the last year and even the most conservative scientists, who insist that all weather is abnormal, admit it may have some bearing on the discovery made by Dr. C. G. Abbott of the Smithsonian Institution that the sun is giving off less heat than usual.

Existence of abnormal ice fields Bay has been verified by the Hydrographic and Geodetic Survey offices. In the early season icebergs were sighted farther south than ever before and ships were warned to alter their courses.

SUN'S FAILURE

To failure of the sun to melt the usual amount of ice and thus compel recession of the Arctic refrigeration to the usual distance north, is ascribed the late spring and the heavy snows which swept across New England and northward late last winter and early in the spring.

The sun is already half way back from its annual northern trip, with the result that the unusual accumulations of snow and ice have not been melted. This accumulated cold of the Arctic has a good start on its yearly journey southward, a fact that presages an early fall, according to some weather experts.

During the spring and early summer, it is pointed out, gales lasting weeks swept against the eastern coasts of Greenland, causing dis-

ELECTION QUIETS IRELAND

Whirlwind Campaigns Throughout Country Are Peaceful; Many Candidates in Field

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

DUBLIN, Aug. 22.—The multitude of candidates in the field for the general election next Monday, the first to be held under the government of the Irish Free State, are making whirlwind campaigns in the few remaining days.

The fact that peaceful electioneering with some minor exceptions is in progress in twenty-six counties affords striking evidence of the transition during the last three months from incessant violence to such tranquility as has not been known in Ireland since the Easter rising in 1916.

TREATY SECURE

Despite the great number of parties and interests represented by the candidates it may be said that neither the treaty nor the Free State established will be threatened by the result. The irregulars alone attack the treaty settlement.

Styling themselves Republicans, they have forced a change which cannot be ignored. But even if the party which bears the government label does not get a majority of the seats, a coalition can be formed by successful factions cooperating with the government party so nothing but unforeseen developments will endanger the leadership of Cosgrave.

It is impossible to estimate DeValera's strength. It will not be surprising if he wins the County Clare constituency for which he is a candidate and where he was arrested. But Ireland is essentially an agricultural nation with that conservatism which farming begets among the electors, and it is not expected that DeValera's idealism will make much of an appeal to men who during the last year witnessed in the name of that candidate, pillaging of their farms and wholesale destruction of life and property.

This country is not only weary of violence and the attempt of the minority to enforce its rule by the argument of gun and land mines, but also it is tired of the talk about a republic.

Whatever may be the outcome of individual candidacies, there seems to be no cause for apprehension concerning the treaty position.

GERMAN CHANCELLOR TO ASSUME DICTATORSHIP

Stresemann Determined to Seize Private Fortunes in Effort to Save Country

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Chancellor Stresemann is preparing to assume the role of a German Mussolini, according to the highest diplomatic authority. In ten days of office the entire politics of this man, who has been considered one of the foremost leaders of the republic, has changed.

Taking office against his wish, and almost against his will at first, on the united request of the Reichstag and people, Herr Stresemann already has had one of the most bitter experiences of any European statesman.

SEIZURE OF PROPERTY

This experience suddenly resolved the Chancellor to declare himself absolute master of Germany's present and future. It means, according to this information, the putting through of a program of draconic legislation, including the partial confiscation of private property, if necessary, without consulting Parliament and with hardly any advice from the Cabinet. Herr Stresemann is disgusted with the present entangling bureaucracy, with the continual party political battles and especially with the Reichstag talk.

To those closest to Stresemann, the Chancellor already has confided how he intends to save Germany from ruin by assuming Mussolini power. Stresemann frequently has consulted with President Ebert concerning the proposed step and the President fully agrees with him. Dictatorial powers will therefore, it is declared, be assumed under Paragraph 48 of the new constitution which places in the hands of the President in stringent times the fullest powers necessary for restoring national order which measures the President and Chancellor can carry without consulting the Cabinet or Reichstag.

CHANCELLOR QUOTED

Stresemann is quoted in making the following predictions:

"Under the powers I will assume under Paragraph 48 I will restore order in Germany. I mean financial and economical order, in four weeks. If I fail there is no hope for Germany; if I fail all is lost."

Stresemann is aware of the tremendous opposition that will be aroused when he overstep the Chancellor's customary powers. The threatened split within his own party and the continuation of attacks from other wings of the present coalition indicate that there are leaders who already have surmised the forthcoming events.

Stresemann, however, is taking everything under consideration and is determined to carry out his revolutionary program if the party and coalition split under him. He has expressed his determination to go ahead without regard or mercy for any one. He, however, does not think that the crisis will lead to a military movement.

PLANS CONFISCATION

Stresemann contemplates the confiscation of parts of private fortunes. He plans to make public a series of decisions, some of which already are known, for restoring the national solvency. These decisions include the gathering of foreign money from industrialists. But no one is optimistic over this measure. I now learn that when this measure fails, Stresemann will announce the confiscation of between a fourth and a third of all foreign monies held by Germany Already placards similar to those which Mussolini issued are under preparation.

The Conservative chancellor in discussing the measure with the Socialist president, it is said, decided that the burden of such a law must be borne by the upper classes, President Ebert pointing out that the middle as well as the working classes are hardly affected as a complete deflation of the mark has practically cancelled ownership among the workers, a majority of the small business men and the professional and learned classes.

PUNISH SABOTAGE

Finally it is the Chancellor's intention to punish sabotage a la Mussolini. For those who swindle the government both in giving up

POINCARE ADAMANT

Won't Yield on Reparations

French Premier in Latest Note Refutes Curzon Statements

Allies Far Apart as Ever Over Collection of German Debt

BY HENRY WALES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Aug. 22.—It would be easier for a lame camel to stagger through the eye of a cambric needle than for Prime Minister Baldwin and Foreign Minister Curzon to be able to reconcile the British point of view on the Ruhr to the French, it was revealed in Premier Poincare's reply to the British note as made public today.

Point by point Poincare pitilessly corrects and refutes Lord Curzon's statements, standing pat on the original French policy of claiming 26,000,000,000 gold marks ($6,500,000,000) to defray the cost of reconstructing the devastated regions and as much more as Great Britain and the United States demand for war debts.

Poincare proposes that the Allies get together immediately to arrange for the payment by Germany of a sum covering the cost of rebuilding the war zone and that they leave the fixation of the balance of the reparations due the Allies as well as a settlement of the war debts to the future.

WARNS BRITISH

The French Premier also warns the British that before officially abandoning any part of France's portion of the 82,000,000,000 gold marks ($20,500,000,000) C bonds Paris must reach an accord with Washington, as the United States, as a creditor, is rightfully interested in not seeing the French financial position weakened.

The note closes by saying:

"We do not suppose that England will reclaim its inter-Allied debts before the payment of reparations. To pay France must recover its force, repair its damage and put itself in a position to combat its German competitors."

This passage naturally applies to the United States also.

To accept the above proposals for an agreement on the collection of 26,000,000,000 gold marks, the British must abandon all their objections to the Ruhr occupation and they must support France's contention that the passive resistance must cease in order to force the German government to begin fulfilling its reparations obligations.

STALL FOR TIME

Since the British are definitely committed against this, it is expected that Baldwin will seek to stall for time through awaiting the results of the imperial cabinet council in October before starting further developments in the Anglo-French controversy.

Poincare deals with three major points.

He defends the legality of the occupation of the Ruhr, and declines negotiations until the passive resistance ceases and he refuses to complete the evacuation until the reparations are paid.

He rejects the suggestion for an international committee of experts to fix Germany's capacity to pay.

He announces his intention of paying the French war debts to Great Britain and the United States, but also of making Germany pay France the equivalent in C. bonds.

Supporting France's right to seize the Ruhr, Poincare quotes three threats which former Prime Minister Lloyd George made to Germany about the occupation and he flatly refuses to submit the affair to the League court on the ground that it would nullify France's rights in the Versailles treaty.

Poincare refuted arguments that annexationist, political and military aims dictated the Ruhr seizure, pointing out that the occupying of the Mainz line separating Prussia and Bavaria would have been strategically more valuable but that it lacked economic assets.

CITES CASE OF AUSTRIA

Citing Austria's recovery, Poincare insists that Germany will soon be able to pay the indemnity rapidly if it really and sincerely tries.

The reply pledges France to modify materially the character of the organization as soon as Germany gives honest proof of its intention of paying. Lord Curzon's reiteration of Secretary of State Hughes's suggestion at New Haven of an international committee of experts to fix Germany's capacity to pay is thrown down on the ground that Germany's capacity

Mayor Rolph Gets Greeting Sent Yesterday by Mayor Hylan

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—San Francisco moved almost four days' travel nearer to New York today through the success of the air mail service's first test of night flying westbound. Pilot Clair K. Vance brought more than 400 pounds of mail from eastern points to Crissy Field here tonight at 6:24 o'clock, 34h. 23m. after the first installment of it had left Hempstead Field, on Long Island yesterday morning.

Reno.....C. K. Vance	4:09 p.m.	4:24 p.m.
San Francisco	6:24 p.m.

RAPID TIME MADE

The remarkable thing about the flight, air officers here said, was the rapid time from Cheyenne west. There the schedule called for 11 hours and 45 minutes, but the actual time made was 2 hours and 1 minute faster. Today's eastbound plane also bettered the schedule time between here and Cheyenne, air mail officials announced.

The log of the flight is as follows:

This mail was delivered tonight, so that within an hour official messages from Mayor Hylan of New York to Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, or from eastern mail officials to those in charge of the service's affairs in the West were being read.

The last rays of the setting sun, sweeping up through the Golden Gate toward the Berkeley hills across San Francisco Bay, gilded Vance's onrushing plane as it came out of the evening haze and observers at Crissey Field sighted it several minutes before he landed. He came on rapidly and drove down to the field, against the wind, without circling. He made a quick and graceful landing, the wheels of his plane touching the ground less than a minute after the roar of the plane's motor first was heard.

MAIL TRUCK READY

But if he was quick, those awaiting him were quicker. The propellor of his plane had not stopped turning when a mail truck, waiting for his consignment of messages and small packages, was backed up directly to the plane and men threw the pouches from the cockpit to the truck, which sped away to the postoffice for sorting of letters.

The mail brought here was distributed and dispatched from the Ferry postoffice, approximately five miles from the landing field, by 7:30 p.m. The incoming budget included about 5000 pieces of first-class mail for San Francisco, beside approximately a tenth of that number of special delivery letters and there were about 5000 other pieces of mail brought by the plane for relay by train or other means to various points in California.

Immediate delivery of air mail in San Francisco, by means of a force of subcarriers, will be the rule every night during the five-day test now under way, postoffice officials announced.

Half a dozen special messengers, with motorcycles whose engines were popping, stood by for the special delivery letters which accompanied the pouches and presently dashed away to begin deliveries.

Vance, who is a slender wiry figure of medium height, clambered out of his seat with a smile. He is a veteran air mail pilot and, ex-

COLORADO FLOOD IS FEARED

Irrigation Reservoir Near Fowler Breaks; Rockyford Dam Threatened by Wall of Water

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PUEBLO (Colo.) Aug. 22.—A large irrigation reservoir on the Apishapa River, south of Fowler, Colo., has broken, according to information received here, and a great body of water is moving toward another reservoir at Rockyford. The water early tonight was running four feet over the dam at Rockyford and city officials expressed the fear that when the water from the broken reservoir south of Fowler reached the Rockyford Dam, the latter would break, causing a serious flood.

Heavy rains last night raised the water and formed a lake five miles back of the river from the Fowler dam, which is half a mile wide. Close watch was kept at the dam and this afternoon when one end washed out, warnings were sent out by telephone operators to all families in the path of the flood. Prompt warning saved a loss of life, officials said.

DAM GOES OUT

The entire dam went out soon after the end was washed away. A wall of water is descending on Olney Spring, Manzanola, Rockyford and La Junta, Colo.

The Arkansas river, into which all this water will empty, is already bankfull from the rains in Pueblo and surrounding territory yesterday and fears are felt for the safety of the town in the flood's path. Residents in all the lowlands are moving to high ground.

WALL OF WATER

A twenty-seven foot wall of water is reported to be headed toward Manzanola by telephone operators at that place, who said the water had twenty-five miles to go before reaching them. The river can stand only about a five-foot raise, observers said tonight.

PARTY LEADERS BACK COOLIDGE

Concentrate on Efforts for His Nomination

Letters Urging Organization Work Sent Out

Strength is Indicated by Secretary Work

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Indications are multiplying to indicate that the Republican leaders are concentrating their efforts to bring about the nomination of Calvin Coolidge for the Republican party chief in 1924 and today it was ascertained that a good many letters are going out from strong men in the Republican party asking that organization work be stimulated at once to see that President Coolidge is named for the White House again in June of 1924.

SECRETARY WORK'S LETTER

This letter from Secretary of the Interior Work to one of his boyhood friends living near his birthplace is indicative of the strength back of the move to bring about the nomination of Calvin Coolidge in 1924:

John S. Fisher,
Indiana, Pa.,

My Dear John: Since I saw you, we have gone through a trying ordeal of national consequence.

More of our people feel that they have lost a personal friend than ever before in the history of our country.

Only those who had frequent contact with President Harding could appreciate his capacity for friendship, but even then I was not prepared for the attitude of grief of the millions of people who stood uncovered by our line of travel from coast to coast.

Now that the change of administrator of the government has been effected thoughtful men are discussing the future.

There seems to be no disagreement among party leaders here in Washington, nor those who have been in from outside during the past week, as to the wisdom of closing up our ranks behind the new President as the party candidate if he will consent. The public already appreciates his quality and I am sure his election would follow.

HEIR TO ORGANIZATION

He has inherited the Harding organization and policies and, logically, should be supported for the nomination precisely as his predecessor would have been had he lived.

Perhaps no man in the United States is as well qualified by temperament and experience for the duties of the Presidency upon short notice, as President Coolidge.

He has been closer to his President than any previous Vice President and is as intimately advised of our foreign and domestic relations and the procedure and hopes of President Harding as members of the Cabinet, with whom he sat for two years.

As above indicated, I have heard no contrary opinion expressed as to the wisdom of going forward. With kindest regards and best wishes.

NO LAW AGAINST FLEA CRUELTY

Insects Are Not on English Bill to Protect Animals That do Tricks

[Special Foreign Correspondence.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—After protracted opposition an agreement was reached in committee at the House of Commons on the form of the Performing Animals Bill. On the proposal of Sir Walter de Frece, reptiles and fishes were added to the list of animals protected from cruelty, but "insects" were struck off when the difficulty of securing conviction for ill-treatment of fleas was presented.

MAIL PLANE AT SAN FRANCISCO

cept for an added effort to make speed on the fields and in flight, today's effort was nothing unusual for him. His home is in Logansport, Ind., and he formerly was one of the pilots on what the mail fliers call "the St. Louis run." He was one of America's first war-time aviators, too, and served as an instructor in France for budding American aviators.

Vance said that had been no unusual incident in connection with his flight. "I had headwinds soon after taking off from Reno," he said, "but they were not serious. I averaged about 100 miles an hour from there here, flying most of the time at 13,000 or 14,000 feet altitude."

A. C. Nelson, superintendent of the western division of the air mail service, and Col. W. E. Gilmore, of the air service of the Ninth Corps Area of the Army, extended official greetings to Vance as he stepped down from his plane.

"I'm proud of our fellows," said Nelson. "Fogs such as delayed this west-bound mail four hours today in Wyoming would be an infrequent occurrence in our service. Today's accomplishment establishes that air mail service is a success."

FILM PART OF CARGO

Nelson himself is a former army aviator.

The first package to come from the plane today was that which yesterday started from New York. In it was a motion picture news reel showing the preliminaries of the start West. It was added to the New York package at Hempstead Field.

Special attention was called by air officers to the rapidity with which mail was changed from one plane to another at the western fields today. Though fifteen minutes were allowed for this in the official schedule, at no field was more than two minutes required and on the last change, that at Reno late this afternoon, the transfer from incoming to outgoing plane was made in one minute.

LANDS AT OMAHA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OMAHA, Aug. 22.—Jack Knight with the second San Francisco-New York consignment of flying mail, landed at Fort Crook field at 10:20 p.m., 1 hour and 25 minutes ahead of his scheduled time.

Pilot Dean Smith left with the San Francisco-New York mail brought in by Jack Knight, just six minutes after Knight landed, or 10:26 p.m.

Pilot Glenn Lewis, with the second west air mail consignment, arrived at Omaha at 10:42 p.m.

Pilot Yager picked up Lewis's cargo and left the field at 10:49 p.m., after taxiing about the field for an engine test. Yager had sixteen pouches of mail.

In anticipation of the arrival of both the west-bound and east-bound second day's transcontinental flying mail in Omaha, two hours or more ahead of schedule time, Col. Paul Henderson, directing the flights issued instructions to the local Post Office Department by telephoning to speed up the local consignment delivery to the air field.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Pilot Harewell Thompson, carrying the west-bound mail in the second day's test of continuous transcontinental-mail transportation, landed here at 6:09 p.m., central standard time, 49 minutes ahead of schedule.

Pilot Harold Lewis left at 6:12 p.m. for Omaha, three minutes being required here for the transfer of mail. Favorable weather westward indicated that Lewis will be still farther ahead of schedule when he drops to the ground at Omaha.

ARIZONA UNIVERSITY TUITION COST HIGHER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Aug. 22.—Of especial interest to several hundred attendants from California and other outside States is the announcement that outside students next term in the University of Arizona will be charged $100 a year tuition, instead of $60, as in the past. The new fee is based on the usual charge in other States, and is not intended to more than partially repay the student per capita cost of the institution. It has been determined also that students from other States will not be admitted unless they are able to meet the requirements of their own State university, this to insure against getting individuals rejected at home.

CONGRESSMEN ARE INSULTED IN GERMANY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Aug. 22. — Senator Thomas Sterling of South Dakota and Representative Theodore Burton of Ohio, who arrived here today from the Interparliament Congress at Stockholm, had an unpleasant experience on a German train when Monarchists insulted them because they were foreigners and Communists threatened them because they were well dressed. Mr. Burton said he found Germany more quiet than reports abroad indicated, but he noticed considerable uncertainty, restlessness and black pessimism.

LARGEST AIRPLANE IN FLIGHT

Barling Bomber Makes Test at Dayton Field; Ends With Perfect Landing

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAYTON (O.) Aug. 22.—The Barling bomber, world's largest airplane, took off from Wilbur Wright Field at about 6:15 o'clock tonight after several minutes' preliminary tuning of the six Liberty motors by mechanics. The huge plane rose from the ground after a comparatively short run and in a few minutes was about 2000 feet in the air.

The ship, after circling over the field, started off toward Dayton, traveling at the rate of about ninety miles an hour.

The bomber, following a twenty-five-mile swing through the air, made a perfect landing at 6:45 o'clock.

Walter Henry Barling, designer of the huge craft, was one of the crew of four men who manned the ship on its maiden flight. Lieuts. Harold R. Harris and M. S. Fairchild of McCook Field piloted the bomber. Douglas Culver, McCook Field mechanic, was in charge of the engines. A number of air experts witnessed the flight.

FRENCH OPTIMISTIC

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Gen. Poeymirau's operations separating the Marmoucha and Ait Seghouchen Nations in Morocco are characterized as a decisive victory for the French by Foreign office tonight. Neither the Marmoucha nor the Ait Seghouchen tribes can continue successfully to oppose the French army, according to the officials, and therefore the operation completed yesterday marks the practical subjugation of North Africa. The fighting has been almost continuous in the Taza Region since July 14.

foreign currencies and in the income tax returns, Stresemann will, if forced, announce a law of total confiscation of property.

The stock exchanges already have heard a rumor that the death penalty for frauds under the new laws is contemplated, but Herr Stresemann does not intend to go so far. However, he is determined that punishments must be meted out.

Foreign diplomats accustomed to meeting Stresemann before he assumed the chancellorship are amazed at his change in demeanor. In a few days he has become a fiery man of action, ready to go the limit at all costs, for his policies.

Chancellor Stresemann called the party leaders this afternoon to announce that he was taking dictatorial measures to save Germany from ruin. The party leaders pledged their confidence in him.

"This is the last parliamentary cabinet in Germany," said Herr Stresemann, "after us there can be only violence."

Herr Stresemann then decided that the first measure to be enacted will be to obtain a part of the immense sums of foreign money which German magnates are hiding. Everybody will have to take an oath on his foreign holdings.

Late tonight the industrialists thoroughly agreed with Herr Stresemann, but they believed that the money should be obtained legally rather than by confiscation.

IZAAK WALTON HOME TO STAY

Cottage at Stafford is Not to Be Sold to United States

[Special Foreign Correspondence.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The committee formed to prevent Izaak Walton's cottage from being sold for transportation to the United States has purchased the property from the authorities at Stafford intrusted with its care under the terms of the "compleat angler's" will. Restoration of the cottage has begun, with a view to making it a resort for all "lovers of the angle."

When restored, with a new thatched roof, open-timbered work and small leaded panes of its original period, the cottage will consist of six small rooms.

These will be untouched except for cleaning, so that the interior will look as it did when Izaak Walton was in the habit of visiting it, and where, tradition says, he sheltered the persecuted Bishop Morley.

turbances which displaced large quantities of ice from the Arctic region. This eruption, it is believed, caused disturbances in the ocean currents, preventing the usual modifying effect upon the climate of England and of Western Europe by the Gulf Stream, resulting in their late spring.

BLAME ARCTIC

This, it is believed, caused that displacement of the permanent "Azores low" which this summer has permitted the winds from the Sahara to furnish the same section of Europe with a continuous Turkish bath.

The marked presence of ice in the North Atlantic has been duplicated in the Pacific Arctic regions, and leading meteorologists of Japan already have predicted a rice famine in that country because of the damaging effect of the air currents blowing over Japan from their origin in the ice floes of the Siberian and Alaskan coasts. Projection of the Asiatic coast ice boundary toward the south this year has been marked.

Whether or not the tendency of the ice boundaries of the north to project southward has affected drought conditions in the United States is a question upon which government scientists are divided.

FRENCH WILL STAY IN RUHR

today is sure and furthermore that the members of the reparations commission are entitled to call in outsiders in aiding them in investigating Germany's ability to pay.

The note closes with M. Poincare's regret at the British decision to publish all the correspondence, hinting that it would be better to keep the negotiations secret in the interest of all concerned.

LONDON DISHEARTENED
BY JOHN STEELE

LONDON, Aug. 22.—"Admirable in sentiment, but so far as we can see, it gets no where."

This was the British comment today on Premier Poincare's reply to the last British note, but this was qualified by the observation that this comment was based on a cursory reading of the document which is now being translated and which will be studied by officials of the foreign office, the treasury and the board of trade in the hope of finding some small advance in the French position.

At the moment, however, the note is taken as meaning that M. Poincare is determined to remain in the Ruhr until the last cent of France's demand on Germany has been paid, that he is determined to make the payment not only of the French debt to Great Britain but the French debt to the United States contingent on the collection of the amount from Germany, and that he is determined to take no account of the effect of the French policy on the state of Europe outside France.

With these views his polite sentiments in favor of maintaining the entente caused little joy in British official circles. This, of course, is putting it all very bluntly, but it accurately represents the reaction of the French note in British circles. The British officials are too polite to say this in so many words.

Opium Smoking and Gambling Legal in China

BY J. R. POWELD
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—Both gambling and opium smoking have been legalized in the city of Canton as a means of raising money by the forces under the control of Sun Yat Sen, the southern leader, for the purpose of continuing the internal war, according to reports received here today.

In addition to the legalization of opium and gambling as a source of revenue, the military officials also are selling temples and public properties and are mortgaging the railroads to raise funds. Property owners are being forced to contribute two months' rent for use in the internal squabble.

WILL MINIMIZE COAL STRIKE

the negotiations between the operators and the miners' union at Atlantic City. It is generally regarded as a foregone conclusion, however, that if other expedients fail the President will ask the representatives of the operators and of the union to come to Washington for a conference at which he will endeavor to bring about peace.

The invitations to participate in the distribution conference at New York were sent to the governors of States in which anthracite coal is consumed largely or almost exclusively — Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Vermont.

The West was not invited, it was explained, for the reason that comparatively little anthracite is used in that region and reports indicate that the supplies already on hand west of the Alleghanies are adequate to meet the possible emergency. In explanation of the governors' conference Wadleigh said:

"In order to discuss and formulate plans for the distribution of bituminous coal and coke for domestic use into the principal anthracite consuming States, in the event of a stoppage of work at the anthracite mines on September 1 the governors of the States interested will be requested to send representatives to attend a conference at New York City on August 28, 1923.

"It is hoped that every State will be represented, so that full discussion may be had and definite action taken in order to insure the distribution into the respective States of sufficient amounts of coal and coke to the end that the public may suffer no inconvenience owing to a lack of fuel for heating its homes, offices, etc.

"Representatives of the railways interested probably will be asked to attend the conference and a representative of the Interstate Commerce Commission will be present, as the whole matter of fuel distribution is largely one of adequate transportation.

"An important subject to be discussed will be the matter of education of the consumer in the use of fuels other than anthracite, as it is felt that a systematic plan of public instruction can be made of great service in the practical and efficient use of such fuels and will thereby reduce the actual cost of heating, with resultant savings to the individual consumer and the community."

President Coolidge was furnished with a report showing that there are between 23,000,000 and 25,000,000 tons of anthracite in bins now and 15,000,000 tons of bituminous coal above ground, including dealers' stocks.

To meet the anthracite shortage in the event of a strike about 1,000,000 tons of bituminous coal and coke a week would be required for a period of four months. This is about 10 per cent of the possible production of bituminous coal. It was stated that the bituminous mines easily could furnish this additional amount, as the soft-coal market is stagnant at present and many mines have been closed because of the slack demand. These mines would be reopened and the output of other mines increased as a result of the increased demand for bituminous in the event of an anthracite strike.

It was further pointed out that there has been a material increase in the use of oil and coke as a substitute for anthracite coal. On the question of transportation, the lead for the railroads it was said will not be greatly increased. This is due to the fact that sources of greatest consumption of anthracite coal being in New England and New York, they will be accessible by water.

WARRING FACTIONS WAIT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Aug. 22.—Officials of the miners' union and representatives of anthracite coal operators whose break-up of wage negotiations yesterday raised almost certain prospect of a stoppage of coal production September 1, kept fruitless vigil in separate hotels here today. They were waiting, leaders said, without any idea of altering their positions which ended the joint conference, but as a matter of courtesy to the Federal government, from some agency of which there might possibly come a communication that would make conference desirable.

No direct message came either from the United States Coal Commission, at the instance of which wage-scale negotiations were renewed this week after a previous suspension, or from any other source.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said he had nothing to add to the announcement of yesterday that the union would "administer to the operators the trouncing of their careers" in the mine stoppage he expects to see September 1. Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the operators' policy committee, remarked only that press comment and public reaction today all appeared to him to support the employers' attitude of refusing wage increases, but offered arbitration of every disputed issue.

Vessel on Way to Africa Has Monkey Pilot

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NORFOLK (Va.) Aug. 22.—With a dog-faced monkey acting as steersman, the British ship Bereby cleared the Virginia Capes yesterday afternoon bound for the west coast of Africa.

Pat, as the monkey is called, was captured three years ago in the jungles of West Africa by George Cooper, purser of the Bereby, who was collecting monkeys for the London Zoo.

Cooper took him aboard the Bereby. His remarkable intelligence soon attracted Cooper's attention. Before London was reached Pat was eating with a knife and fork, putting sugar in his coffee and stirring it with a spoon, and in many other ways behaving like a human being. Among other things, he was taught to handle the ship's wheel.

BERGDOLL PLOTTERS ARE IN JAIL

Prisoners Transported to Wurzburg to Keep French From Attempted Rescue

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRANKFURT (Germany) Aug. 23.—Lieut. Hoover C. Griffis, Victor Nielsen, Prince Gagarin and Roger Sperber, who with Carl Schmidt, killed by Bergdoll, attempted to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, are in jail in Wurzburg, Bavaria, where they were taken direct from Eberbach.

This discredits a report that they were taken from place to place in order to keep their location a secret and allays reports that Bergdoll, after kidnaping the prisoners, had them in his hands.

Judge Trautwein, who will investigate the case, says the prisoners were removed in order to forestall any attempt by the French to come to Eberbach in armored cars and rescue them.

"The removal of the prisoners from Baden to Bavaria was abnormal, but perfectly legal," the judge said. "This method frequently is used, especially in territory adjoining the French occupied zone."

The preliminary investigation will take several weeks since the legal procedure in a case of this kind is slow and complicated. The case will be heard in Mosbach within several months, although the prisoners are now in Bavaria. Judge Trautwein will see the prisoners for the first time tomorrow.

Sperber is charged with attempted murder and the other three with attempted kidnaping and complicity in attempted murder. The maximum sentence for Sperber is fifteen years at hard labor and for the others not more than a few years' imprisonment.

The attempted murder charge is based on the fact that there were ropes and other appliances used by the kidnapers which could have been used for other purposes than binding Bergdoll and letting him out of a low window. Also the instructions given in the first kidnaping attempt were, get Bergdoll dead or alive, and the judge believes that the same instructions held this time.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 22.—A 10-cent decrease in the municipal tax rate was assured in Santa Ana today, following a meeting of the City Council, at which the new rate of $3.40 per $100 of valuation was decided upon. WILHELM ADMITS ACTIV

German Paper in Holland Publishes Interview Confirmation of Reports Lately Denied

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

THE HAGUE, Aug. 22.—The Deutsch Wochen [illegible] secure weekly German periodical published in Holland, appears to be a genuine interview with the ex-Kaiser and [illegible] tained by the editor, Herr Preil. This paper appears to [illegible] chosen for Wilhelm's utterances for some very good [illegible] not yet apparent.

What is perhaps the most striking feature is that in the course of the interview the ex-Kaiser admitted the activities of the Hohenzollerns in Holland during the last few months, which he and officials here had insistently denied.

APPEARANCE GOOD

Herr Preil relates that the ex-Kaiser appears to be in good health, wit hno sign of the severe look displayed by many photographs. Laughingly the ex-Kaiser shook his fist in the editor's face, saying:

"If you want to hear me on politics, then you must have patience."

"That is almost unavoidable, in view of the reports of intrigues, nightly visits, and the like," replied the Wochen Zeitung's editor.

"Yes, you are right. Naturally I have read about it," said Wilhelm, "but can you blame me if my children visit me here? Do you blame the Crown Prince for wanting to leave his lonely island to see us in Doorn?

"Do you not think it extraordinary," said the ex-Kaiser, with a comic grimace, "that people always make stories about Junkers who wish to carry off the Crown Prince by boat or airplane?

ATTEMPTS HUMOR

"The crown prince often talks with crews of German barges coming from Emden. Socialists and anarchists, but it has never been reported that these crews wished to carry off the Crown Prince," said the ex-Kaiser, endeavoring to be humorous.

Wilhelm said that the report that the Crown Princess had sold her estate, "Cecilienhof," was a lie.

"My son, Eitel Frederich, has been here several times and also Heifferich. Also many professors, intellectuals, artists, and other people who wished to speak to me have visited me."

"Doorn is like a greenhouse. Everyone can look in. Who comes, who goes, is known. Therefore, I am amused that even Stinnes was supposed to have been here. (Stinnes was reported to have visited Wetzingen.) I do not know Stinnes personally, or whether he is my friend or foe, but I have heard from acquaintances that he interests himself little in politics."

ADMITS TRIP TO SHORE

Referring to much denied reports that he had visited a seaside resort, the ex-Kaiser said:

"I certainly was in Noordwyk-on-Sea with my wife, naturally with the consent of the Dutch government. We visited Count Bentinck and my adjutant, Ilsemann. I did not play tennis, nor did I win a prize.

"It is extraordinary that the lately personal attacks on myself and the Crown Prince have been so numerous and that the number of journalists in Doorn and the vicinity have so increased."

The ex-Kaiser denied that he was writing a book, but said he read many newspapers and foreign man and foreign articles which interest him, talks them over with his age. He spoke of the [illegible] able relations he had with Dutch families and of the behavior of the [illegible] Doorn.

FLOOD CONTROL RULING UPHELD

Sutter - Butte Assessment Affirmed by Court

Sum of $8,000,000 to be Used in District

Provides Against Overflow of Sacramento River

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—The State Supreme Court late today affirmed the judgment of the Sutter County Superior Court validating the $8,000,000 assessment levied for Sutter-Butte by-pass No. 6 of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Drainage District for flood control work.

The decision was unanimous and bore the signatures of seven justices.

The controversy originated from adoption by the Legislature of a report of the California Debris Commission which provided for flood control for the Sacramento River. This report included plans for the building of levees on both sides of the Sutter-Butte by-pass to prevent the inundation of lands on either side of the pass.

CHIEF OBJECTION

The legislative action created a reclamation board which was given the power to levy assessments to put the plan into effect.

The principal objection of the appellants was a claim that landowners representing more than 170,000 acres on the west side of the pass were compelled to bear an undue and unwarranted burden of expense.

Ruling on the contentions of the appellants, the Supreme Court, among other things, held:

That the Sutter county Superior Court had jurisdiction over land extending into Sacramento and Yolo counties, because Sutter county embraced the greater part of the land affected.

That the validity of the Superior Court order is not impaired by the fact that the order was signed outside the county in which the proceeding was pending.

That there is no merit in the appellant's contention that various continuances in the Superior Court hearing were irregular and void.

RIGHT TO ERECT LEVEES

Commenting on the right of landowners to erect levees, the decision stated that the "court has determined that flood waters from streams like the Sacramento River are a common enemy against which each property owner may defend himself by protection levees even though the result be to cast water upon his neighbor's land."

NO CLEW TO KIDNAPED BABY

New York Police Continue to Search Homes and Send Out Description of Missing Child

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—New York police today spent the fifth day of their search for baby Lillian McKenzie, kidnaped from her perambulator on Saturday afternoon as her mother shopped in a 5 and 10-cent store, without a single workable clew to the identity of the kidnaper.

Their only hope of finding the baby, they confess, lies in a systematic search and in the co-operation of policemen in 9000 cities throughout the United States and Canada.

Descriptions of the infant girl are on their way through the mails to every police force of size in the two countries. Police are not holding to any particular theories. They term the McKenzie case the most baffling of its sort in the history of the department, because it has neither motive nor clew. Because of the circumstances they have not discarded the theory that the kidnaper might have gone anywhere in the United States or Canada.

The local search was extended when Capt. Funston ordered his men to work south of Union Square, as well as north. Previously the search had been confined to the section west of Fifth avenue, south of Thirty-fourth street and north of Fourteenth.

Because of the impossibility of forumlating any theory based upon fact or circumstances, Capt. Funston is exhausting every possibility that occurs to him. One of them is that a woman of Greenwich Village, possibly demented by art studies, took the child. Citizens of the village are submitting without protest to the search, the detectives have reported.

As the policemen searched there was a great difference apparent in the conduct of other mothers of the city as they shopped. Baby carriages were not left outside today unless they were in charge of older children or nurses. Aisles in some of the down-town stores were clogged with perambulators. Apparently every mother in the city has taken the McKenzie case as a warning to herself.

MARRYING PREACHER SUCCUMBS

Elkton Minister Credited With Tying 9000 Nuptial Knots During Career

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ELKTON (Md.) Aug. 22.—Rev. Daniel Forbes Lockerbie, the "marrying parson" of Elkton, died late yesterday in the Union Hospital here. He was 85 years of age. Mr. Lockerbie, who is said to have performed about 900 marriages, underwent an operation last week. Due to his advanced age, he failed to rally. Mr. Lockerbie, who formerly lived in Philadelphia, was an independent Presbyterian minister. He took up his residence in this city four years ago, coming here with the expressed intention of becoming a "marrying parson."

He was a graduate of the Princeton Theological Seminary and ordained a Presbyterian minister in 1869.

In 1921, members of the New Castle Presbyterian, which embraces Elkton, attempted to take action against Mr. Lockerbie. After many meetings and numerous complaints against him, the Presbytery finally decided that no action could be taken against him by the church.

Mr. Lockerbie went to Philadelphia in 1872 where he founded a church and served the pulpit there many years.

Later he resigned from the Central Presbytery of Philadelphia because he said, "he realized the narrowness of all sects and wished to become an Apostolic Paulina teacher."

From that time on, as Mr. Lockerbie put it, "he had never been under the discipline of any denomination."

Mr. Lockerbie had been married twice, his first wife dying sometime ago. He is survived by five children, his second wife, and five step-children.

FLOOD LOSS RISES HIGH NEAR GLOBE

Second Cloudburst Adds to Recent Damage; Bolt Sears Mine Worker

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLOBE (Ariz.) Aug. 22.—A second cloudburst has done much damage around Globe, mainly in the overflowing of the banks of Pinal Creek and from the flow of side washes. The Globe Foundry, which had a loss of $5000 through the last flood, again was damaged, losing about $2000, mainly through the flooding of the floor on which were a number of heavy castings lately poured. Lightning struck a number of wires near the County Hospital, cutting out the East Globe fire alarm system.

At Miami, George Knox, a traveling steam shovel man, while at his work for the Miami Copper Company at the tailings dump, was hurled from the shovel by a bolt of lightning that tore his felt hat to ribbons and that left seared marks down his face and body, finally tearing off his right shoe. Yet he is reported from the hospital as convalescing after his extraordinary experience.

Between Solomonville and Duncan, a party of automobile travelers from Phoenix, including John Nix and wife, Mrs. W. A. Nix and daughter and Henry Nix, was caught by a wall of water that rushed down a canyon through which the road ran. The auto was overturned and badly damaged, but the occupants managed to scramble up the sides of the canyon.

With many floods known this season at near-by points, Naches, a station on the Arizona Railway near San Carlos, thus far has been passed by the rains. The same aridity has been usual in previous years.

PLENTY OF WATER AT ROOSEVELT DAM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Aug. 22.—Lack of apprehension concerning possible draining of the Roosevelt dam is shown by the action of the governors of the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association in granting applicants an additional three-quarters of an acre foot of water where needed, this above the ordinary allotment. There is belief that the seasonal storage will be ample. Slight rises are being reported from the reservoir as the stream beds fill from the summer rains. In the event of any shortage in the canals, large pumps will be installed, in addition to the large supply now coming from the drainage pumps, of which there are about 150 in the valley.

TEXAS LEGION GETS COOLIDGE MESSAGE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

GALVESTON, Aug. 22.—A message from President Calvin Coolidge in regard to the Texas Legion convention next week was received today by Stephen McCarthy, Commander of Argonne Post, No. 20.

"A reminder that the Texas State convention of the American Legion is to be in Galveston, beginning the 28th inst.," said the President, "inspires the desire to express through you to your comrades my best wishes to the members of your organization and my hope that it may continue its high service in the cause of real Americanism."

One automobile to every 5500 people was the proportion in 1900, today there is one to every eight, in this country.

TRIAL OF OFFICIALS IN BANK CRASH SET

PRESIDENT, CASHIER AND TWO OTHER DEFENDANTS PLEAD NOT GUILTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Aug. 22.—September 25 has been set for the trial of the first of the cases against the Kingsbury family and Cashier Jones for the alleged crimes in connection with the closing of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Tempe last month. This morning Judge C. F. Struckmeyer overruled demurrers to the indictments in which were contained charges of receiving deposits for an insolvent bank and wilful misapplication of bank funds and against Jones of destruction and mutilation of bank records.

The defendants, W. J. Kingsbury, Viola C. Kingsbury and W. W. Kingsbury and Thornton Jones, Jr., all pleaded not guilty. The elder Kingsbury and Jones still are in jail in default of $50,000 bonds, while Mrs. Kingsbury and her son are out on bail bonds of $10,000 and $20,000, respectively.

Two secret indictments have been returned by the grand jury, which has taken recess of several days.

High Blood Pressure

No One Can Make You Investigate Witter Water

There is no question about the danger of high blood pressure. Vital statistics show that one out of every three persons whose blood pressure is above normal dies within a year. In other words, one-third of the people with high blood pressure who are reading this paper today will be dead this time next year, unless they take steps to remedy this condition.

There is no question about the symptoms of high blood pressure. Dr. Francis Ashley Faught, a noted authority on the subject, definitely states them as:

1. Cold hands and feet.
2. Slight momentary dizziness.
3. Sleep unrefreshing.
4. Sleep disturbed by dreams.
5. Feeling of fullness in the head.
6. Gastric disturbances after meals.
7. Chronic constipation.
8. Weakness and lowered vitality.
9. Nervousness.
10. Persistent headaches.

There is no question as to the effectiveness of the Witter Water treatment. Test after test has been made. Each time the patient's blood pressure was reduced to normal. During the past 18 months 3000 cases have been successfully treated.

These are facts—supported by medical science. We can only put them before you. We cannot make you act. If in the face of what every authority tells you about high blood pressure, you prefer to drift along to inevitable serious consequences that is up to you. But honestly, isn't it the safe and sensible thing at least to investigate the Witter Water treatment?

LIQUORS SEIZED AFTER GOURAUD'S DINNER

FRENCH WAR HERO DENIES KNOWING ABOUT IT, THREE MEN PAY FINES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Three members of the French liner France were arrested and seventy-two bottles of choice wines, champagne and liquors seized in a raid that followed a dinner given by Gen. Henri Gouraud, one-armed French war hero, to more than a score of prominent Americans.

The trio, it was asserted, were attempting to moisten the party following Gouraud's dry dinner. The general, the ship's captain and officials of the line expressed amazement and indignation at the activities of the asserted liquor purveyors.

Among the guests at Gen. Gouraud's dinner were U. S. Atty. Hayward of New York, U. S. Atty. Donovan of Buffalo, James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany; Maj.-Gen. James G. Harbord, Rev. Father Francis P. Duffy, chaplain of the old Sixty-ninth regiment; and several French dignitaries.

Lacking proof that the bartender and two stewards of the France, who were arrested, had disposed of any of their liquors to Gen. Gouraud's guests, Solicitor Barnes released them this afternoon upon the payment of a $212 fine. The French line assumed responsibility for the presence of unsealed liquor on the vessel and paid the fine.

EDISON ILLNESS TALK DENIED AT FORD CAMP

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ISHPEMING (Mich.) Aug. 22.—Disquieting rumors that Thomas A. Edison was ill were put down today at Henry Ford's camp in the Michigan upper peninsula. It was said that Mr. Edison had injured a finger slightly. Feeling indisposed, he had refrained from accompanying Mr. Ford and Harvey Firestone on a hike through the woods this afternoon. Rumors of Mr. Edison's illness had been so magnified that a report gained circulation that he had died of apoplexy.

TRAGEDY OF COAL STRIKE IS AVERTED

Coolidge's Swift Action Insures Adequate Supply for Public

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. — Though prepared to make further efforts to avert the threatened strike of anthracite coal miners, President Coolidge took steps today to assure an adequate supply of bituminous substitutes in the event the shut down materializes on September 12.

The President this morning summoned Francis R. Wadleigh, Federal Fuel Distributor, and Acting Chairman Aitchison of the Interstate Commerce Commission to the White House. The outcome of their conference was to establish a cor-porative Federal and State organization for speedy and systematic distribution of bituminous coal, coke and other substitutes to the anthracite-consuming States.

Following the conference Mr. Wadleigh telegraphed of governors of the Eastern States and New England requesting them to send representatives to meet him and agents of the Interstate Commerce Commission in New York next Tuesday to consider distribution plan.

President Coolidge reiterated his assertion that the people must not be allowed to suffer from lack of fuel, and he was assured by the officials who have surveyed the existing coal supplies that the anthracite shortage in the event of a strike easily can be met with bituminous coal and other substitutes, provided the distribution can be effected. The whole problem is mainly one of transportation, the President was informed.

SURVEY OF FLAGSHIP REVEALS NO DAMAGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BREMERTON (Wash.) Aug. 22. The cruiser Seattle, flagship of the United States Fleet, was apparently not damaged when she grounded on Marrowstone Point, Puget Sound, yesterday, a preliminary survey of the hull today indicated. Plans for drydocking the big fighting craft were abandoned and the Seattle will remain here until Friday when she will depart for San Francisco.

ALIEN COSTODIAN TO CONTINUE POLICIES

COOLIDGE APPROVES PLAN OF LIQUIDATION THAT HAS BEEN IN FORCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Alien Property Custodian Miller was directed today by President Coolidge to continue the policy instituted under President Harding of liquidating alien property assets embraced in trust valued at $10,000 and over.

Trusts with a less value are gradually being returned to former enemy aliens under the Winslow Act passed by the last Congress.

Liquidation of the larger trusts is being carried out wherever it would result advantageously to the government and to the trusts involved and this course was approved by Mr. Coolidge today during a conference with Mr. Miller.

Mr. Miller told the President that approximately $300,000,000 of assets would be held by the government after the claims allowed under the Winslow bill were disposed of and this sum will be held as an offset until the claims of American citizens against Germany are adjudicated by the mixed claims commission and paid. Of the total amount of alien property, approximately $180,000,000, Mr. Miller said, is represented in the treasury by cash drawing interest at 4½ per cent.

CALIFORNIA BEARS HOLD CONFERENCE

Coaches and Players Meet and Talk Over Grid Plans for Coming Season

BY JOSUA EPPINGER, JR.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—California extended an official welcome to another season of football this afternoon when coaches, players and prospective candidates got together and discussed plans for the coming football season.

September 15 will mark the official beginning of this year's practice, for conference rules prohibit practice until that date. Until that time interclass games will occupy the center of the football searchlight with the first game scheduled for September 8.

Even with a promising field of candidates reported to be on hand, Andy Smith is not feeling too sure of himself this year. The backfield should be good—perhaps even better than last year, but the line may prove to be the undoing of the blue and gold.

Andy is especially concerned about the schedule which has been compiled this year. Last year was bad enough, but it will take a good trainer to keep ever an all-star team in condition for games such as California will play.

If Smith gets by the first game safely he will have good cause to breath a little bit easier. September 22, just exactly one week after practice starts, the Blue and Gold will be confronted with just about the hardest game of its career.

Under the name of the California All-Stars the California alumni will attempt to show the 1923 team just how football should be played. When it is considered that California has had quite a few stars in the past few years and those stars have been aching to get out in a football suit and toss the pigskin around for the edification of the grandstand, it will be understood that California will not have an easy job when eleven alumni line up against them.

While Bob Evans of the Olympic Club issued the edict that all men should play in all games for the club it is probable that several of the California men would have hesitated just to get an opportunity to play against California in that one big struggle that is looming up.

Saturday, October 20, marks the opening of the Pacific Coast conference season, a gala event in which almost every one of the conference colleges will participate. On this occasion the Oregon Aggies will take a jaunt down to California Field for the afternoon. Little is known of the Aggies this year. Suffice it to say that for many seasons past they have been formidable rivals of the best on the Pacific Coast.

HUNDREDS OF CRAFT GATHER FOR REGATTA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—Approximately 100 sailing yachts, and as many more speedboats, fishing launches, s culls and other small craft will participate in the first Pacific Coast championship yachting regatta and aquatic carnival to be held on San Francisco Bay, the 25th inst. to September 3, it was announced today by the committee in charge. The program calls for a race for the perpetual challenge trophy between entries from the C alifornia Yacht Club of Los Angeles and the Corinthian Yacht Club of San Francisco. This will be the first time that a culb outside of San Francisco has been permitted to contest for the trophy.

Los Angeles and Santa Barbara will be represented in the program of yacht races, while Portland and Seattle have filed entries in the speedboat events and Vancouver, B. C., will be represented ni the rowing tests.

READY TO ACT ON HIGHWAY

VENICE, Aug. 22.—With the receipt of certificates of title from the various property owners in the proposed Rose-avenue extension to Walgrove avenue, City Attorney Lyon will be prepared to start condemnation proceedings to secure the right of way for the opening of the highway so as to form a new artery of travel. Lyon has informed the Board of Trustees that the title certificates should be received in the near future.

MISTAH WILLS THROWS ICY WATER ON RICKARD'S PLANS FOR BUENOS AIRES BATTLE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Harry Wills stepped on Tex Rickard's Firpo-Wills Buenos Aires fight plan today.

Paddy Mullins, the big negro's manager, indicated late yesterday that the match would be to Wills's liking, but after conferring with Jack Dempsey's most persistent Challenger, Mullins announced today there would be no Wills-Firpo fight in Argentina until Firpo had gained the heavyweight championship or Wills had been given his long deferred chance at Dempsey.

Wills insists that Dempsey meet him after Firpo if he retains his title when he meets the South American, three weeks hence. He'll agree to no match with Firpo before the latter's fellow-countrymen next winter unless Firpo takes Dempsey's title from him, or he is first given the match with the Manassa mauler he has been seeking two years or so.

"Let them talk first about the Dempsey - Wills match, which has been hanging fire so long," said Mullins, who was still peeved over his argument of yesterday with the Boxing Commission. "They tried to get me to draw down the $2500 which I have had filed with the State Athletic Commission for more than a year along with Wills's challenge to Jack Dempsey. We have made every effort to force Dempsey into a meeting and I explained this much to the Boxing Commission. The only satisfaction I got was the same old advice that the commission can take no action until Dempsey has been signed. I suggested that it was up to the commission to force Dempsey to sign and was told that that body is not a matchmaker."

The commission may not care to play match-maker in the case of Wills, but Joe Lynch and Mickey Walker, now under suspension in this State, had their matches made by the Boxing Commission. At least, it forced the bantamweight and welterweight champions to recognize the claims of their challengers, and Wills has certainly been a challenger for some time.

"I am not through yet in my attempt to force Dempsey to defend his title against Wills," declared Mullins.

PANCHO VILLA STOPS RIVAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Pancho Villa, flyweight champion of the world, scored a technical knockout in the third round over Jackie Feldman of New York at the Bronx Velodrome here tonight, in a scheduled ten-round bout.

Feldman, who substituted for Charley Rosenberg, when the latter was too ill to keep the date, was given a terrific whipping by the little Filipino. Feldman never had a chance at any stage of the bout and was saved by the gong from a possible knockout in the second round.

The New Yorker was far heavier than the champion, weighing in at 117 pounds, while Villa tipped the beam at 109½.

DUCKS IN CHICAGO SEEN FLYING SOUTH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Two large flocks of teal, among the latest of the duck family to go South for the winter, were seen winging their way to warmer climates at sunset last night by Deputy Game Warden Henry Kern of Waukegan.

This is the first time that he ever heard of teal starting their winter flight in August, he said. It is believed to be an indication that the weather farther north has become so disagreeable that the birds have been forced to move.

The temperature dropped to 54 degrees in Chicago at 6 a.m. today. Frost was reported from portions of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan. The lowest temperatures on record for August were registered at Detroit and Saginaw, Mich., the weather report added.

RECORDS FALL IN SWIMFEST

Duke Kahanamoku Sets New Coast Mark in Ambassador Aquatic Meet

Establishing a new Pacific Coast record of 40s. flat for the seventy-five-yard free style for men, Duke Kahanamoku of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, easily triumphed in the feature event of the Ambassador's big water carnival and swimming meet last night. Reggie Harrison of the Venice club was second, while Harris and Smith finished in a tie for the third honors.

The meet was the best affair of its kind offered so far this season and Frank Holborow, director of aquatic activities at the local hostelry, is to be congratulated on the manner in which the carnival was conducted. A crowd of more than 500 witnessed the program.

Running a close second to the 75-yard free-style was the 220-yard free-style for men, with the Southern Pacific amateur championship at stake. Colin Smith of the Los Angeles Athletic Club romped away with the first-place laurels, with Wallace O'Conner of the Venice club a close second. Harris of the Sunset Swimming Club, San Diego, was third.

Olive Hatch of the Los Angeles Athletic Club scored her second win over Helen Vernon of the Ambassador club for the N. L. Raphael trophy, in a 50-yard match race. Miss Hatch triumphed in the first race for the trophy at the Ambassador plunge several weeks ago. Olive Hatch also took the first-place medal in the 125-yard free-style for women, with Marie Curtis and Mary Wheeler finishing second and third respectively. The time for this race was 1 minute and 37 seconds.

Alice May Howard of the San Diego Y.W.C.A. was the winner of the 125-yard breast stroke for women, with Loretta Rush of the Ambassador Club second. Ella Buss of the Sunset Swimming Club finished third. The time for the event was 1m. 59 2-5s.

Charley Fletcher of Stanford University, holder of the Pacific Coast breast-stroke title, easily crossed the line ahead of William Fair of Venice and Paul Nelson of the Los Angeles Athletic Club in the 125-yard breast-stroke event for men. The latter two finished in the second and third places respectively. Fletcher's time for the race was 1m. 34 2-5s. He was not so fortunate, however, in the special handicap race against his five brothers, Lawrence Fletcher finishing first, Willis Fletcher second and the coast champion a poor third.

George Leach captured the 75-yard free style event for boys, with Ralph Jensen and Carl Miller taking the second and third place medals. Harvey Perry and Mickey Riley furnished several thrilling exhibition dives from the 45-foot platform, while Richard Diegel, the Ambassador Club's 10-year old wonder, entertained with several dives from this dizzy height.

SCHOOL HEAD QUITS AT SAN BERNARDINO

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 22.—Percy R. Davis, city superintendent of schools, resigned at a special meeting of the Board of Education last night. His resignation is caused by an offer from a chain shoe concern to become their Pacific Coast manager. In his three years of incumbency Mr. Davis has at all times held the confidence and support of the board, which greatly regretted the resignation. Before coming to San Bernardino, Mr. Davis was in charge of the schools at National City, San Diego county.

TRAPSHOOT SUNDAY AT VERNON GUN CLUB

A Sunday trapshooting tourney is scheduled for the Vernon Gun Club next Sunday morning, it was learned yesterday from Secretary Bill Pugh.

The shoot will consist of 100 targets at sixteen yards in four events with take-home trophies up for the high shooters. A fifty-target distance handicap also will be put on. A large crowd of shooters is looked for, as on the following Saturday, the dove season opens and a little practice at clay pigeons will come in handy.

Jack Holds Light Workout as Partners Rest

BY HARRY NEWMAN
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS (N. Y.) Aug. 22.—There is still a dearth of sparring partners at the Dempsey camp, and together with that the weather was so cold today that the champion was compelled to work under double wraps. A fierce wind blew across the lake and the customers shivered as the champion took on a brace of kids in order to provide the necessary amusement.

Big George Godfrey, who has been taking them on the face and body for several weeks, was finally compelled to ask for a brief rest. Jack Burke, the Pittsburg boxer, was around, but not quite ready to resume his duties as second aid on the champion's list of sparring companions.

DEFOE VOLUNTEERS

Billy Defoe, the St. Paul featherweight, who is here doing some light training, volunteered to help out this afternoon and boxed three lively rounds with Dempsey. Jack Bernstein, Junior lightweight champion, also agreed to help again and went three rounds with Jack. They had better get some more of the big rough fellows or shut down shop. Jules Rieux, Canadian heavyweight, blew the works this evening and repaired to Montreal, where he has a date to box some real tough mug. What a riot of a fight that ought to be.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and the Missus, stepped in this afternoon to see the champion work. Ole Jack was telling the gang about his famous fight with the late Stanley Ketchell, which was held at the old National Club on East Twenty-fourth street, when we interrupted to ask him what he thought about the coming scrimmage between Mr. Dempsey and this Firpo man from the Argentine. Of course, it is a very difficult thing to get Jack to talk. Like Dumb Dan Morgan, he is a man of not less than 3,000,000 words.

GREATEST FIGHT

"Why, I think that the fight between Firpo and the champion will be one of the greatest ever held between heavyweights," said Jack as he reached out for a few more thousand words before warming up properly. "For the first four rounds, it should be a whale of a scrap," continued O'Brien, "but after that I think that Dempsey will get to him and I look to see the champion stop Firpo in about the sixth round. But lots of people are going to be badly fooled in Firpo. He can take a punch and surely can send one.

FIRPO PREPARES FOR BIG TUSSLE

Argentine Starts Training at Atlantic City

Small Flock on Hand to See "Dead Pan" Do Stuff

Louie's Rubber Collar and Tin Boiler Feature

BY JACK FARRELL
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Aug. 22.—Senor Luis Angel Firpo, the pugilistic Harry Lauder, arrived here today at the head of a corps of bush-league sparring partners and a half-dozen fellow countrymen to begin intensive training for his scrap with Jack Dempsey at the Polo Grounds on September 14.

Luis was resplendent in a light Palm Beach suit, his copyright iron boiler, light tan oxfords and his well-known rubber collar which he laundered himself on the train on the way down from New York. The iron lid and vulcanized neckband are due to become boardwalk features.

MET BY PORTERS

When Dempsey arrived here to prepare for Georges Carpentier two years ago, a brass band and everybody in town from the Mayor down were on hand to greet him. Today when Firpo and his party detrained the Argentinian was greeted by two colored porters and a mob of taxi drivers. His arrival was marked by a hand-to-hand struggle with a member of the reception committee who tried to wrest Luis's suitcase from him. Firpo came out on top. Senor Horatio Lavelle, who came all the way from Argentina to supplant Jimmy DeForrest as Luis's chief trainer and adviser, led the way to the Edison Hotel, where the entourage probably will remain until Firpo breaks camp.

At 2 o'clock three bombs were sent up from Atlantic Park to notify the populace that Luis was ready to do his stuff. But fewer than fifty natives were present when the big fellow stripped for action. Firpo punched the bag for five minutes, skipped the rope a while and shadow-boxed two one-minute rounds. He toyed with Frankie Koeble, Brooklyn middleweight, and Natalie Pera, Argentine light heavyweight, for two short rounds and then called it a day.

GONE TO THE DOGS

Lavelle expects Al Reich and Joe McCann to arrive in time to put the mitts on with Luis tomorrow. They're featuring Firpo in conjunction with a series of greyhound races every afternoon for $1.10. Firpo gets a 50-50 split on the gate.

Angels Take Twin Pastime From Tigers by Scores of 11 to 2 and 6 to 0

LYONS BLANKS VERNON SQUAD

Bengals Held to Five Hits by Angel Hurler

Doc Crandall Holds Tigers Safe in Opener

Red Smith Injures Ankle in Second Struggle

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

Lost Babes in the wood resorted to artificial respiration yesterday in the form of a double-header in an effort to put the breath of life in the great national pastime.

Los Angeles thrived on these double rations, defeating Vernon fore and aft. Doc Crandall outpitched Roy Gilder in the curtain-raiser, which Krug's men captured, 11 to 2. In the twilight struggle, George Lyons administered a shutout, 6 to 0, with George Foster on the opposing side of the argument.

EXPENSIVE VICTORY

But it was a somewhat expensive victory for the Angels, J. Carlisle Smith, their crack third-sacker, being compelled to retire from the second game with a twisted ankle which may keep him hobbling for several days.

Last week the Angels developed a fatal habit of fermenting in the first inning, allowing the other side to make three runs and win the game early. They reformed in the opening contest yesterday, and instead of dedicating the first frame to fromage, preserved it with three runs on their own hook. And the way Doc Crandall was wound up the Bengals couldn't break the sealing wax.

Doc ran down only slightly, and that was in the eighth, when he apparently became indolent in the luxurious ease of a fat lead, and was belted for two runs. He was quick to diagnose his own mechanism and blanked Vernon in his best bensine style.

SPLURGE SUFFICES

This being all the Tigers were able to derive off him, that first-inning splurge of the Angels sufficed. Billy McCabe fired the opening gun, beating out an infield hit. McAuley sacrificed. Twombly skied to Hyatt. McCabe taking third after the catch. This placed Billy in a position to score on a wild pitch, which was forthcoming. Things began to crack around and behind Glider. This fusillade consisted of two singles and an error, the latter as damaging as a hand grenade in a nursery. Brother Hood hit to left for one base. J. Carlisle Smith drove one of the same dimensions to center, which expanded amazingly when the ball hopped through Chadbourne's hunting dogs. The pill percolated to the fence. There ensued a wild race on the bases, Hood's Airedales beating Smith's bloodhounds to the plate by a few jumps. With three runs under cover, Chadbourne came in and camped under Golvin's graceful fly. Angels compiled occasional runs thereafter, later returns increasing their majority.

Second game had Georgette trimming. George Lyons and George Foster toeing the scratch in approved right-handed fashion.

CLOUDS UP EARLY

Foster clouded up early, and Los Angeles passed up numerous chances for a killing while the game was yet young. They cluttered the bases with nine runners in the first three rounds, but in every instance the cavalcade bogged down and the brilliant spectacle was dissolved.

So through force of circumstances, including Foster, over which they had no control, Angels were forced to postpone scoring until the fifth, when the impressive ceremony of crossing the plate was inaugurated with two runs. McAuley singled to short right, and Twombly moved him up with a sacrifice. Hood hammered the left-field boards with a double. McAuley making the grade home. Smith then socked a single and Hood hit the high spots to the plate. Sandow Griggs shouldered a single, and Smith took second, advancing to third after Chadbourne's catch of Baldwin's ballooner. Radio was then flashed for the double steal. Denny Murphy shot through to Bott, drawing Smith off third. Bott fired to Warner. Smith would have regained the base, but turned an ankle in sliding, which left him a helpless and easy victim. This retired Smith and the side. Krug went over and

AL DEMAREE REINSTATED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Al Demaree, former New York Giant pitcher and manager of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League, who was declared ineligible last year for playing semiprofessional baseball in Chicago, has been reinstated, he announced today. The action, he said, was taken by President J. H. Farrell of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs and leaves him a free agent.

chaperoned third with Chief Lindimore playing around second.

SECOND INSTALLMENT

Second installment of sugar was delivered in eighth when Baldwin touched off a double behind Griggs's infield single and Warner's fumble of Krug's grounder for two runs.

Foster then faded out for a pinch-hitter, and C. C. Carson, a total stranger from Eugene, Or., with a pronounced left hand, bobbed up on the firing line for the ninth. Twombly hit him for three bases, and Carson hit Hood for one base. Griggs jolted a single, and these things coupled up with some inexperienced support netted another pair. Scores:

"HOBO" KINCAID TO ASSIST HENDERSON

Howard "Hobo" Kincaid, who scintillated for three years as a member of the Trojan backfield, has been signed as a member of the University of Southern California coaching staff. Kincaid will assist Coach Elmer C. Henderson with the backfield. Probably no one of the members of last year's team lost to the varsity by graduation will be as sorely missed as "Hobo," and Henderson is fortunate in that he is not completely lost. He will be a big factor in the building of a fast quartette of backs this fall.

SCRIBE ENJOYS FINE FISHING AT SESPE

Trout fishing is at its best on the Sespe. So reports Ralph Cummins, the magazine writer, who spent the week-end at Lathrop's, the fishing camp run in connection with Wheeler's Hot Springs. Instead of spoiling the fishing the low water has merely driven the fish into big pools. Cummins insists that the limit can be taken from any one of several pools in an hour.

LITTLE LESSONS IN Big Sports

In serving, how high should the ball be thrown?

Answered by
R. LINDLEY MURRAY

Brilliant left-handed player. National champion, 1918. Winner of national patriotic singles tournament, 1917. Famed for his speed, especially in serving.

How high the ball should be thrown when serving depends upon the type of serve a player uses. But in general it may be said that the ball should be thrown just high enough so that it will not be necessary for the player to hesitate before making his serve or on the other hand to hurry unduly before making his stroke.

On the average, the ball should be thrown about three to four feet above the player's head and it should be hit at the maximum possible height above the ground.

("What are the commonest faults in the average player's footwork?" Manual Alonso's exceedingly interesting answer to this highly important question on tennis will be printed here tomorrow.)

MOVIE STAR RETURNS WITH LIMIT OF FISH

With a string of fish nearly a mile long, according to his chauffeur, but only the limit, according to the screen star, Lew Cody, motion-picture favorite, has returned from Yellowstone Park.

The star, who went into the reserve with Rupert Hughes, the Goldwyn director, filming his own story, "Law Against Law," was equipped with a complete fishing outfit. A new style refrigerator held the fish, which were caught just outside the park reserve.

BIG SWIMFEST AT ARROWHEAD

Aquatic Stars to Compete for Honors Sunday

Many Celebrities to Grace the Program

National Diving Title Event Is Scheduled

The annual mile-high swimming championship and the junior national diving championship of the Amateur Athletic Union will be held under the auspices of the Lake Arrowhead Swimming Club at Lake Arrowhead on Sunday, the 26th inst.

Fred Cady, honorary member of the Lake Arrowhead Swimming Club, and swimming director of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, will conduct the program of this annual swimming event. Star swimmers who have entered the list of this—Southern California's only open fresh-water swimming event, include such stars as—the Duke Kahanamoku, Viola Hartman, Clarita Hunsberger, Marian Fletcher, Mary Wheeler, Olive Hatch, Ralph Summerill, Sammy Cohen, and more than thirty-five or forty others whose applications have been filed in the championship lists.

The first annual mile-high championship held at Lake Arrowhead last year was the most successful fresh water aquatic event ever held in Southern California, and those who made the pilgrimage to this Mecca of outdoor sports and activities were amply repaid by the thrilling events of that spectacular program. This year's entries promise even more thrills inasmuch as three relay teams have entered for the relay events.

To reach Lake Arrowhead, motorists will drive to San Bernardino, thence over the Waterman Canyon Rim of the World Drive to Lake Arrowhead. The round trip may be made in a day by those who do not wish to remain over night.

GRAND CIRCUIT TITLE ANEXED BY THE SENATOR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Aug. 22.—The Senator owned by T. D. Taggart, French Lick, Ind., and driven by A. McDonald, won the championship stallion stake No. 14 for 3-year-old trotters, value $9500 from one of the best fields of colts that ever started in this event.

The race was the feature of today's Grand Circuit program which was marred by a bad spill in the 2:06 pace, in which five horses and their drivers went down.

Fred Edman of Memphis, driving Jay Brooke, was the most seriously injured. He sustained a broken collar bone, fractured ribs and wrist, but according to physicians, his injuries will not prove fatal.

Vic Fleming, the Canadian reinsman, driving Jane R., suffered a sprained right arm, and torn ligaments, while George McKay of Milwaukee driving Quinla, was badly shaken up.

The accident, which was one of the worst ever seen on a Grand Circuit reach, according to horsemen, occurred as the horses rounded the turn into the stretch in the first heat. Jane R., stumbled and fell and Quinla, fell over her. McKay being thrown over the fence into the soft earth.

Edman could not pull Jay Brooke out in time, and was thrown to the ground. The rest of the field went on, but as Lillian S., and Peter Oliver tried to turn out of the wreckage, their sulkies came together and Marvin Thornton, driving Lillian S., and Wert Mallow, driving Peter Oliver went down but were able to drive in the following heats, having escaped injury.

Thomas Dillon, the favorite in the championship stallion stake, won the first heat in one of the prettiest finishes ever witnessed here. After leading the entire distance he managed to hold out just long enough to win. Hollyrood Leonard, winner of the Matron Stake at Toledo last week, finding the brush to the wire too severe and went into a break just before the wire was reached.

The first four horses finished noses apart.

In the second and third heats, The Senator had no trouble in winning after keeping away from the pacemakers.

Thompson Dillon won second money in the event, and Hollyrood Leonard third. The time for the three miles was very slow.

ANDERSON AND HAWKES WIN

pionship tourney with all the English stars entered.

The Australian Davis Cup team easily held the center of the stage today, the magnificent playing of Anderson and Hawkes as well as the remarkable showing made by McInnes and Schlessinger, who are really making their first serious debut on American courts, attracting the undivided attention of the large gallery that was in the stands this afternoon.

McInnes and Schlessinger should have won their match against Alonso and Johnson in straight sets for in the first four sets they held leads of 4-0, and 4-1, respectively. In the last set they reversed this procedure, coming from behind at 1-4 to square the match at 5-all. In this crisis, however, as they had done in each preceding set Johnson and Alonso steadied down, added a bit to the "punch" of their attack, took daring chances, and came through the fire to win. It was purely steadying power of experience and the knowledge of when to put forth the highest efforts, that brought Johnson and Alonso through after a very narrow escape.

ANZACS FAR AHEAD

One thing was demonstrated with convincing force today and that is that these Australians are far ahead of us when it comes to the science of the doubles game. The shadows of Gerald Patterson and O'Hara Wood, that remarkable team that defeated Tilden and Richards in the challenge round Davis Cup match at Forest Hills last year and the still dimmer shadows of the wizards, Norman Brookes and Patterson, who conquered Richards and Tilden on the same courts in 1919 thereby winning the national championship, were cast across the courts this afternoon while Johnston and Griffin were going down to defeat. Today there was none of that listless attitude about the actions of Anderson and Hawkes that has marked their play since coming to this country. The tall captain of the invading forces was plainly out there this afternoon to give his best. He was on his toes every minute entering into the furious interchanges at the net position with a fierce concentration of power that would not be denied and Hawkes, a less spectacular performer, though in no way less effective or deadly in his execution, was holding with his chief the bridge that led to victory.

Magnificent team play by the Australians was one of the distinguishing marks in the match. Few were the openings they left in their court and one or the other seemed ever on the alert to step into the breach when Johnston and Griffin occasionally found an undefended spot in the opposite court.

MILLER STARS IN TRAPSHOOT

Texan Breaks 150 Straight; Darkness Halts Him

Renfro and Arie Tie for Top Honors of Day

Several Championships to be Decided Today

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Phil R. Miller, Tuesday's high gun, decided not to continue shooting after darkness had started to descend over the lake. He had run off 150 straight and looked like a sure bet as high bird buster of the day, which carries with it the North American Amateur championship. He will finish his round early tomorrow in the third of the grand American handicap.

E. W. Renfro, Monida, Mont., and Mark Arie, Champaign, Ill., had high scores when the final gun puffed for the day. Each had tumbled 196 clay birds.

The crowd followed Miller about, however, and it was generally conceded that he would at least equal Arie and Renfro.

George McCarty, of Woodbury, N. J., Jay Clark of Worcester, Mass., were next in order with 195 apiece of the 200 shots fired. McCarty took an even 100 on his last round, with the long run unfinished.

Class championships were also held over until tomorrow morning due to the large number of teams shooting, and the cutting off of the shooting by darkness. The professionals were also stopped by the early arrival of moonlight. J. A. Ingraham of Ingleside, Ill., was high with a hundred straight.

In the zone championship the Prairie division, tumbling 477 was leading, while the eastern shooters were second and the target smashers third. This event also will be finished tomorrow.

Mrs. Minnie Winkler, Chicago, and Mrs. E. L. King of Winona, Minn., had an interesting contest for the women's championship of North America.

Mrs. Winkler was the Anne Oakley of the morning round, toppling ninety-five of the first 100 fliers; but she got off to a bad start in the afternoon setto. Mrs. King was two down at the half, but she picked up six in the next century and took the title.

Summary:

Amateur championship of North America (women):

JOHNNY SCHIFF TO KEEP BROWN BUSY

Soldier Brown, Phoenix Mexican lightweight who proved a big hit with the fans at the Lyceum A.C. boxing show last Saturday night in giving Johnny McGraw a licking, is going to be kept busy by Johnny Schiff, his hustling manager. Brown had McGraw on a verge of a knockout several times during the bout and scored two knockdowns. He will probably be seen in action shortly at Hollywood or Vernon.

The Little Warrior

BY P. G. WODEHOUSE

This misadventure quieted Otis Pilkington down, if it did not soothe him. He returned blushingly to a perusal of his bill of costs, nearly every line of which contained some item that infuriated and dismayed him. "Shoes" ($213.50) he could understand, but what on earth was "Academy. Rehl. $105.50?" What was "Cuts . . . $157" And what in the name of everything infernal was this item for "Frames," in which mysterious luxury he had apparently indulged to the extent of $94.50? "Props" occurred on the list no fewer than seventeen times. Whatever his future, at whatever poorhouse he might spend his declining years, he was supplied with enough props to last his lifetime.

Otis Pilkington stared blankly at the scenery that flitted past the train winds. (Scenery! There had been two charges for scenery! "Friedmann, Samuel . . . Scenery . . . $3711" and "Unitt and Wickes . . . Scenery . . . $2120.") He was suffering the torments of the ruined gamester at the roulette table. Thirty-two thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine dollars, sixty-eight cents! And he was out of pocket ten thousand in addition from the check he had handed over two days ago to Uncle Chris as his share of the investment of starting Jill in the motion pictures. It was terrible! It deprived one of the power of thought.

The power of thought, however, returned to Mr. Pilkington almost immediately, for remembering suddenly that Roland Travis had assured him that no musical production, except one of those elaborate girl-shows with a chorus of ninety, could possibly cost more than $15,000 at an outside figure, he began to think about Roland Travis, and continued to think about him until the train pulled into the Pennsylvania Station.

For a week or more the stricken financier confined himself mostly to his rooms, where he sat smoking cigarettes, gazing at Japanese prints, and trying not to think about "props" and "rehl." Then, gradually, the almost maternal yearning to see his brain-child once more, which can never be wholly crushed out of a young dramatist, returned to him faintly at first, then getting stronger by degrees till it could no longer be resisted. True, he knew that when he beheld it, the offspring of his brain would have been mangled almost out of recognition, but that did not deter him. The mother loves her crippled child, and the author of a musical fantasy loves his musical fantasy, even if rough hands have changed it into a musical comedy and all that remains of his work is the opening chorus and a scene which the assassins have overlooked at the beginning of act two. Otis Pilkington, having instructed his Japanese valet to pack a few simple necessaries in a suitcase, took a cab to the Grand Central Station and caught an afternoon train for Rochester, where his recollection of the route planned for the tour told him "The Rose of America" would now be playing.

Looking into his club on the way, to cash a check, the first person he encountered was Freddie Rooke.

"Good gracious!" said Otis Pilkington. "What are you doing here?"

Freddie looked up dully from his reading. The abrupt stoppage of his professional career—his lifework, one might almost say—had left Freddie at a very loose end; and so hollow did the world seem to him at the moment, so uniformly futile al its so-called allurements, that, to pass the time, he had just been trying to read the National Geographic Magazine.

"Hullo!" he said. "Well, might as well be here as any where, what?" he replied to the other's question.

"But why aren't you playing?"

"They sacked me!" Freddie lit a cigarette in the sort of way in which the strong, silent, middle-aged man on the stage lights his at the end of act two when he has relinquished the heroine to his youthful rival. "They've changed my part to a bally Scotchman! Well, I mean to say, I couldn't play a bally Scotchman!"

Mr. Pilkington groaned in spirit. Of all the characters in his musical fantasy on which he prided himself, that of Lord Finchley was his pet. And he had been burked, murdered, blotted out, in order to make room for a bally Scotchman!

"The character's called 'The McWhustle of McWhustle' now!" said Freddie gembrely.

The McWhustle of McWhustle! Mr. Pilkington almost abandoned the trip to Rochester on receiving this devastating piece of information.

"He comes on in act one in kilts!"

"In kilts! At Mrs. Stuyvesant van Dyke's lawn party! On Long Island!"

"It isn't Mrs. Stuyvesant van Dyke any longer, either," said Freddie. "She's been changed to the wife of a pickle manufacturer."

"A pickle manufacturer!"

"Yes. They said it ought to be a comedy part."

If agony had not caused Mr. Pilkington to clutch for support at the back of a chair, he would undoubtedly have wrung his hands.

"But it was a comedy part," he wailed. "It was full of the subtlest, most delicate satire on society. They were delighted with it at Newport! Oh, this is too much! I shall make a strong protest! I shall insist on these parts being kept as I wrote them! I shall . . . I must be going at once or I shall miss my train." He paused at the door. "How was business in Baltimore?"

"Rotten!" said Freddie, and returned to his National Geographic Magazine.

Otis Pilkington tottered into his cab. He was shattered by what he had heard. They had massacred his beautiful play, and, doing so, had not even made a success of it by their own sordid commercial lights. Business at Baltimore had been rotten! That meant more expense, further columns of figures with "frames" and rehl!" in front of them! He staggered into the station.

"Hey!" cried the taxi-driver.

Otis Pilkington turned.

"Sixty-five cents, mister, if you please! Forgetting I'm not your private shovoor, wasn't you?"

Mr. Pilkington gave him a dollar. Money—money! Life was just one long round of paying out and paying out.

The day which Mr. Pilkington had selected for his visit to the provinces was a Tuesday. "The Rose of America" had opened at Rochester on the previous night, after a week at Atlantic City in its original form and a week at Baltimore in what might be called its second incarnation. Business had been bad in Atlantic City and no better in Baltimore, and a meager first-night house at Rochester had given the piece a cold reception, which had put the finishing touches to the depression of the company in spite of the fact that the Rochester critics, like those of Baltimore, had written kindly of the play. One of the maxims of the theater is that "out-of-town notices don't count," and the company had refused to be cheered by them.

It is to be doubted, however, if even crowded houses would have aroused much response from the principals and chorus of "The Rose of America." For two weeks without a break they had been working under forced draught, and they were weary in body and spirit. The new principals had had to learn parts in exactly half the time usually given for that purpose, and the chorus, after spending five weeks assimilating one set of steps and groupings, had been compelled to forget them and rehearse an entirely new set. From the morning after the first performance at Atlantic City, they had not left the theater except for sketchy half-hour meals.

Jill, standing listlessly in the wings while the scene-shifters arranged the second act set, was aware of Wally approaching from the direction of the pass door.

"Miss Mariner, I believe?" said Wally. "I suppose you know you look perfectly wonderful in that dress? All Rochester's talking about it, and there is some idea of running excursion trains from Troy and Utica. A great stir it has made!"

Jill smiled. Wally was like a tonic to her during these days of overwork. He seemed to be entirely unaffected by the general depression, a fact which he attributed himself to the happy accident of being in a position to sit back and watch the others toil. But in reality Jill knew that he was working as hard as any one. He was working all the time, changing scenes, adding lines, tinkering with lyrics, smoothing over principals whose nerves had become strained by the incessant rehearsing, keeping within bounds Mr. Goble's passion for being the big noise about the theater. His cheerfulness was due to the spirit that was in him, and Jill appreciated it. She had come to feel very close to Wally since the driving rush of making over "The Rose of America" had begun.

"They seemed quite calm tonight," she said. "I believe half of them were asleep."

"They're always like that in Rochester. They cloak their deeper feelings. They wear the mask. But you can tell from the glassy look in their eyes that they are really seething inwardly. But what I came round about was—(a)—to give you this letter . . ."

BUMPER TALKS

Some Trip

Just got back on the job after two glorious weeks in the Yosemite and Mammoth Lakes country. I've used my hands in manipulating a fishing rod for so long that it's rather hard to adapt them to pounding a typewriter again, but maybe I'll get back in form. I noticed a lot of cars equipped with Stewart Autoguards while I was away—dozens of 'em had Los Angeles signs on them, so I'll bet those Stewart enthusiasts did a lot of advertising for me up in the Valley country. Believe me, it surely does pay to get good equipment on a car.

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, agosto 23.—El Presidente Coolidge ha ordenado que, en caso de huelga, se haga una distribución sistematizada de substitutos de antracita. El propio funcionario hará todo esfuerzo para ver de lograr un entendimiento entre mineros y empresarios; pero si las cosas llegan a mayores, no permitirá que el pueblo padesca por falta de combustible.

Los gastos del gobierno van a ser reducidos a su última expresión por el próximo congreso, según el Diputado Madden, republicano de Illinois, quien dice que ocupa América una posición envidiable al lado de Europa, debido a las economías y reducciones de impuestos que se han practicado. Escita a los estados y a las municipalidades a que hagan otro tanto, siguiendo el ejemplo federal.

El Presidente Coolidge está estudiando en Washington de la federación cola, pero Gray Silver, representante en Washington de la federación de cámaras agrícolas, duda de que el gobierno se dedique a dominar el mercado del trigo para beneficiar a los productores de ese grano, y aconseja a los agricultores que guarden su cosecha en las haciendas y esperen mejor precio.

Tributo a Michael Collins en el Aniversario de su Muerte

DUBLIN, agosto 22.—Hoy se observó el aniversario de la muerte de Michael Collins con desfiles militares en Dublin, Cork, Waterford y otras ciudades. La revista de Dublin ha sido el espectáculo más grandioso que se haya visto aquí. Estaban representadas todas las armas del servicio en una línea cuyo desarrollo era casi de diez millas. Cuando la cabeza de la procesión paso por donde está el cenotafio, la Srita. Kitty Kiernan, de quien era novio el difunto jefe, depositó una corona en la tumba.

Le Echan el Guante a Jesse Taylor

Después de la detención del famoso ladrón, practicada anoche, esperaban anoche mismo de un momento a otro los tenientes sheriffs que se recobraran como $5000 que se sustrajo Jesse Taylor, el sentenciado fugitivo, en dos robos que efectuó la semana pasada en Sudcalifornia. Virtualmente admitió Taylor que había asaltado el 13 del presente la Sucursal del Banco de California sita en la Avenida Central, esquina a la calle Cincuenta y Siete. En ese día llegó a Los Angeles tras de haberse evadido de un tren en marcha, y dos horas después de haber robado el banco, robó en una lechería de Long Beach. El Sheriff Traeger está seguro de que Taylor "trabajó" solo en estos asaltos, y de que no formaba parte de la cuadrilla que atraco el martes al personal y clientes del Banco del Estado "Belvedere," ubicado en el Bulevar Whittier, 5247.

El ladrón fue cogido quietamente ayer tarde por los tenientes sheriffs Dewar y Modie, que le siguieron la huella hasta la casa que lleva el numero 610, en la calle Alameda Norte, adonde había ido a buscar whisky. Taylor llegó a dicha casa, en coche Ford, seguido de cerca por los dos sheriffs. Se apeo de su coche, neroó a la casa, y subió la escalera, en tanto que los agentes de policía esperaban. Al salir el bandido, había otro Ford al lado del suyo, y él subió al que no le correspondía y trató de introducir su llave en la cerradura. Al inclinarse sobre ésta, el Teniente Sheriff Dewar se le acercó cautelosamente por detrás y le metió un revólver por la cara, ecándole al propio tiempo las esposas sobre las piernas y dándole orden de que se las pusiera. Taylor obedeció.

BROOKLINE (Massachusetts) agosto 22.—William Tilden II y su nuevo compañero de equipo, Norton, vencieron hoy fácilmente a la combinación Harvard-Yale de W. W. Ingraham y Arnold W. Jones en un match de tercera tanda jugado en el torneo nacional de dobles que se está celebrando aquí. Las anotaciones fueron 6-1, 6-3, 6-2. Los colegiales jugaron tan mal como nunca en el torneo. Los ases australianos de la copa Davis, James Anderson y John B. Hawkes, hicieron frente a William M. Johnston y Clarence J. Griffin, campeones nacionales por tres veces en el principal match del día, que era el de las parejas nacionales. Lo ganaron los australianos por 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

Boxeo

BUENOS AIRES, agosto 22. — Han despertado gran entusiasmo entre los aficionados de aquí las probabilidades de que se verifique en Buenos Aires un combate entre Firpo y Wills. La popularidad de Firpo y la renombrada audacia de Wills atraerían sin duda una gran muchedumbre, siempre que no fueran demasiado caras las entradas. Sería la primera oportunidad que tendrían los aficionados argentinos de ver púgiles de la categoría de campeones.

Baseball

Los Bengalíes derrotados de Bill Essick tuvieron ayer otro mal rato, pues fueron vencidos por Los Angeles en dos juegos, con anotaciones de 11 a 2 y 6 a 0. Dos Crandall luchó con facilidad en la contienda inicial, lanzando lucidamente, y sus compañeros de equipo le pecaron a los tiros seagados de Roy Gilder, logrando un total de diecinis golpes seguros. En la segunda contienda dejó George Lyons en cero a los Tigres.

FREAK WINDSTORM DEBRIS IS CLEARED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EUREKA (Cal.) Aug. 22.—The litter of tree limbs, automobiles, railroad ties, brush and camping tents which was created by a freak windstorm of hurricane violence in the region of Stafford, thirty miles south of here, yesterday, had been cleared away sufficiently today to admit of the movement of traffic on the State highway, which was the center of the disturbance.

A fire in the brush near the Percy Brown mill and a counter-wind and whirling tornado picked automobiles off the highway and deposited them many feet away.

One redwood tree three feet in diameter was torn up by the roots and one man reported that he was carried bodily several feet by the wind. A number of buildings were unroofed.

Today twenty-five touring parties which had been cut off south of the blockade were able to resume their journey. The fire was subdued as soon as the wind subsided.

MOTHER MAKES SAD APPEAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Sad and wan, pretty Mrs. Selma Hess, wife of Julius Hess, branch manager of a motion-picture company, left a young son tossing with sickness in bed at her home, 1161 East Sixty-first street, today to come before Judge Hurley in Superior Court for a bill of separate maintenance and a writ preventing her husband from leaving Chicago, as she said he threatened, if the name of his stenographer, Alice Schleh, were mentioned.

"The girl doesn't love him," the young mother explained through her tears, "but Julius—he weeps with love of her now, when a year ago he told me she was 'the most impertinent girl' he'd ever known.

"I don't blame Alice, except perhaps for not leaving his office as she promised to do. I don't even blame Julius. But something must be done."

A landlord has presented Mrs. Hess with a five-day eviction notice, her attorney, Joseph Gilbert, told the judge. Jacques, her 3-year-old boy, is sick. She has no money. Her husband is gone.

Mrs. Hess's hands clasped and unclasped in her lap as she told how, on coming here from Los Angeles a year and a half ago, to take charge of the local film company's office, her husband found that he could not "get along" with Miss Schleh.

"He told me she irritated him with her independent ways, her impertinence," the wife said. "And then slowly he has began to love her. She hurt him, so he loved her. I loved him, so he hurt me. I guess that's the way it goes."

When told of Mrs. Hess's story Miss Schleh said that it was true. Mrs. Hess had asked her to leave her husband's office, but that she had not promised to do so, only to think it over. On consideration, she said, she could find no reason for giving up a position in which there seemed a future for her simply because Mrs. Hess thought her husband was in love with her.

"I have been Mr. Hess's stenographer since he came here from the West—and his stenographer only," she said.

The girl has nothing of the vamp about her appearance. About 24 years of age, she is pleasant looking, with striking brown eyes.

SHERIFF PUSHES QUIZ INTO TROUTON SLAYING

MINTER SAYS MURDER WAS PLANNED AT FAMILY CONFERENCE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEWNAN (Ga.) Aug. 22.—Although few developments were expected here in the Millard Trouton murder case before the cases of John W. Minter, his father-in-law, charged with murder, and eight others are presented to the September grand jury, Sheriff Carpentier announced today he was pursuing his investigation.

Outwardly a lull had occurred in the case, which has been a sensation here for several days since Trouton's body was found in a creek.

Minter is alleged to have told authorities he killed Trouton because Trouton whipped his wife. He said he decided upon this course of retribution at a family council and then summoned members of his family while, he is alleged to have confessed, he shot his son-in-law.

Held with Minter are his three sons, John Jeff, Benjamin and Grady Minter; three sons-in-law, L. L. Goodrum, M. F. Weldon and Claude Washington, and two others, W. M. Feltman and Ken Freeman. No effort had been made today to obtain bond for the prisoners.

COURT RULES ON JEWELRY STATUS

RINGS ARE CLASSED AS LUXURIES AND NOT AS WEARING APPAREL

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 22.—Diamond rings and earrings cannot be classed as "necessary wearing apparel," but in a sense are luxuries, the Third District Court of Appeal held today in modifying an order by the Superior Court of Colusa county in the estate of the late Mrs. Cornelia C. Millington.

The trial court issued an order setting apart to the husband, Seth Millington, Sr., two diamond rings, a set of diamond earrings and a gold watch and chain as property of the estate exempt from execution.

Frances Dooling Herbert, executrix of the estate, appealed to the Appellate Court, requesting that the order be modified by striking out reference to these articles of jewelry.

The Appellate Court directed that the lower court's order be modified to the extent of striking out reference to the diamond rings and earrings, but held that a watch and chain are "wearing apparel" exempt from execution.

WITNESS TAMPERING DISCLOSED IN TRIAL

FEDERAL NATURALIZATION AGENT IMPLICATED AT HEARING IN 'FRISCO

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—Evidence of witnesses tampering in the case of Fred N. Littleton, former chief Federal naturalization examiner for Northern California, who is on trial in United States District Court here on a charge of violating the naturalization laws, developed in the trial today.

Ambrose Vlasset, a Vallejo restaurant man, testified that a few days before Littleton was indicted, the Federal examiner approached him with the request "put in a good word for me."

It also developed at the trial that Fred Esola, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice here, is examining other witnesses relative to the tampering evidence.

Vlasset testified that he was naturalized in March, 1921, after he had paid an asserted agent of Littleton $100 to expedite the matter. Peter Pakis, a Vallejo waiter, testified that he also paid this supposed agent $100 for the same privilege. Pakis said that he was instructed by Littleton to answer "yes" to all questions put to him during the naturalization proceedings, and as a result he even made that answer when he was asked his age.

STATE VETERAN BOARD GIVES HELP TO MANY

DURING YEAR 280 HOMES, ELEVEN FARMS BOUGHT FOR EX-SOLDIERS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 22.—A recapitulation of business done by the California Veterans' Welfare Board during the past year shows that 280 homes and eleven farms were purchased by the board for former service men under the veterans' welfare legislation enacted in 1921, according to figures completed today by Secretary Smith.

In purchasing these homes and farms the board spent $1,282,774.71.

In addition to aiding deserving war veterans to obtain homes and farms on a long payment, low interest basis, the board is helping 1003 ex-soldiers to better their education. They are enrolled in various schools and colleges of the State.

To date the records of the board show that more than 13,000 veterans have applied for the purchase of homes and farms and 1900 have applied for educational aid.

CALIFORNIA HOSPITALS TO USE LAST OF FUND

ADDITIONAL MONEY MAY BE NEEDED FOR VETERANS' BUREAU PROGRAM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Completion of the two Veteran Bureau hospitals in California, one for the northern part of the State at Livermore, the other for the southern part at San Fernando, and the project at Aspinwall, Pa., will utilize all that remains for expenditure of the $35,000,000 made available in the two Langley bills.

Director Hines said today that a further survey of the central section of the country might reveal that additional funds for hospitalization are needed. At present, he said, 50 per cent of the beds in bureau hospitals are vacant.

The ultimate object is to provide treatment at bureau hospitals for all veterans, whether their disability is directly traceable to service or not. Many of those now cared for in contract hospitals, the director explained, are reluctant to leave them to enter bureau hospitals farther from their homes.

IMMEDIATE SESSION OF CONGRESS URGED

BROOKHART WIRES COOLIDGE FOR ACTION TO SAVE "DISASTER"

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON (Iowa) Aug. 22. Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa renewed his demand for an immediate extra session of Congress in a telegram to President Coolidge, in which he declared that "only quick government action can save widespread disaster." Senator Brookhart's telegram said:

"Western farmers join eastern coal consumers in request for an extra session of Congress. Not wheat alone, but corn and most agricultural products are not bringing cost of production. Only quick government action can save widespread disaster to this year's crop. Every day of delay means great loss to thousands. The government protects other industries and agriculture is equally deserving."

PEONAGE REPORT DENIED

AUSTIN (Tex.) Aug. 22.—Charges that Mexican laborers in the Rio Grande Valley cotton fields had been mistreated and had been victims of peonage are without foundation, according to a report filed by M. A. Dominguez, deputy inspector for the State Labor Department, with Commissioner Joseph Myers.

JAPS BLOCKING STATEHOOD AIM

Hawaii Governor Hits Hard at Alien Schools

Supreme Court Decision Has Stirred Troubles

Executive Does Not Believe Laws Set Aside

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HONOLULU, Aug. 22.—Hawaii's greatest obstacle in the path to Statehood is the attitude of alien language schools in Hawaii. That is the declaration of Gov. Farrington, made in a public address here, and since it is a recognized fact that the Japanese schools are overwhelmingly preponderant in the alien language institutions, his address constitutes the strongest arraignment yet made of the efforts of alien Japanese to run an educational system in the islands.

It will be remembered that for more than two years the territorial government has been trying to curb and control the alien schools, principally the Japanese, which were obviously becoming centers of Japanese nationalism and Japanese culture. This effort took the form of legislative measures and a series of regulations promulgated by the territorial department of public instruction with the approval of the Governor.

LEADERS ARE ACTIVE

Against the laws and the rules the Japanese alien leaders have been agitating almost incessantly. A test case in the form of an injunction suit was started some months ago. Few of the Japanese schools joined in the case until the recent United States Supreme Court decision handed down at Washington knocked out the anti-alien school laws of several States. Then immediately numbers of the Japanese schools here gave evidence of falling in with the original agitators and fighting the Hawaii laws.

This is the background for the situation which the territorial government confronts. And it is to this that the governors, speaking before the students of the summer session of the Territorial Normal School, referred to in his declaration about the chances of Hawaii becoming a State. Gov. Forrington said in part:

GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS

"The alien language schools of Hawaii, the alien spirit evidenced in the agitation to maintain those schools in a manner contrary to the expressed wish of the people of this territory, is the greatest stumbling block in our pathway toward Statehood.

"Hawaii, with its large alien population, is now frequently characterised by many fellow citizens of the mainland as a horrible example of an attempt to assimilate an overwhelming number of aliens who indicate by their action that they have no desire to be assimilated.

"The agitation intensifies this opinion and observers are quick to remark that the effort to parallel the public school with uncontrolled alien schools springs from much the same source as that which was responsible in recent years for strikes, violations of law and reckless attempts to arouse racial antagonisms and cement national prejudices.

"The readiness with which the American people accept the conclusions and recommendations of educational leaders has brought our public schools to their present commanding position. We trust the judgment of the men and women who have given their lives in this national service, who are constantly studying what, and how best to teach so that every child shall receive efficient instruction in the duties of American citizenship and also mental training that will better equip him for eventually providing for himself and his American home.

"We call this Americanism. It is more than a slogan; more than idle, deadly repetition. It has form and substance and character in national life.

"I do not believe and do not admit on behalf of the Territory or any of its departments that the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Meyer vs the State of Nebraska, rendered June 4, 1923, repeals, or intends to repeal, either Act 30 or Act 171 of the session laws of Hawaii, or any portion thereof which purports to give the local government power to legitimately control and prescribe the character and qualifications of school teachers in this territory, or prescribe the curriculum and control the text books which are used in the schools which educate and fit for American citizenship the American children of this American territory, nor which is intended to protect the health and well-being of any children in this territory, who are, or are entitled to be, citizens.

GOVERNOR'S POSITION

"Whatever the outcome of the pending litigation, I propose as Governor of this Territory to seek every legitimate means, whether through appeal to the highest judicial authority, or through additional legislation by the local Legislature or Congress, to endeavor to establish by every means within the power of the local government, to accomplish the main object sought to be accomplished by the alien language school laws passed by the Legislature, which is to obtain proper, adequate and healthful education for the children of this Territory, who will ultimately constitute the voters, prescribe and enact laws, and control the government of Hawaii.

"Every move I make will be with the idea of rendering service to the people in hastening the day when Hawaii shall be considered ready for full Statehood."

BUY ACREAGE

An Irrigated Farm, Planted to Profitable Juice Grapes or Fruit Orchards, Two Hours from Los Angeles, Can be Bought for

The Price of a Suburban Lot

The last Federal census showed that for the decade ending in 1920 the population of Southern California had increased 81 per cent, of the San Joaquin Valley 56 per cent, and of the Sacramento Valley 23 per cent. That is an amazing showing for the territory tributary to Los Angeles, but it promises to be exceeded in this ten years. The tide of new population flows in ever-increasing volumn into this region.

Southern California Land is King

The basis of permanent prosperity in this great agricultural State is the land. The dependable investment—the safest and surest from the standpoint of income and increased value—is the fruit orchard, grove or vineyard located close to Los Angeles; land that is easily reached by paved boulevards and electric lines and that is fertile and watered by a first-class irrigation system.

Other realty values may fluctuate as local or national conditions change, but productive, irrigated acreage close to a great metropolis cannot but increase steadily and surely in value. Success awaits the man with vision to buy the right kind of land at the right price near Los Angeles.

Most Unusual Bargain in Acreage

The Fontana Estate, 2 hours from the business center of Los Angeles, is the largest diversified farm in the world and a great coming fruit and poultry center of the Southwest, on which 17 years and $6,000,000 have been spent in development. We are offering tracts of irrigated, highly cultivated vineyard land of 5 acres or more on this famous property at only $500 per acre on easy terms over a 5-year period. A cash payment of only $125 per acre is required; then $25 per acre each year for 3 years; $125 per acre the 4th year $175 per acre the 5th year. We take complete cultural care of your vineyard for the first 3 years absolutely free to you. The price of the land includes full water rights.

There is not, we believe, another irrigated land bargain like this in Southern California. Let us show you these wonderfully productive grape lands, our great irrigation plant costing $1,500,000, our famous White Leghorn poultry farm. Investigate this chance today, for the remaining tracts will soon be off the market. Call, telephone or mail the coupon.

Call at our ground floor display room at 623 Olive Street and see interesting pictorial collection and free moving picture of the Fontana Estate.

ASK FAIR PLAY FOR EMIGRANTS

Commercial Board Demands Law's Amendment

Injustice Declared Done to Angeleno's Kin

Family Deported After Assured Landing

President Coolidge, California representatives at Washington and the heads of various government departments will today receive a resolution passed yesterday by the directors of the Commercial Board of Los Angeles, urging national legislative amendment of the immigration laws. The draft is in behalf of foreigners who, through no fault of their own, often suffer hardships because of present interpretations and administrations of the present regulations.

The resolution was adopted following a discussion of many cases in which prospective citizens of the United States have been granted passports to America, with full assurance that they would be allowed to land and were later sent back to their own countries, after an extended sojourn at Ellis Island.

One case reviewed yesterday was that of Godefroid Rondas, who, with his wife and son, who obtained passports from Henry M. Morgan, American Consul-General at Brussels, and who came to America with the intention of becoming a citizen, but who, with his family, was deported the 6th inst.

WORK HARDSHIP

Reviewing the case, the resolutions set forth that Rondas is a brother-in-law of Arthur Baus, Los Angeles merchant, and that the former had obtained advices from Consul-General Morgan that he could safely sail from Antwerp to America and become a citizen. Upon arrival, Rondas was informed by the immigration authorities that the quota for Belgium was exhausted and that he would be sent back.

Notwithstanding the fact that his relatives in America guaranteed that he would not become a public charge, especially since he is a man of means, all appeals to the Department of Labor were denied on the plea that the law gave that department no discretion in the matter, and Rondas was deported.

The resolution closes with the statement that "the injustice of this appalling situation moves the directors of this board to petition Congress to amend this law or instruct equitable interpretation of same by the officers of the government in charge of that department."

APPEALS IN VAIN

"If we expect immigrants to be 100 per cent Americans, then we must give them a 100 per cent welcome," said E. G. Judah, managing director of the Commercial Board. "We are at fault if we do not properly instruct our consuls so that they shall not make the mistake of misinforming emigrants and granting them passage when there is no hope of their being accepted.

"In regard to the Rondas case, when it was learned that the government intended to deport him and his family, I appealed to the local immigration officers but they told me they could do nothing," said Mr. Judah. "Acting for this board, I appealed to the officers at Ellis Island, who promised to appeal the case to higher authorities. The appeal was denied by the commissioner of labor.

"Secretary of Labor Davis being in Europe at that time, I wired his secretary, E. J. Henning, who replied that he had no authority to grant my appeal. I wired Hiram Johnson and he replied that the preparation for the deportation of Rondas had been made and that Secretary Davis declined to stay the proceeding."

HITS SHIP COMPANIES

Mr. Judah said that he had recently sent a message to Acting Secretary of Labor Henning, requesting information as to when it would be possible for Rondas to return to America with the assurance that he would be allowed to land and become a citizen. He then read aloud the following telegram, received yesterday from Secretary Henning:

"Commercial Board of Los Angeles, 1230 Marsh-Strong Building, Los Angeles. Answering telegram Rondas. Impossible to know when quota of any country for each month will be exhausted. Steamships can readily ascertain before sailing whether or not quotas will be open on arrival at American port. Monthly rates reopen first of month but sometimes are exhausted within few hours, while at other times remain open all month. Regret my inability to give definite information.

E. J. Henning, Acting Secretary."

CONSUL'S VIEWS

Mr. Judah then read the letter of Consul-General Morgan, (the original of which he exhibited to the Board) in answer to Rondas's request for information. The letter is as follows:

"AMERICAN CONSULAR SERVICE, Brussels, March 26, 1923.—Mr. Godefroid Rondas, Schaerbeck, Belgium. Sir:—I have to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 17, 1923, in which you advise me of your desire to proceed to the United States. In reply thereto I beg to inform you that if you do not purpose leaving before the first of July next you will have no difficulty in obtaining the necessary visa for the purpose of entering the United States. The visa, when given, is valid for one year, but we would not be able to give it before the first of July next as the Belgian quota is now full. A few days before you make your plans to sail you should call at this office in person for the purpose of signing your application.

Yours truly,

(Signed) "HENRY M. MORGAN, American Consul-General."

ASKS FOR LIGHT

"The American people want light on this subject and the immigrants to America are entitled to know of a surety whether or not they will be allowed to land after arriving here," said Mr. Judah. "The enthusiasm of immigrants who become successful citizens of this republic naturally tends to plant the seeds of worthy ambition in the hearts of their relatives abroad and when the latter 'pull up stakes' in their home lands and come to America they deserve the best treatment that America can give them.

"If we cannot or will not receive them, then we should not allow them to come. Our consuls should be fully informed on these matters—and perhaps a word from the government, whispered into the ears of the ship owners, (who certainly never lose money on the transportation of immigrants,) would not be amiss."

INTREPID AUTOIST STARTS STREET WELL

Fire Plug Snaps and Releases Veritable Torrents

Scene at Temple and Hill Streets When Hydrant Broke

WHAT happens when an automobile backs into a water plug was illustrated graphically yesterday at Hill and Temple streets, where somebody did it.

The first thing that happened was that the back end of the car went suddenly up like a ball in a shooting-gallery fountain and then slid off down the incline of water. The next thing was that the owner of the car stepped on the gas to get away from there; the tires slithered and skidded and the car hurt itself against the curb.

Then came a crowd attracted by the roar of the escaping water, and as the water was shooting to the housetops, some of the crowd got sprinkled and backed off.

Then the water ran down Temple street to Broadway, made a right turn without giving a signal to the traffic officer, and sailed down to First street, where it collected in a pool in defiance of the traffic officer's efforts to give it a ticket.

Upper Broadway got the idea it was raining.

The water department finally got around to shutting off the hydrant and the show was over.

CHIEF TO TALK ON TRAFFIC

The Traffic Commission will have Chief of Police Vollmer as its guest at a luncheon tomorrow noon at the Elite, 633 South Flower street. Chief Vollmer will present his plans for traffic regulation in Los Angeles. Officers of many prominent civic organizations also will be guests. A number of other speakers will address the meeting on the various phases of traffic.

GIRL PLEADS GUILTY

Yesterday morning in Police Judge Richardson's court, Hazel Campbell, 1808 East Forty-first street, decided to change her plea of not guilty to one of guilty to a charge of stealing two dresses from the Fifth Street Store. She was apprehended by an operative of the Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association as she was leaving the store. She was given a suspended jail sentence of 180 days and placed on probation for two years.

VETERANS TO GET HOSPITAL

Hines Assures Shortridge Bureau Will Soon Buy Land in San Fernando Valley

Land will be purchased in the very near future for the disabled veterans hospital in San Fernando Valley. This was assured yesterday when Attorney Dailey S. Stafford, chairman of the hospital committee of the American Legion, received a telegram from Senator Shortridge stating that Director Hines had just announced his intention of making the purchase immediately.

The need for a hospital for the care of disabled veterans has been urgent for some time, according to Mr. Stafford. Thousands of veterans who are suffering from diseases contracted while in the service, especially those suffering from lung troubles, are attracted to Southern California by the climate, and on arrival here find themselves in need of aid.

TRANSFER URGED

The Legion is fighting the maintenance of the old barracks at San Diego for this use, and as there are now some 250 tuburcular patients there living under unsatisfactory conditions, it is hoped to get them to the new hospital as soon as it is completed.

The new hospital will be built on a high mesa of the foothills of the San Fernanro Valley, overlooking one of the finest views in the entire Southland, and with footpaths leading into the still higher and dryer mountains; a site where surroundings will tend to aid in the cure of the patients by placing them in the right frame of mind. The buildings will be of hollow tile, and of the bungalow type, so that additions can easily be made from time to time as needs arise.

It is proposed to start the institution with from 200 to 250 beds, and the institution will probably be increased later to not less than 1000-bed capacity, and involving an expenditure by the government of about $2,000,000.

Legionnaires have been working hard for the location of a hospital in Southern California, and are elated over the announcement. They express appreciation of the work of Congressman Walter N. Elmberger of Long Beach, himself a disabled veteran, who has been untiring in the interests of his injured buddies.

SVEN HEDIN DISCUSSES NOBEL PRIZE

Scientist Declares Poets and Idealists are Greatest Aids to Progress

"The poets, artists and other idealists of history have done more for the advancement of human progress than all the kings who ever waded to golden thrones through seas of blood and tears," declared Dr. Sven Hedin, famous explorer and scientist, in an address given yesterday at the City Club.

Dr. Hedin, who is a member of the Swedish Academy of Science and also of the Nobel Peace Prize Committee, caused a laugh when he mentioned the fact that two Presidents of the United States have been honored by the receipt of this prize, adding:

"Those two Presidents were Roosevelt and Wilson and, while it would be tactless of me to say what I think of having given them these prizes, I will say that I am glad Roosevelt got it because he was a great friend of mine."

Describing his association with the Nobel family nearly forty years ago, Dr. Hedin said that it was the members of this truly noble household that first helped him to carry out his desire to visit the various countries of the world. In speaking of his visit to the Nobel brothers at their oil wells in Saloniki the speaker said that the main difference between those wells and the ones in Southern California is that "the latter are cleaner and some of the workmen are Christians."

Dr. Hedin voiced his regret that Ibsen and Tolstoi died before they were awarded the Nobel literature prize and, speaking of the Persian poets, Sadi and Hafiz, he said that if they were living today the Nobel literature prize would be given them.

"A poet like Hafiz is worth far more to the world than that old tyrant who wrote upon his tombstone, 'If I were living now the world would tremble,'" said Dr. Hedin.

Oil Syndicate's Books Checked in State's Quiz

Auditors of the State Corporation Department yesterday checked the books and records of the Joe B. Turman Oil Syndicate No. 2, preparatory to presenting their findings to the grand jury next Tuesday morning, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Becker, in charge of the investigation.

A group of the 5000 stockholders in the organization filed a civil complaint Tuesday charging gross fraud and misappropriation of funds to the extent of $238,000, and succeeded in having appointed as receiver Attorney Willard L. Goodwin.

ACCUSE TWO OF HOLD-UPS AND ATTACK

Youthful Pair, Asserted to be Soldiers, Are Held on Four Charges

Charged with three robberies in a single evening and with attacking Miss Dorothy Smith of Long Beach, two men declared to be soldiers from Fort MacArthur, were lodged in the City Jail yesterday. They gave their names as Clinto Pendleton and Edgar Foster, each 18 years of age, and, according to the detectives, admitted two of the robberies, but denied attacking Miss Smith.

Miss Smith and Charles Gabrielle were on their way home from Los Angeles Friday evening when they were held up by two men near the Daugherty aviation field. According to the couple, the bandits took $13 from Gabrielle and a watch from Miss Smith, then drove her in Gabrielle's car to a lonely spot near Willowbrook and attacked her.

Later Friday evening, it is declared, Pendleton and Foster, on foot, stopped E. Perry of 6154 West Forty-third street, and H. L. Perry and Dick Jones of 1432 West Sixty-fifth street, near Culver City, and stole a small amount of money and their car. Still later, it is asserted, Pendleton and Foster, driving the Perry car, were at Pasadena avenue and Avenue 60, where they stopped a car containing a man named Giesinger and the daughter of Police Sergeant Cornwall, both of Herman, and robbed them of money and a watch.

BOY IS VICTIM OF BEATING

Rejected Applicant for Marine Corps Faints on Doorstep; Interim Movements Unknown

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 22.—Prompted by a patriotic desire to serve his country, Clarence Hale, 19-year-old Long Beach youth, went to Los Angeles a week ago to enlist in the Marine Corps. Today he is back home in a dying condition and county and Federal authorities have a new mystery to solve.

In a state of mental and physical collapse and with his ears and mouth showing signs of having been burned by a hot liquid, the Hale boy reached his father's home at 2498 Glendale avenue shortly before daylight Monday morning and fainted on the doorstep. His clothing was cut and torn to ribbons and marks and bruises on his body indicated that he had been brutally beaten.

Today the boy is suffering from a mental derangement which may cause his death, physicians reported to the police. At no time since his return has he been able to give his father, Henry Hale, an account of his experiences, the latter told police today.

According to Mr. Hale, his boy left for Los Angeles on the 13th inst. and went to the Marine Recruiting Station, where he was tentatively accepted as a recruit, notice to that effect having been sent officially to the father by the recruiting officers. The boy was then sent to San Diego for final examination at the Marine Barracks there, and was finally rejected because of an old injury to his arm, Mr. Hale told police.

From the time the boy was discharged at the Marine Barracks until he appeared at his home here yesterday morning, no account of his actions or his experiences can be gained, Hale said.

Today Hale was advised by Captain of Detectives Worley to lay the case before the United States Attorney in Los Angeles in order that a thorough investigation of the boy's movements can be made and to determine whether, as the father says he believes, the boy was mistreated at the Marine Barracks in San Diego. Another investigation was launched here this morning by investigators working out of the office of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Glover in Long Beach.

The boy's mouth and ears appear to have been burned by acid or a hot liquid, physicians in charge of the case state, and his back shows evidence of having been beaten and cut. His clothing, including vest, shirt and underwear, was badly torn and cut. Police have learned that an oil worker, whose identity has not been established, found the boy on the Long Beach Boulevard between Los Angeles and Long Beach shortly after midnight Sunday night and noticing his plight, took him into his automobile and brought him to his home on Glendale avenue.

It has been determined that the youth was entitled to transportation by the government from San Diego back to Los Angeles, his place of enlistment. Whether the boy availed himself of this or fell in with strangers who mistreated him before reaching Los Angeles the father says he has been unable to learn.

DRAWS LINE ON PROPERTY LAW

Wives Lose Point in Ruling of Supreme Court

Limits Their Interest Acquired Prior to July, 1917

Decision Bears Importantly on New Legislation

That a wife in the State of California has no vested interest in community property acquired before July 26, 1917, is the interpretation given here to the action of the State Supreme Court on the 17th inst. in reversing the decision of the trial court and of the First District Court of Appeals in San Francisco in the cast of Roberts vs. Wehmeyer. Justice Lawler of the Supreme Court is the author of the opinion, all other justices concurring except Justice Kerrigan, who is said to be on a vacation.

The new decision will have an important bearing upon the two most recent sections written into the community property law of the State, providing that a wife, in case she died during her husband's life time, can dispose by will of one half the community acquired by herself and her husband during their married life. She will now be limited to one half of the property acquired since July 26, 1917.

Inheritance taxes will lalso be affected by the decision. If the Supreme Court had affirmed the decision o the trial court, a wife would possess and not inherit at her husband's death one-half of the community property of the couple. In this case the Federal government would most likely recognize her vested rights and exempt this amount from the provisions of the inheritance tax. In case the husband died, leaving property outside of California, other State governments would also have respected the vested rights of the wife, it is thought.

HISTORY OF CASE

The case of Roberts vs. Wehmeyer first entered the court dockets eight years ago in the Superior Court of Monterey county. The suit was brought by Elizabeth V. Roberts against T. F. Wehmeyer to recover a home which had formerly been owned by William A. and Elizabeth V. Roberts, but which had been sold to Wehmeyer by Roberts on the eve of divorce proceedings instituted by his wife. Mrs. Roberts was awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce and also the community property of the couple. She then brought suit against Wehmeyer.

When the case came to trial it revolved around the section of the community property law of the State which went into effect on July 26, 1917, and which provided that the wife join into a deed of conveyance of community real property in order to pass the title.

The court found that the deed to the house had been granted on August 21, 1917, and recorded on August 28, 1917, after the time when the new law went into effect. It was contended, however, by counsels for Wehmeyer that the money with which the home was built had been earned, except for a small sum, before July 26, 1917, and was thus exempt from the provisions of the law. In the decision given by Trial Judge Baldin of the Monterey Superior Court, Mrs. Roberts was awarded the property on the grounds that in changing the form of the property from money to community real property, over which he had less control, Roberts had transferred to his wife an interest in the property.

DECISION APPEALED

An appeal of the case was made in the First District Court of Appeals in San Francisco, but the decision of the trial court was affirmed by this body on November 21, 1921.

Then the State Supreme Court granted a hearing on January 3, 1922, and the case was argued on July 25 and submitted on August 16 of the same year. The filing of more briefs gave new life to the litigation, which was argued again on February 3 last, and finally decided on the 17th inst.

In its decision last Friday the State Supreme Court held that the mere transfer of the money which had been earned previous to July 26, 1917, into community property did not change its ownership and that Mrs. Roberts had no right to the home which was bought with this amount.

Ruby Miller and Her Natural Stockings

RUBY WEARS NO STOCKINGS

English Actress in Hollywood Breaks Monopoly of Gay Paree; Here, Here, Don't Crowd

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Yes, Ruby Miller wears no stockings these days! Paris needn't think she's the only city where the stockingless fad prevails. Ho, and a couple of Ho's. No, not hose!

Ruby Miller, noted English actress, who is over here making pictures and uplifting the film drama, never wears any stockings in summertime. No, ma'am, not even with evening clothes.

The fair Miss Miller created a near riot at the Ambassador last night when she appeared without stockings on her Trilbies. Several near casualties almost occurred when Miss Miller tripped the length of the dance floor to seek her table; and when her feet began to twinkle in the dance,—why, three old gentlemen pushed their table over trying to get a better look.

"Why do I eschew stockings in summer time?" demanded Miss Miller. "Because it is comfortable, economical and convenient, not to say healthy. The tootsies like air as well as any part of our skin.

"Isn't it funny how women will bare their necks in these low-and-behold gowns, and then refuse to give their poor feet a rest from hampering garments?

"I find the condition of my feet much improved. Never had any corns on my feet, but they do get tired and hot when I'm on them a great deal, and I find that going without hose is a wonderful restorative."

Pretty feet and nice skin? Oh, yes indeed! Not everybody, of course, can do it.

"Do I use make-up on my feet and legs?" echoed Miss Miller in scorn. "Why, the idea! I should say not!"

Will Celebrate Extension Plan for Boulevard

Members of the Greater Washington Boulevard Association will gather at the Plantation at Culver City tomorrow evening to celebrate the completion of preliminary plans for a greater Washington Boulevard and the successful termination of the drive for funds to enable the organization to carry on for the coming year. A majority of the members are expected to attend.

Although the dance is not open to the public anyone interested in the success of the project for the extension and improvement of Washington Boulevard can obtain tickets by calling at the association headquarters.

The long expected statistical report covering the activities of the organization since its inception will be made at the dinner. The report shows in detail the accomplishments to date and the objective that the organization now has in sight.

PATHFINDER FOR AIRMEN IN ACCIDENT

British Yacht on Tour Around World Delayed Off Mexico

The steam yacht Frontiersman, acting as the pathfinder for the proposed globe-circling flight by British aviators next summer, has met with a slight accident off Manzanillo, Mex., and will not arrive here until tomorrow or Saturday. This information is contained in a radio message received here yesterday by Dr. John T. Townsend, local representative of the group of scientists who are laying the course for the flight around the world.

The message also stated that the Frontiersman ran out of fuel at Serros Island after encountering heavy weather, and is making her way up the Coast by the aid of sails. It was indicated in the message that the yacht will stop at San Diego to take on coal and then proceed to Los Angeles Harbor. She was originally scheduled to arrive here today.

A group of thirty aviation experts, acientists and British naval officers are aboard the yacht, which left London on the trip about the world almost two months ago. Los Angeles Harbor was to be the only American port touched by the yacht, but because of the accident she will be forced to put in at San Diego for refuelling, it was stated.

Included in the party are Capt. Norman MacMillan and Capt. G. H. Malins, British air aces, who are to make the globe-circling flight; Capt. R. L. Spaulding and Capt. Robert Price, British naval officers, and Commander Roger Bocock, commander of the expedition. All the men aboard the vessel have figured prominently in arctic and antarctic explorations.

For Business Men and Bankers to Think About

How far should talk about wheat, mostly based on impression instead of fact, be allowed to influence opinion regarding the prosperity of the country at this time?

While realizing the existing condition of the exclusive wheat farmers of the great plains states, we find many reassuring facts in the wheat situation at the present time.

The break in wheat price was based on July estimate of probable harvest. Since then the Canadian crop has deteriorated and promises a greatly reduced yield.

Kansas, the leading wheat state, has a big corn crop in prospect, and will greatly reduce its wheat acreage this fall. This means a better price for wheat carried over to next season.

The spring wheat states have a larger acreage in corn this year. Minnesota's big crop this season is not wheat, but corn.

Viewing agriculture as a whole, wheat is not the vital factor it once was. When you consider——that wheat represents only about 6% of the total value of farm products.

—that relatively few farmers depend solely upon wheat for their yearly income.

—that perhaps half the wheat consumed in this country is bought by farmers themselves in form of flour, bran, millfeed, etc.

then all this talk about our prosperity being dependent upon the price of wheat sounds ridiculous.

According to the July 1 estimate of the United States Department of Agriculture, the 1923 crop of wheat was worth $61,515,000 less than the same quantity was worth on July 1, 1922. That doesn't look so good.

Yet against this decline, corn, on the same basis, will develop $699,111,000 more than last year.

Force of habit seems to have kept wheat as a sentimental index, for today it represents only about half the value of corn; while hogs, cattle, dairy products, poultry products—each has risen to more than equal the value of the wheat crop; and the fruit crop is practically equal.

In addition to these things, there are two other tremendously important items having to do with the wealth and prosperity of the country—namely, hay and cotton.

Comparing prices of these two items with 1913 prices, hay is 97% and cotton 206%. Cotton alone should show in dollars an increase of more than five times the decline in wheat.

Obviously, wheat as a controlling factor has diminished.

Once Maine elections were the keynote of national politics.

Wheat was the keynote of prosperity.

That was before the center of population moved to Indiana. That was the time when all farmers were growing some wheat, and all were affected by both the abundance of the crop and the sales price.

Times have changed!

Give wheat its rightful place—6% of the whole—but don't let it assume undue importance.

Fundamentally, the country, from every standpoint so far as we can see, is sound; particularly sound when judged by the natural creation of wealth as it comes from the soil

GINS FOR KERN COUNTY COTTON

Picking Begins Next Week in Bakersfield District

Growers Planning Extensive Acreage Additions

Cold Air to Preserve Fruit; Business News

Ginning of the cotton yield in Kern county this year will be handled by three modern gins, each of which is capable of refining a substantial volume daily. Picking in the Bakersfield region will begin about September 1 and will continue until the 6000 to 8000 acres is entirely harvested.

The California Products Company will operate a gin southeast of Bakersfield which is expected to handle 4000 bales. The plant is equipped with four stamp saw gins with a capacity of fifty bales in a twenty-hour day, or 1400 bales a month. N. P. Cormack and Charles Fowler, extensive cotton growers, have leased a large gin at Wasco, where the production is estimated at 3000 bales. The third plant is at Magunden, six miles east of Bakersfield, in the Arvin-Weed Patch district. The yield in this section is forecast at an increase of 25 per cent over last season. The company will gin at 30 certs per 100 pounds for seed cotton. The price for bagging and tying has been placed at $1.75 a bale.

Having obtained more money on cotton last year than from any other crop planted in the county, the Kern growers are making plans for a larger acreage next season. The lower cost of producing the Acala variety has led to the abandonment of the long-staple Pima, from which the growers in that region obtained excellent results before the disparity between the prices received for the long and short cotton disappeared. The Acala can be grown under the same climatic and soil conditions as the Egyptian Pima, and yields a superior product.

Next year the California Products Company expects to extend its operations by the addition of two new gins, one at Arvin and another at Alexander's Corner in the Weed Patch.

FRUIT SHIPMENTS

A. P. Hammond, general manager and vice-president of the California-New York Steamship Company which will operate seven 18,000-ton, fifteen-knot refrigerator boats designed to transport California fruits to the Atlantic Coast, asserts that the new type of cold-air refrigeration used has been thoroughly tested and found efficient. The United Fruit Company, he says, has been operating a large fleet of refrigerator vessels for several years in a successful manner, and has demonstrated to their satisfaction the practicability of the cold-air system compared to the methods adopted by the rail carriers. The system allows a free circulation sufficient to drive away the gasses accumulating in the holds, which are the major causes of decay.

MILL EARNINGS

Net profits of the Aunt Jemima Mills Company for the year ended June 30, 1923, amounted to $181,947, or $18.45 on the preferred stock. As reported to Stevens, Page & Sterling, net operating profits totaled $332,782 before the deduction of depreciation, reserves, and other charges. The preferred shares are held to some extent in this city.

The company reports that its stock of package goods is low, eliminating the necessity of carrying old stock into the new season. The sales in this department in the year closed were substantially ahead of the previous season, and forward orders for fall delivery are running satisfactorily in volume.

NEW DEPARTMENT

L. A. McConnell, president of the Security Finance Corporation, announces the addition of a new department to handle mortgage and construction work. R. P. Pennock will assume the work of directing the department, which will specialize in financing and construction, and will also furnish plans, specifications, leases, mortgages and trust deeds.

COTTON WORKS LOWER ON WEATHER REPORTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Cotton futures moved irregularly lower in a quiet trading session today. The set-back was mainly due to the sentimental effect of the Texas and Oklahoma weather news, indicating partial relief there. Professionals were moderately active in the selling, but displayed caution inasmuch as the more bearish western belt news was partly offset by bullish conditions in the eastern half.

Starting with an initial setback of 8 to 12 points the market continued to drop in early dealings till it had lost 25 points before scattered support brought a slight and unmaintained recovery. During the afternoon the list turned dull with a lower tendency and closed weak, off 36 to 53 points net, last prices being at, or within 1 or 2 points of the low.

Spot was quiet, 50 points decline, 25.25 for middling upland. Southern market: Galveston, 24.50, 50 points decline; New Orleans, 25.50, 25 points decline; Norfolk, 24.25, 50 points decline; Augusta, 25, 25 points decline; Memphis, 24.50, unchanged; Houston, 24.25, 60 points decline; Little Rock, 24.50, 25 points decline.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Trend of Business; Cycle Still in Expansion Stage; Industrial Production

The farmer, his crops and the marketing of them are not going to interfere with the orderly development of the business cycle or interrupt the continuity of business activity. The farmer did not create the expansion of business and while it is unfortunate that he has not participated as fully as others, his position is better and improving. But, however the farmer may fare, he is not going to put an end to a condition he did not create. The continuation of business activity is not dependent on agriculture to any unusual degree and agriculture is well enough off to contribute something to the continuation.

There is nothing in the crop situation, according to the digest of the trend of business just issued by the Continental and Commercial Banks of Chicago, to refute the testimony of the other eighteen business barometers which say that the business cycle is still in the expansion stage. The great question is not now so much whether crops are large or small but the method of marketing them and the prices they will bring. The quantity of the various crops is satisfactory.

The wheat crop, according to the government report, will be 792,000,000 bushels above the estimated domestic consumption. Exports last year were 221,000,000 bushels and there is no reason to believe that the export demand will decrease. So far as can be learned, the European crop is 6.6 per cent greater than last year. This is not enough of an increase to keep Europe out of the American market in which she is accustomed to buy and in which she has actually bought nearly 90,000,000 bushels since January 1.

In the general appraisal of the business situation the bank's survey calls attention to the necessity for considering the relationships between the various barometers and of disregarding the evidence offered by only one. The continuous decline in the general level of prices since April would be extremely disturbing and, taken alone, would warrant a change in interpretation from expansion to contraction if it were not for the behavior of money rates. To indicate a major down swing of business, money rates should have hardened as they have not done. The general price level is far above the low for the 1922-23 period.

Stock exchange quotations might indicate the end of the expansion stage of the cycle, but it has always been noted that falling stock prices and advancing money rates have both been present when a major decline began. Just now credit conditions are sound and money rates too easy to warrant a conclusion that the turn has come.

Industrial production declined during the summer, but it is still far above the low points for 1922, and is not in a depression level.

Railroad earnings and bank clearings, outside of New York, show that business has not spent itself. Building has declined, after its dramatic attempt at speed, by scurrying for materials, bidding up wages and disorganizing the entire industry. It is now proceeding at about the normal capacity of the nation's building plant.

None of the other barometers, according to the bank survey, indicates the end of business activity.

In conclusion the survey says:

"Certainly there is much to indicate that agriculture is going to share in good business in increasing proportion. Regardless of the gloomy stories, prosperity is beginning to reach out to the farms and there is even promise that the expansion stage of the business cycle will earn its way to recognition by the barometer agricultural production."

IT'S A LONG TRAIL

Illinois service men are finding out that it is a long, long trail between the passage of a bonus law and the distribution of the largess. There has been no appreciable rush on the part of bond buyers to snap up the offering and bids for the second $10,000,000 issue have recently been rejected because they were not high enough, the best bid received being 99.92 and this for only $1,000,000 of the bonds, with a sixty-day option on the remaining $9,000,000. Members of the bidding syndicate stated that recent weakness in the bond market would not permit them to bid par for 4½ per cent bonds, while, on the other hand, the State officials are not willing to sell at a discount.

This means that there will be a considerable hiatus before bonus payments can be resumed. The board now has on hand approved claims totaling about $2,000,000 and is accumulating claims at the rate of $1,000,000 a week.

MEETING AN EMERGENCY

The widespread damage to the raisin grape crops due to mildew has resulted in an emergency order being issued by the State Department of Agriculture regulating the shipment of grapes intended for use in processing, preserving or in the manufacture of by-products.

These regulations are said to provide that grapes containing in excess of 10 per cent of mildew be shipped in containers labeled, "for manufacturing purposes only," and that when they contain 15 per cent or more of mildew the director of agriculture shall require additional proof of the purpose for which they are to be used.

Late estimates indicate that about one-quarter of the expected crop of 800,000 tons will be lost, and price readjustments to meet the emergency will probably soon be announced.

MARKET ACTIVITY

The month of September generally brings greater activity in the speculative markets and there is no reason to believe that this year will be an exception. The current Clews review says that midsummer dullness is keeping the business down to a low level, but that the market is beginning to show much resisting power and efforts to apply pressure to it are becoming less frequent. While trading continues to be largely professional, it now gives an impression of having reached a level which makes it less sensitive to unfavorable news. Liquidation on a large scale appears to have been completed, and such reactions as take place are largely due to operations of the trading element, which is no longer wedded to the short side.

DRINKING OUR RICE

Several manufacturers in the city of Hokkaido, Japan, recently purchased a quantity of California rice to mix with the native cereal for experimental use in the manufacture of "sake," a widely used beverage of Japan. The results of the experiments which have just been given out are very encouraging and indicate a new market for California rice. While there were no experiments using only California rice, there seems to be no reason why this should not be equally successful. However, the use of two parts California rice to one part native rice, the ratio used in the experiments, if generally adopted will assure a large market for the American product.

LOWER TIRE PRICES

The heavy burden of unsold tires is said to be forcing manufacturers to curtail the scale of their operations, and another general reduction of prices is rumored for the near future.

NEW FORD RECORD

During the week ended August 14 the Ford Motor Company produced 41,145 cars and trucks. The tractor output was 1959 and the Lincoln output 205.

TAXATION INNOVATION EXPLAINED

Laws Governing Inheritance Levies Analyzed; Meaning of Enactments

[This article is the first of a series upon the subject of Estate and Inheritance taxation by James F. Mackel, Manager Legal Department, Lewis & Baker, Inc.—Ed.]

Of the many new forms of taxation that have been established in the United States in the last few years inheritance taxes are probably the least understood by the people as a whole. This lack of understanding is in part due to the fact that inheritance taxes are somewhat of an innovation in the American system of taxation and in part to the fact that the nature of the tax is such that its effect has not as yet been felt by everyone.

Both the State and Federal governments have enacted laws providing for this form of taxation.

The Federal law is known as the the Federal estate tax and was enacted by Congress as a part of the Revenue Act of 1916. The various State laws have been enacted from time to time and are in a general way very similar to each other, though very different from the Federal law. Florida and Alabama are the only two States which have yet to adopt this form of taxation. In California at present we have the Inheritance Tax Act of California, which was adopted in 1921 as a revision of former similar acts dating back as far as 1893. The California law is typical of the laws adopted in other States of the United States.

Owing to the lack of knowledge of these taxes the average person is inclined to feel flattered when it is suggested to him that his estate may be subject to an inheritance tax. It is the general impression that these taxes are intended only for the estates of the very wealthy. This impression is erroneous.

The tendency of inheritance tax legislation since it has become general throughout the United States has been to make its effect more far-reaching—to include the small estate as well as the large. It may be of interest to know that in California at the present time an estate of $601 may, under certain circumstances, come within the range of the California tax, and that an estate of $250,000 may be taxed as much as $30,000.

A knowledge of these taxes, both State and Federal, is of importance to practically everyone, especially to men who have families dependent upon them for support. Without this knowledge a man cannot be sure that his estate will remain intact after his death. A man should at least have an approximate idea of how much the taxes on his estate will be and should make some provision for their payment during his lifetime. Very often real embarrassment is occasioned by throwing the entire burden of these taxes on those who succeed to your estate because, as will be explained in an article to follow, these taxes are payable only in cash, within a limited time after your death, and your estate cannot be distributed until they are paid in full.

The discussion in this series of articles will be limited to an explanation of the Federal law and the law of California, and the effect of laws of other States in some instances upon the estate of persons dying residents of California. Examples will be cited to show the amount of the tax on estates of various sizes and plans will be explained whereby proper provision may be made for the payment of this tax which are not in any sense an evasion of the tax.

STEEL TRADE WATCHES THREE-SHIFT SYSTEM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22.—With the three-shift system actually in force at many furnaces and mills, the time is not far distant when the effects of the change will be known. In a number of instances the imposition of the short turn during the past week was accompanied by scarcely widespread and other interruptions to operations owing to misunderstandings. Until the temporary confusion, due to the sudden change, dies out it will be impossible to obtain a fair idea of the normal conditions under the new system. In view of this uncertainty the present encouraging volume of incoming business definitely to be attributed to the introduction of the all-prevailing work day. While volume of sales is only slightly above the early months of April, the increasing flow of inquiries points to a period of heavier buying during September.

The Iron Trade Review reports the production of fourteen leading iron and steel products made in one day level at 844,94, the same as last week. Evidence of heavier pressure to bring out deliveries of rails and fastenings for 40,000 miles of track are current. It is believed that more than 350,000 tons of rails have been booked for 1924 delivery. The combined production of locomotives are limited to output of one or two items each, but it is understood that two leading Eastern roads quietly placed large orders for locomotives with well-known builders. American buying of British iron and European semi-finished material has been encouraged by the quick, Eastern purchase at the equivalent of $30.40 f.o.b. Antwerp. The Iron Trade Review weekly states that steel operations are widespread in the Ruhr but that mob violence is dying down.

THERE IS AN INCREASING MARGIN OF SAFETY FOR THESE BONDS

The First and Refunding Mortgage 6% Bonds of the Southern California Gas Company have long been regarded by experienced investors as a security of the highest order. Safety of principal is assured by total security value of $16,667,181 (upon completion of betterments now under construction) against which the total funded debt will be $11,840,000.

The margin of safety available for payment of interest is clearly seen in the chart reproduced above, net earnings from operations having increased 595% during the past ten years, while bond interest increased only 262%.

The Company supplies gas in three communities of Southern California. Among the principal cities served are Glendale, Riverside, San Bernardino, Redlands and a substantial portion of Los Angeles, besides thirty-two other cities and towns. On April 30, 1923, the Company was serving 93,845 consumers.

These bonds are exempt from personal property taxes in California; can be had in denominations as low as $500 and application has been made to certify them as a legal investment for savings banks in California. The bonds represent, we believe, an ultra conservative type of investment that should be found in the list of every investor. Ask us more about them.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Rail Liens Firm

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. — Bond prices moved within narrow limits in today's trading which again was of small volume.

Active United States government bonds were either unchanged or slightly improved. There was some selling of the French issues on speculative apprehension over the European outlook, but the losses were not large. Mexican 5s declined 1¼.

Railroad mortgages held relatively firm in quiet trading. Great Northern 6½, Series E, dropped 1 on reports of new financing. Third Avenue refunding 4s were in fair demand, closing 1⅛ higher.

Aside from the movement of several speculative issues there was little activity among industrial liens. Cerro de Pasco Copper 8s moved up a point and Virginia-Carolina Chemical 7½s, with warrants, dropped 1¼.

It was reported that a $35,000,000 Brazilian loan might be offered in the New York market soon. There were reports also of a $6,000,000 issue by the Public Service Company of Colorado, to be offered shortly.

NEW YORK CURB

Active Selling

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Selling orders again predominated in today's curb market, with the result that the list displayed a reactionary tone during most of the day. A brief flurry of buying took place in the early afternoon, but the rally was not maintained.

Active oil shares showed only fractional changes on the day. A cut in Mid-Continent crude prices by an independent refiner was not regarded seriously and failed to bring out any extensive liquidation. Magnolia Petroleum dropped 6 points on odd lot transactions and Prairie Oil and Gas lost 1 on sales of less than 200 shares. Standard Oil of Indiana, the leader in point of activity, closed ⅝ lower at 52½ after having sold nearly a point above that figure.

Durant Motors climbed 2½ points to 42½, but fell back later to 40⅝, up ¾. Other motors registered small fractional losses.

The feature of the mining group was the establishment of a new high for the year by Continental Mines.

Redeemable, in whole, or in part, at the option of the borrowers, on any interest payment date, on 30 days published notice, at par and accrued interest, plus a premium of ½ of 1% for each unexpired year, or portion thereof, to maturity.

EXEMPT FROM CALIFORNIA PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX

A Bondholders' Policy of Title Insurance, issued by the Title Insurance & Trust Company, Los Angeles, in the full amount of this issue, will guarantee the validity of this lien.

SECURITY: This issue of bonds constitutes a closed first mortgage on a leasehold estate in the City of Los Angeles; consisting of a 50-year ground lease on property located just south of Pico Street, with a frontage of 295 feet on Figueroa Street and extending through a depth of over 500 feet to Georgia Street, and two buildings to be erected thereon by the Milwaukee Building Co.

The present value of the ground lease has been appraised by the Los Angeles Realty Board at $246,750. The completed cost of the improvements will be approximately $400,000, giving a total value to the property securing this issue of approximately $646,750—nearly THREE TIMES the amount of this issue.

INCOME: The two buildings, when completed, will be leased for a period of ten years to the HOWARD AUTOMOBILE COMPANY, BUICK DISTRIBUTORS, and one of the largest and strongest automobile agencies in the world—at an annual rental of $61,100. Through the mortgage provisions this rental will be paid direct to the Title Insurance & Trust Company, to be used by the Trust Company to pay ground rent, taxes and insurance, and bond interest and principal. The balance, after paying certain other expenses, to be held in trust for the benefit of the bondholders until the bond issue has been entirely redeemed. This rental fund will meet all necessary charges and entirely retire the issue at maturity.

This sub-lease will be guaranteed by endorsement by Charles S. Howard of San Francisco, whose net worth is estimated at several million dollars.

MORTGAGORS: Harry A. Ungar and Irving D. Watson, two substantial business men of Los Angeles, will jointly and severally execute the mortgage.

SAFEGUARDS: Funds necessary for the completion of the buildings, along with building contracts and proper contractors' bonds, will be escrowed, prior to the issuance of these bonds, with the Title Insurance & Trust Company, to insure the completion of the buildings.

The mortgage provides for adequate fire and earthquake insurance and proper maintenance of property to fully protect bondholders.

A "Hoss" Railway

¶ "THE people of Los Angeles generally appear to be gratified at the prospect of having, at an early day, the opportunity of seeing the city illuminated by electric light, and of riding from one end of the city to the other on an improved 'hoss' railway. Whatever other cities may be doing, Los Angeles is steadily advancing."

—Newspaper, Sept. 11, 1882

¶ AND is still advancing. Both the demand for electrical energy and the electric generating equipment of Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation have doubled during the past three years.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Speculation on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday was marked by short, sharp rises in Globe Petroleum and Tom Reed, and activity in Standard Oil and Union Oil of California bond issues.

Globe opened at 53, and on a small volume of sales, arose to 61, where it was up 6 cents above the final price of the previous session. Selling at 30¾, General Petroleum common was in some demand, and closed at 30½, off ½ point from the closing quotation of the previous day. At 17¼ Shell Union was unchanged, and U. S. Royalties acquired 1½ cents at 57½.

Tom Reed got as high as 61, but fell back to 59, representing a gain of 4 cents. Nellie was ahead ½ cent at 4, and Telluride at 21 was up 1 cent. Gold Dust closed at 21 cents.

Standard Oil of California 5s of 1931, 1929 and 1928 were actively bought, the first named selling at 97¾. Union of California 6s of 1923 went at 99⅞ and the 6s of 1942 sold at 100¼.

Following are the closing quotations and sales:

How a Dollar Looks After a Railway Ride

Out of every dollar of revenues received by the Pennsylvania Railroad System last year, 81.4 cents, more than four-fifths, immediately paid out in salaries and wages to the company's 276,000 employes. This is shown in a report, just compiled, setting forth how the Pennsylvania Railroad's "dollar" was spent in 1922.

Materials and supplies used in every day railroad operation took 17.66 cents out of every dollar earned. This was the record figure. Coal for the System's 7247 locomotives took 7.39 cents. The consumption of these materials and supplies gave employment and business and illustrates how the railroads contribute to the country's prosperity.

For the support of municipal, State and Federal governments, the Pennsylvania Railroad paid in taxes, in 1922, a total of 4.54 cents from every dollar.

Tax payments, which have been increasing yearly, have now reached the point where they are approximately equivalent to the dividends received by the stockholders, who are owners of the property.

Loss and damage payments, depreciation on rolling stock and other property, and miscellaneous rentals, absorbed an additional 2.41 cents of the railroad's "dollar."

After meeting operating expenses and taxes, 7.75 cents were needed to pay fixed charges which include the interest on the funded debt. Of the original "dollar" 3.54 cents finally remained to pay a return to the stockholders, and sustain the company's credit.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—There was some improvement in the California fruit offered here today. Oranges were slightly higher on the best grades of Valencias. Sales were twenty-two cars at $2 to $6.50 per box.

California lemons eased off, one car sold at $4.55 to $6.95, according to size. Two cars of California grapefruit sold from 72 cents to $1.92 per half-box.

Frost has considerable acreage of the bean crop in Maine. Corn, which is very late this season, was not damaged so much.

DRIED FRUITS

Spot dried fruits were inactive with nominal prices and buyers seeking concessions. Dried apricots continue unsettled.

COFFEE

While sentiment was more unsettled in the coffee market owing to rumors of financing being arranged here for the Brazilian government, the tone of the market showed early irregularity with an initial decline of 8 points to an advance of 4 points and became firmer. Sales were 15,000 bags which include switches of September to March at a spread of 112 points. Finals were up 9 to 20 points.

SUGAR

There was evidence that the distressed sugar so prevalent in the market the past few days had been moved in today's trading. While doing a fair business at consignment points refiners have now generally cut their prices to a basis of 7.50 cents a pound for granulated.

The market for raw sugar was around 4 1-8 cents, cost and freight. The future market was irregular at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 6 points, but prices worked higher in the late forenoon under short covering. Closing prices showed a net gain of 3 to 5 points, with sales estimated at 24,000 tons. Refined futures closed with a decline of 20 to 30 points.

TIN

Tin continued to move up and the market closed here at from 40 to 40 1-4 cents a pound for all deliveries and positions of straits. London prices: Standard spot, £190 10s; futures, £191 10s; straits, £194.

LEAD

Lead seems a little stronger, owing to the increase in the volume of inquiry. The leading interest continues to quote 6.50 cents per pound and independents 6.70 cents. The East St. Louis market is firm at 6.40 to 6.45 cents. London spot was £24 7s 6d, and futures, £24 10s.

ZINC

Zinc advanced 5 points to 6.55 cents a pound at St. Louis, and London reported another advance. London spot, £33 12s 6d; futures, £33 3s 6d.

COPPER

Most of the copper producers have advanced their price to 14 1-8 cents or better for electrolytic delivered, but the metal is still obtainable at 14 cents, and this price is still the market. London spot standard, £64 17s 6d; futures, £65 5s; electrolytic spot, £70 10s; futures, £70 15s.

PETROLEUM

In spite of the weakness of other products fuel oil is showing a steady tendency, particularly in the West where some recent large deals have been made to small advances from previous figures. Mid-Continent is quoted at 85 to 90 cents a barrel. Local refiners have made no change in the price for fuel oil, the quotation having been at $1.60 for some time.

BONDS

Trading was dull in the bond market with the trend of prices irregular at times. Foreign loans started easier but firmed up during the closing hour.

Just the opposite held true in many of the rails and industrials when quotations showed an easing tendency toward the close.

The drive against the stocks of the anthracite coal roads because of the threatened strike on September 1 did not unsettle the rail bonds greatly but the market was forced to absorb some material selling. Interest in public utilities continues unabated. Copper and steel bonds were featured slightly in today's session.

BUTTER

Butter receipts were 10,082 packages. The market was weak at the close. Creamery high scores 45½ cents; unsalted creamery, high score, 47 and 47½ cents; State dairy tubs finest, 43 and 44 cents; packing stock No. 1 current 33 cents.

EGGS

Egg receipts were 32,244 cases; fresh gathered extras 35 and 38 cents; New Jersey hennery white selected extras, 55 and 57 cents; New Jersey do brown extra fancy, 50 and 53 cents; Pacific Coast white extras, 47 and 48 cents. Other western and southern gathered white 32 and 40 cents.

RICE

Consumers of rice are awaiting a larger movement of new crop. Prices already put out in Louisiana and Arkansas and other places indicate the market is opening the season firm. Blue rose, fancy, 4 3-4 and 5 cents; fancy head Honduras, 7 3-4 and 8 cents; Japan fancy, 5 1-4 and 5 3-4 cents.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Rubber—Further firmness was displayed in the crude rubber market yesterday. Ribbed smoked spots and first latex spot were offered at 29½ cents; brown crepe thin clean, 28½ cents; amber No. 1 28¾ cents and fine upriver Para, 26 cents.

METAL QUOTATIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Copper steadier. Electrolytic spot and future, 14@14½. Tin firm. Spot and nearby 40.12; future 40.12.
Iron steady. Prices unchanged.
Lead steady, 6.50@6.75.
Zinc steady. East St. Louis spot and nearby delivery 6.50@6.55.

December Corn Takes Lead in Active Market

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22. — December corn displaced the September as the speculative leader on the Board of Trade today, and while the September was little changed for the day, the later month closed with a gain of 1¾. May corn also moved up moderately, with a net gain of 1¼ for the day. The further advance in holdings and a belated appreciation of the fact that the deferred corn deliveries are selling at too big discounts under the September and under the cash grain prices, were responsible for heavy buying of December and May corn.

There were indications also that the short interest in which 10 cent September to be perturbed by the rather steady advance in prices, and the closing prices were the best of the day, with not rallies of ⅛@⅜. Corn strength was partly responsible for the upturn in wheat, but there was also considerable buying by cash houses. Next to corn, oats showed more strength than any of the grains, a covering movement causing an appreciation in prices of 1⅞@1¾. Rye was sluggish and finished ⅛@⅜ up. Lard finished 2 up to 15 off, and ribs unchanged to 10 lower.

There was evidence in wheat that the supporting levels had been raised somewhat, and there was persistent buying of the December at 1.04, which finally turned the market, with the ligh rally in corn, helping to boost values in the last hour of the session. Cash prices were relatively firm in the Southwest, West and Northwest, with little pressure to sell from the country.

The Ohio Federal reporter wired that farmers would feed 25 per cent of the Ohio crop of wheat on the farms, which was one of the significant news features of the day. Advices from other points in the winter wheat belt indicate that the farmers are more inclined to feed the damp wheat than to ship it and get a big moisture penalty in the price, which is low enough on the farms at best. Kansas and Nebraska reported but light offerings. Shipping sales here were 105,000 bushels.

Receipts here were 349 cars; primary receipts 2,904,000 bushels, against 2,190,000 bushels a year ago. Winnipeg cash wheat was strong. There was no frost in Canada to do any damage to the wheat crop.

The corn trade is coming to be a big affair, the daily business now exceeding that of any day in a long time with more evidence of public participation. Not only did the market take the profit-taking sales with only minor reactions, but late in the day December swung into the lead with a burst of activity, and the close was near the top for the day. Country sales were not nearly so large as looked for, and Iowa reports said that old corn was scarce, with the new crop less promising than supposed. The discount of the December under September received more attention and was responsible for much buying. Commission houses quite generally were heavy takers and local bulls were good seconds in the volume of purchases. Crop news was favorable, but it did not create much selling pressure from the country. Receipts were 137 cars; primary arrivals, 760,000 bushels, against 931,000 bushels a year ago. Shipping sales were 115,000 bushels.

General buying by shorts in oats put this grain up sharply, the price range being the widest in several weeks. Cash interests sold September and bought December. Receipts were 137 cars, with primary arrivals 1,100,000 bushels against 1,049,000 bushels a year ago. Wet weather has delayed threshing and the country offerings are light. Cash sales were 115,000 bushels.

Rye followed wheat in a leisurely fashion. Export sales were 130,000 bushels.

You Can Profit on the Over Production of Oil

OIL producers must sell their oil and sell it quick. Favorable contracts can now be made. Oil bought today, stored and then marketed in the future is destined to make big earnings for those in a position to "cash in" on the situation.

The Gilmore Oil Company sees their opportunity, but to take full advantage of it, facilities must be increased and facilities require money.

Rather than accept the proffered capital of several larger companies, the Gilmore Oil Company prefers to take the public into partnership. $1,500,000 of its capital stock is now offered at $25 par value a share.

This may be another case of history repeating itself—$1,000 invested in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana 12 years ago is now worth $35,000—at any rate it is an investment for you in the safe, sure and big profit end of the oil industry.

Orders for this stock may be placed through any responsible investment dealer

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The protest of Charles H. Pyne, president of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners, filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission against the new rail tariff on copper which becomes effective Saturday today caused lively debate at the regular meeting of the southward intercoastal conference. J. C. Stubbs, representing the Garland Line, introduced a resolution criticising Messrs' action, but it was voted down. It is understood the copper question, as far as the intercoastal conference is concerned, is a dead issue and the lines will handle copper only at customary rates.

A Red Stack tug this afternoon was despatched south to meet the crippled American-Hawaiian freighter Dakarian which is proceeding to this port in tow of her sister ship the Nevadan. The Dakarian went on the rocks on the coast of lower California Sunday and was taken off Tuesday by the Nevadan.

The motorship Sierra formerly owned by the E. K. Wood Lumber Company, and which was subsequently sold to G. S. Freeman, will put in on Saturday for the first time since her addition several months ago with the Matson liner Wilhelmina. The Sierra has been entirely reconditioned. She will go to the drydock right away.

The Pacific Mail liner President Taft is due from the Orient early tomorrow and the President Wilson will sail from here for the Far East. Both vessels are loaded to capacity with passengers and freight.

ASTORIA, (Or.) Aug. 22.—The Swedish motorship Bullaren drifted this morning from Columbia City and after loading 250,000 feet of lumber at the Astoria terminals sailed this afternoon for Sydney.

The motorship Minnesota with general freight from Portland and 111,000 cases of canned salmon as well as some general cargo from the Astoria terminals sailed tonight for New York via San Francisco.

The steam schooner Corona arrived late last night from Los Angeles and is loading lumber at Westport.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 22.—The Todd Dry-docks, Inc., of this city today received a contract to install in the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada a battery of sixty burners. The same concern outfitted the Empress of Australia with a battery of 42 burners in November. The work on the Canada is to be done in October.

Henry Dearborn, Jr., vice-president of the Associated-Hawaiian Steamship Company, who has been delegated by that concern to take charge of the northwest agency of the company, arrived in Seattle today at noon assuming his duties.

With 4000 tons of copper ore from West Coast of South America ports the Panamanian steamship Pennsylvania, operated by the California Steamship Company, arrived at Port Townsend tonight, and after quarantine inspection tomorrow, will proceed to Tacoma to discharge. After discharging the Pennsylvania will come to Seattle to load railroad ties for Chilean.

Capt. R. R. Parkinson, inspector in charge of the Seattle field station for the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey announces that a new edition of chart No. 6164, giving a new survey of Willapa bay and harbor is available to mariners.

Heavy shipments of products of Hawaii, including 32,500 cases of canned pineapples and 1200 tons of molasses, the Mahina Navigation Company's liner Lurline is due in Seattle Saturday via San Francisco.

EVERETT, Aug. 22.—The steamship Pomona, one of two large freighters purchased recently by the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, for service between its two Everett mills and its huge yards in Baltimore, left last night after loading in six and one-half days more than 5,000,000 feet of lumber. It was one of the fastest loading jobs reported on the waterfront here.

BELLINGHAM, Aug. 22.—Local docks were augmented yesterday by the battleship Connecticut, pacing of the E. K. Wood Lumber Company's mill for South America, had to put into the stream to make way for the steamship Capac, taking 800,000 feet for Japan. The Capac had just finished loading that quantity at the Bloedel-Donovan mill.

TACOMA, Aug. 22.—Tea from China and a large amount of perishable cargo on south of the freight of the U.S.S. steamer Manila Maru, which arrived here from the Orient today. After discharging the vessel was repainted to fall early tomorrow morning for Vancouver.

The Ohioan of the American-Hawaiian Line arrived this morning from New York with freight for local firms. The vessel was due to sail late this afternoon.

The Northwestern Miller of the Pacific-Prince Line, which arrived this afternoon, is taking part of the freight of the stranded steamer Siberian Prince and from Tacoma will have 450 tons of copper and 130,000 feet of lumber. The vessel will probably get away tomorrow for Europe.

The Forest King, which will load lumber for California, arrived with local freight this evening from San Francisco.

The Lansdowne from Baltimore is expected in tomorrow morning to load lumber for the east coast.

The Chickasaw City, which cast adrift near Port Angeles Wednesday, landed a part of her cargo here. The vessel loaded copper, lumber and other freight here, sailing Thursday, the 16th inst.

On her first trip to Tacoma, the big transport Nachet arrived today from the Puget Sound navy yard. The Nachet berthed here to load planes from Camp Lewis.

PORTLAND, Aug. 22.—The Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's steamer Cardiganshire will take tomorrow at ports to European ports with wheat, canned foods, dried prunes and mixed cargo. The Oregon-Pacific Company, agent for the vessel, expects the Dutch Steamer Moerdyk here September 10 to take freight for United Kingdom and continental ports.

The steamer Eastern Knight is scheduled to dock here Monday to discharge general cargo, which includes a shipment of 1800 40-carts for Northwest distribution.

The motorship Araberis is scheduled to dock at Portland Saturday from European ports, with paper and miscellaneous freight. It will stop at Astoria, at route to discharge 800 tons of cement and mixed freight.

Move to organize a subcommittee of intercoastal eastbound conference will likely be taken at the Portland Steamship Operators' meeting Thursday. Such a committee would be in a position to make recommendations for rate changes, and act on matters pertaining to privileges of the port, John C. Settle, president of the local association, pointed out. Settling of rates, of course, would remain with the entire eastbound conference, which has headquarters at San Francisco.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 22.—No immediate bookings of wheat are reported here. This, however, is not worrying shipping men or brokers, as the rush does not start until early September. Last year the first booking was made on September 13. It is believed the wheat specs rush will commence here this season about September 7.

CONCERTS WILL BE ACCESSIBLE

Street Leading to Hollywood Bowl to Be Repaired In Short Order

Patrons of Hollywood Bowl summer concerts will be able to reach the bowl without difficulty tonight, it was announced yesterday, as satisfactory progress is being made in the street work on Highland avenue. Futher assurance was given a Chamber of Commerce representative today by the contractor, J. R. McKnight, that the work would be accomplished according to the promise made by him following the demonstration by Mrs. J. J. Carter and a score of sympathizers Monday afternoon when they stood underneath the bucket of a steam shovel and dared the engineer to continue the work of tearing up the pavement.

According to the promise of the contractor, the street will be torn up, public utility lines laid, and the pavement rolled in order that automobile traffic may not be diverted and access to the Bowl kept possible.

Four reasons...why this refrigerated water-way service fulfills an urgent economic necessity in California.

1. Assurance of facilities for transportation of perishable fruits, and vegetables, to principal Atlantic seaboard markets for present as well as anticipated output.
2. Relief to rails, expediting car movement on rail shipments.
3. Lower transportation costs—far lower than by rail.
4. More perfect, regulated refrigeration of the modern, indirect air-cooled type.

LOSSES, 1922, to California growers and shippers of grapes and deciduous fruits, due to inadequate transportation and car facilities, has been roughly estimated at almost $10,000,000—principally in fruits left on the ground. (Shortage of cars—congested terminals—inability to return cars to shipping point—inadequate efficacy of management, largely due to external causes, such as conflicting "peaks" in various sections of the country—and inability of railroads to increase facilities parallel to increase in acreage of crops, handicaps to distributive system handed down from the war period.)

The economic necessity for a refrigerated steamship service of the modern air-cooled, indirect type of refrigeration, is not an ordinary necessity—it is a crying need—a vitally strategic need in the development of California—and the world is coming here by hundreds of thousands.

In 1922 there was a need for 50,000 refrigerator cars in the peak period—only 38,000 cars were accessible and but 32,000 of these cars were refrigerator vehicles.

In addition to present acreage the following new acreage is coming into bearing:

Apples 14,500 acres
Apricots 22,000
Peaches 22,600
Cherries 3,200
Pears 24,000 acres
Plums 5,700 acres
Grapes 175,000 acres

It is no easy proposition to interest new settlers in California production when we are unable to handle crops now in acreage—let alone new acreage developing. It is no easy task to keep our horticulturalists interested in present rate of production when they face part of their crops perishing—and high rail rates for the movement of the balance, and moved under less favorable attention than the service of a refrigerated steamship transportation, of modern type, affords.

And remember . . . the CALIFORNIA-NEW YORK STEAMSHIP service will serve, not only perishable and semi-perishable cargoes, but GENERAL cargoes, as well, EASTBOUND. This assures maximum capacity.

*WESTBOUND it will obtain, with its fast, 14-day service, a higher rate for this type of transportation of general, semi-perishable and perishable cargoes. A conservative estimate—75% capacity. We will devote more attention to WESTBOUND service in let

GOOD ROADS COSTING MORE THAN SCHOOLS

TWICE AS MUCH SPENT ON HIGHWAYS, SPEAKER TELLS SESSION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, Aug. 22.—More than twice as much money was spent for highway improvement during the last year, as for schools in 252 of the leading cities of the United States, according to Roy M. Green, president of the Western Laboratories, who was the principal speaker at today's session of the second conference on asphalt paving, conducted here under auspices of the Asphalt Association. Asphalt producers and highway officials representing nineteen States are in attendance.

The total expended for better highways was $120,000,000, he declared, pointing out that this sum was almost four times as great as the amount expended for sanitation in the same cities and illustrating the importance of good roads.

WOMAN SOUGHT AFTER CLEVER FRAUD DEALS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—A nation-wide search for "a successful business woman" who is believed to have fleeced members of her sex out of more than $50,000 in recent months through a spurious agency contract game perpetrated in virtually the entire eastern half of the United States, was started today by a local silk house whose name often has been connected with the fraudulent operations. Notices of standing rewards offered in various States, carrying a description of the woman, went out today to more than 10,000 police chiefs, sheriffs, marshals, and private detectives. The search is believed to be one of the most extensive for a woman in America.

The specific charges made against him by Assistant State's Attorney Edward H. Taylor are that he falsified his books and misrepresented the firm's financial condition.

STATE TAKES ROAD BONDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 22.—The State Board of Control announced today that $3,000,000 worth of state highway bonds were absorbed by the State because no bidders have been found to take them. Davis and McMillan No. 4 well in the Lovelady district was placed on production late yesterday and the initial yield was a daily flow of approximately 1600 barrels a day. The well was brought in from the 4480-foot level. This is the first completion with a large or even medium yield to be reported from the once famous Lovelady district within several months. The gravity of the oil is said to be 27 deg. Beaume. The well is located on Brayton street, just nort hof Burnett.

Several months were devoted to fishing jobs and other difficulties, before the well was brought in.

Increase In New Wells

Twenty-five new wells were started in California fields during the week which ended August 18, according to a report issued last night by the State Mining Bureau. This was four more than were started during the previous week.

The total new wells for this year is 934 as compared to 882 at this time last year.

Spud In New Well

The East No. 1 well of the Tri-Color company was spudded in yesterday at the corner of Telegraph Road and Downey Road, Santa Fe Springs. As this well is somewhat away from the proved field it is looked upon as a test well.

Peak of Production Next Month

While the daily average production of the three principal local oil fields continues to make substantial gains, the executive committee of the Southern California Oil Producers' is still of the opinion that the peak of production will be reached during the month of September. The committee reports that a careful check of the wells already completed indicates a rapid decline will follow.

The Long Beach field gives promise of setting a new high production average within the next month or so if the comparatively low producers are carried to the deep sands, is the opinion of local oil men.

Ella No. 1 on Production

The Henderson Petroleum Syndicate's Ella No. 1 went on production shortly before daylight yesterday in the Signal Hill field, with an initial flow reported at 2000 barrels daily. The well was completed at the 4300-foot level and is located on the northwestern mesa at Hermosa avenue and Crescent street. It is just a few feet from Union Community No. 1 which gained considerable fame several weeks ago when it blew out and became an uncontrolled gasser of the wildest type. The Ella is equipped with 3079 feet of two and a half-inch tubing. Pressure on the tubing registered 200 pounds this morning. The well is cleaning itself out rapidly and will be an excellent producer, according to Superintendent Holton of the Henderson Company.

Leaders in Production

The companies operating in the Huntington Beach field who are getting the largest production, according to figures just compiled, are as follows:

Amalgamated Oil Company, daily production, 29,575 barrels; Standard, 24,817 barrels daily; Union, 8967; Shell, 5621; and Petroleum Midway, 5798 barrels a day.

Well Has Heavy Yield

Whittier No. 1 at California and Canton street, Long Beach, started producing Tuesday night and was yesterday flowing at the rate of 4000 barrels a day from the 4615-foot level. The Whittier was one of the pioneer wells of the district between the Hub Rissmann and the Petroleum Midway's Field No. 1 and was originally completed at 3600 feet from which depth it showed a fair yield. A cut shows 1½ per cent emulsion.

Mr. Taylor Says He Fell Asleep While Playing as Boy

Examination of Head Is Refused When Interviewed

Taylor Admits That He Robbed Bank Here

Following his spectacular capture by two deputy sheriffs who covered him with rifles while he was seated in an automobile in front of 118 North Alameda street, John Taylor, known as "Utah bandit," blamed an automobile which he met in his long career of banditry, for his capture after he had been relentlessly followed by deputy sheriffs had given him escape from a deputy sheriff who was bringing him to Los Angeles from Folsom penitentiary recently in the trial of another alleged bandit. Following his capture yesterday, Taylor admitted holding up the Hollywood Branch Bank at Fifty-second and Central avenue on Monday last, the day after his release from Deputy Sheriff Larimer [illegible]

SMITH'S HOLD-UP

Another bandit frankly admitted hold-ups, in some cases wore a yellow slicker, which gave him the name of "Slicker Smith." "I don't like it any more like this," said he, from his solitary confinement in the County Jail, in the apple tree of his downfall. "When I was about 9 years of age I climbed up an apple tree and fell out. I hit on my head and I have ever since then I have been shying from people and things up.

"I know that it was because I hurt my head when I was a kid that I have led a life of crime. That's why I want one of those fellows that examines your head to give me the 'once over' and see if they can't do something for me and make a man of me. I know there's something wrong with my head."

Taylor, being raised as a dangerous character has been put in the county jail, recently vacated by Ruth Snyder, millionaire mail order murderess-preacher who is now in the South Pantiastiary serving a sentence for killing his partner Cox. The "slicker" bandit is a surprisingly likable fellow, a rather clean-cut featured-looking, even teeth and pleasant smile. He is tall, [illegible] of frame.

"I don't blame a single person for my plight," he said. "I'm to blame for all and what I've done—I did by myself and no one else is to blame but myself. I've been a fool, of course, but not as fool as they are trying to blame me for. Would I kill anyone if I had my way? Well, I never killed anyone yet."

CLIFF GLASSES

Taylor when he said it, but police officials declared that one of the ugliest tempers ever manifested. When he tried to photograph Taylor with heavy-rimmed glasses which he wore when holding up trains officers say he pulled off the glasses and tore them in pieces, crushed them in his hand and swore they would not get him with glasses on. They put him the dungeon in the basement of the jail and he [illegible] his mind.

Taylor, when his crime career was the present predicament appeared to be a matter of course. He was cheerful and frankly of a boastful disposition, smiling manner with nothing of the desperado about it.

"I got only one piece of advice to give," he said. "And that is to young men who figure on the 'stick-up' business. 'Lay off!' It doesn't pay. I'll say it does not pay for any of us realize it until we get caught. It's all through with me now, but I'll take a chance at some other time and then when people we are sorry—but I'll admit that if I ever get an escape I'll go to robbing banks. Say me have my own way—well, that would be my manner. As it is, I have to do but take a

SANTA FE'S PRESIDENT IS HONORED

W. B. Storey is Feted by Employees and Officers at Banquet Here

W. B. Storey, president of the Santa Fe Railway in Los Angeles on one of his periodical business visits, was honored with a banquet attended by nearly 400 employees and officials of the Pacific Coast line last night at the Elite. Mr. Storey was introduced by K. H. Gillette, as the man who brought order out of chaos and as one of the leading railway executives in the world. The president was also declared to be a "native son" and to have started railroading as an axeman in California.

Prefacing his remarks with a statement that growth of the Santa Fe was due not to his ability as an executive but to the individual effort of every man connected with the road, Mr. Storey praised the personnel of the road and outlined plans for the continuance of the progress of the system.

"The good reputation and the prestige of our road can only be maintained by constant effort of all of us looking toward the betterment of the service and by using courtesy in our dealings with the public," he said.

Mr. Storey discussed in general railroad transportation in the United States, especially in regard to the effect of government restrictions, which he declared hamper the prosperity of the roads and hinder service to the public.

"The present outlook for a maintenance of the prosperity enjoyed by the railroads during the past six months is not in the least gloomy," said Mr. Storey.

"In the railroad business as in life it is the strong who survive; therefore we should conduct our business so we will be strong enough to weather the disasters in the future as we have in the past.

"Many so-called statesmen tell the farmers low freight rates are needed before they will prosper. They forget the railroads cannot make the rates lower unless business increases. The real reason the farmers are hard up is the shortage of labor.

"Labor is scarce and high wages must be paid by the farmers because of the high tariff and the restrictions on immigration; I am not arguing for a low tariff and unrestricted immigration — only telling what is the matter with the farmers."

POLICE ASKED TO FIND WIFE

Former Trust Firm Cashier Tells of Disappearance

Accompanied Him to Office About One Month Ago

Took Son and Has Not Been Heard From Since

After nearly a month's search, during which he traveled over the entire State, R. A. MacKenzie, former cashier of the Commonwealth Trust Company, yesterday appealed to the Los Angeles police to help find his pretty young wife who mysteriously disappeared from their home in Los Angeles July 27, last.

The only clew given city detectives yesterday by MacKenzie was a threatening letter he received six months ago. The letter, found on his desk in the trust company offices, stated that MacKenzie's life was to be taken and that harm was to come to his family. The letter bore no signature and little attention was paid to the affair, he told detectives.

TOOK BOY WITH HER

Mrs. MacKenzie accompanied her husband to work the day she disappeared, he said. She was in the usual happy frame of mind that had characterized their married life, the husband stated. The couple's 7-year-old son John accompanied Mrs. MacKenzie to town and he, likewise, has disappeared with his mother.

"There had been no dissension in family affairs whatsoever," MacKenzie told detectives. "We had always lived together happily. Only two things could be responsible for her disappearance, one of them the loss of memory, and the other, foul play. I am almost positive that it is the latter, although I know of no one who claims me as an enemy or would do anything to my wife."

RESIGNED POSITION

Before coming to Los Angeles two and a half years ago, MacKenzie was connected with a bank at San Diego. When his wife disappeared, he resigned his position with the Los Angeles firm to search for her.

Mrs. McKenzie is 27 years of age, weighs 150 pounds and is 5 ft. 8in. in height. She has blue eyes and light brown hair. According to her husband, Mrs. MacKenzie was in an expectant mother, a fact which led him yesterday to appeal to detectives in the hope of finding some trace of her.

Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie resided in an apartment at 639 South Grand avenue at the time of her disapearance. Mr. MacKenzie now lives at 737 South Olive street.

ORFILA NEW DEFENDER

The appointment by Mayor Cryer of Ernest R. Orfila as Police Court Defender was yesterday confirmed by the City Council. Mr. Orfila succeeds James H. Pope, who has been appointed by the Board of Supervisors to one of the recently created police judgships.

SHIP LIQUOR IS SEIZED AT LOCAL PORT

Quantity of Champagne is Taken From British Boat by Customs Men

Customs officials at Los Angeles Harbor seized yesterday 3400 bottles of French champagne, part of the cargo of the British steamship Southwestern Miller, and turned it over to C. A. Parker of the Federal prohibition forces. The wine was loaded at Antwerp and was consigned to Ensenada by way of Vancouver.

The wine, which was entered plainly on the manifest of the vessel, has been a subject of controversy since the Southwestern Miller arrived here last Saturday, and the wires between here and Washington have been kept warm with messages. Yesterday L. H. Schwaebe, Collector of Customs, got orders from the Treasury Department to seize the wine.

This is the first cargo consigned to a foreign port that has been seized in Los Angeles Harbor. It was taken under the recent decision of the Supreme Court and rulings of the Treasury Department that no intoxicating liquor can be brought into American waters, even as cargo consigned to a foreign port.

A test case is likely to result from the seizure of the liquor, and international complications are expected.

The ruling, it was pointed out, will compel vessels bound up the Pacific Coast to stop at a Mexican port before coming here or proceed to Vancouver without stopping at an American port.

Pro-Consul Davis, speaking for British Consul Fisher, stated that the master of the Southwestern Miller had made no protest of the seizure, and expressed it as his opinion that the matter was one to be threshed out between the shipper and the Federal government.

In answer to a widespread desire of automobile drivers that street cars be required to show by signals whether or not the cars are preparing to make right-hand or left-hand turns around corners, Councilman Mallard yesterday put through the City Coucil instructions to the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance requiring street cars to carry red lights on the front and rear of the cars.

There will be a red light on the left hand side, front and rear, and if the car is to make a left hand turn this light will be flashed on. There will be similar lights on the right-hand side to be signaled when the car is to make a right-hand turn, thus warning oncoming motorists who have frequently collided with cars due to the absence of signals as to the fact that the car was to turn at the curve.

The Moll Buzzers

Moll, in underworld lingo, means woman. To buzz is to talk. A moll buzzer is one who talks to a woman.

The moll buzzer in the sense I am using it now, however, is a dip who not only talks to a woman, but who "lifts her poke." These pickpockets who specialize on women are called moll buzzers.

A good many moll buzzers are women, while some girl dips are spotters for male thieves. The duty of the spotter is to "put her finger on" a woman who has a rich purse. "Putting her finger on" is simply slang for signaling a confederate. The girl will follow a wealthy woman into a store and watch her make purchases. If she herself, being only a student, cannot rob the woman, she will point the victim out to a male dip.

There are a good many methods of moll buzzing. One of the less skillful is for the dip to suddenly grab the woman's handbag and run. Of course, the clumsy thief who does this takes a great chance of getting caught and he is held in contempt by the professionals.

The most accepted method is to crowd close to the woman, open the ungainly bag that she carries and fish out its contents either by using the "scissors" or by "reefing."

Many moll buzzers rely upon the fact that most women put their purses on a counter or table to attend to some little personal want or more carefully to examine a piece of goods. The skillful dip will then pick up the pocketbook without being observed, "wire" it quickly and lay it back in place. The woman does not discover her loss until she goes to pay her bill. Then she is astounded to find that her money is gone, although her purse apparently has not been touched.

Frequently the thief gains time, as the victim may figure that perhaps she forgot to put the money in her bag and the police are not called until she can go home and investigate.

Sometimes, of course, the dip "lifts" the purse and all and flees silently, but by this method quick discovery is inevitable and the

BANKER'S LIFE THREATENED

Long Beach Institution Head Receives Letters From Unknown Source Demanding Money

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 22.—A guard of detectives from the local department is today keeping constantly at the side of C. J. Walker, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, as a result of the discovery of a blackmail plot directed against the banker in which his life had been threatened.

The detectives were assigned to guard the bank president yesterday, when the extortion plot and death threat were first reported to the authorities. Police had kept the matter secret until this afternoon, when the entire plot was exposed.

The threat against the life of Mr. Walker is contained in two notes, worded identically, the first received at a branch of the bank yesterday and the other this morning.

FIRST NOTE ON COUNTER

The first note was printed by hand. It read:

"Dear Sir:

"I want you to put $500 in an envelope and place it in mail box No. 21 at corner of Pacific Hotel, Wilmington.

"If you do not obey this order somebody will kill you. If you want to save your life for $500, obey this order at once and do not notify police until tomorrow.

[Signed] "SERRANO."

The message, written on a postcard which had been enclosed in an envelope, was left on the counter of the branch bank. It bore Mr. Walker's name and was directed to him.

Shortly after the finding of the threatening letter Captian of Detectives Worley and Detective Sergeants Costigan, Gott and Diltz began an investigation which ended in the arrest of Rev. Emilio N. Hernandez, pastor of the Mexican Methodist Church at 1350 Redono street. Rev. Hernandez has an account in the bank and the discovery of a slip bearing his name near the incriminating letter, according to the detectives, was responsible for his arrest.

SECOND SENT BY MAIL

He was vigorously grilled but released this morning, the officers admitting that their investigation in this direction had been futile.

Believing that the blackmailer would call for his money at the designated place, a number of off-

ACTION TO ELIMINATE CROSSINGS

Los Angeles County Takes Step to Remove Menace Near Pomona

The first step of Los Angeles County authorities to end the grade-crossing menace was taken yesterday when Supervisor Cogswell and a delegation of Pomona citizens made a tentative plan for the elimination of three crossings on the Valley Boulevard just west of Pomona. If the plan is acceptable to the Pomona authorities, efforts will be made to have it adopted by the Board of Supervisors.

The Pomona delegation was headed by Hervey Nichols and Secretary Paige of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce. Supervisor Cogswell is chairman of the road committee. The Valley Boulevard now crosses the Southern Pacific twice and the Union Pacific once at the edge of the city and several bad accidents have occurred there.

The plan decided upon is to straighten the road so as to eliminate two of the crossings, and to tunnel under the third. It was estimated this could be done for $80,000, of which the railroad would be asked to pay half and the county half. The advisability of opening up Holt avenue, Pomona, to a connection with the Valley Boulevard also was discussed but no action was taken.

HALTED BOUT CAUSES RIOTS

Langford-Stramaglia Fight Stopped by Police

Bottles Fly While Officers Restore Semiorder

Preliminary Mix-up Follows Tangle at Gates

Because orders from Chief of Police Vollmer stopped an "exhibition bout" between Sam Langford, the "Texas Tar Baby," and Rocco Stramaglia at the Madison Square Gardens Fight Pavilion at Thirty-second street and Long Beach Boulevard last night, a rain of bottles, culminating in two riots, kept 150 policemen and twenty deputy sheriffs busy for two hours. No one was seriously hurt.

The meeting between Langford and Stramaglia had been heavily billed. The promoters figured the capacity of the "house" at 4000. They sold that many tickets at $3 each. But—

At each of the six entrances they placed two men to take up tickets. Many of the late comers didn't have any. The gatkeepers kindly obliged by accepting whatever they had.

ALL GO IN

When the house was full, including all available standing room, about 1000 ticket-holders were left outside. They wanted in. They went in; through entrances and places where loose boards had been.

The promoters turned in a riot call. Capt. D. L. Adams of University Station answered with several squads; more came from downtown. Riot No. 1 was quelled.

Then Capt. Adams, acting on instructions from Chief Vollmer, climbed into the ring.

"California's laws require that participants in boxing bouts be amateurs," he shouted. "Sam Langford isn't a simon pure amateur and that bout is called off."

Pandemonium ensued. Beer bottles hurtled down from the "gallery." Here and there a shout of "money back" was heard; then came a stampede. And the lights went out.

BOUTS START

Fifteen minutes of uproar fifteen minutes of battling with themselves and with the officers who sought to stem the tide and semi-order came. An announcer told them that they'd have a program—and they did.

Couple after couple of fighters climbed into the ring to batter for supremacy. A dozen preliminary contests but whetted the appetites of the mob.

Meanwhile the management scurried around for some one to fight Stramaglia. But visions of the headlines that told of a knock-out blow in Shelby that landed somehow on Jack Dempsey's chin held back the volunteers.

And Stramaglia didn't fight.

At midnight the crowd was wending slowly through the entrances. They didn't get their money back.

VOLLMER'S STATEMENT

"Mayor Cryer called my attention to the Langford bout yesterday," Chief Vollmer said. "I called Capt. Adams on the telephone and told him to stop the fight. That's all I know about it."

Fred Windsor is the manager of the "pavilion." With him in the promotion of last night's event were George Brown and M. B. Murray.

"Lots of professional fighters have been fighting around Los Angeles," Windsor wailed when he heard the police verdict. "I don't see why they won't let Langford fight."

STANDARD GAS DOWN TWO CENTS

Southland Only Affected by New Price Which is to Go into Effect Today

The price of gasoline in Los Angeles has been reduced by the Standard Oil Company in California to 15 cents a gallon, beginning today, according to an announcement made yesterday by J. E. Balsey, district sales manager of the organization. With this reduction of 2 cents on the gallon, the Standard Oil product is said to have reached its lowest price level here since November 1915.

While the 2-cent cut applies applies only to Southern California, there will also be a reduction of 1 cent a gallon elsewhere in California and in Nevada, Washington, Oregon, Alaska and Hawaii. "Flush" production of crude oil at the wells was given by officials as the cause of the reduction.

There will be no more discounting on script books or further sale of gallonage coupon books, it was announced, but the script books will still be on sale.

MURDER SUSPECT PLACED ON TRIAL

Thurman Boatwright was placed on trial yesterday before Judge Avery in Superior Court, charged with the murder of Felix Beasley May 91, near Los Angeles Harbor. It is expected the jury will be completed today. Beasley, Boatwright and Mrs. Boatwright were returning in a car from the harbor when Beasley was shot. He died on the way to Receiving Hospital. Boatwright told the police Beasley was shot by a highwayman for refusal to put up his hands, but the police declared the shooting could not have taken place in the manner described by Boatwright, and say they learned the two men had quarreled previously and that Boatwright had made threats against Beasley's life. The evidence against Boatwright is said to be purely circumstantial. Frank Allender is Boatwright's attorney and the case is being prosecuted by Dept. Dist. Attys. Clark and Kline.

CONSIDER OIL TANK DANGER

Company Not to Rebuild, Agrees to Confer on Disposal of Site of Last Week's Fire

Denying any intention of reconstructing the 500,000-barrel reservoir which burned at Los Angeles Harbor last week, threatening residents below the hill, General Petroleum Company officials yesterday agreed to confer with fire and police officials and the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce as to the disposition of the rest of its thirty-eight-acre station.

This action came at a meeting before the harbor chamber, before representatives of all oil companies in the district, fire and police officials, and spokesmen for 260 residents protesting against the station. Although the protesters asserted danger to lives from a repetition of the fire could not be overcome, general sentiment indicated belief that larger dykes and additional safeguards would suffice, particularly as the big reservoir is not to be restored. This will leave only two 55,000,-barrel and one 10,000-barrel tanks on the hill.

Protesters were represented by R. McCarthy, marine engineer and a resident of the threatened area. C. R. Stevens of San Francisco, secretary, and R. A. Sperry, local general manager, spoke for the company.

Battalion Fire Chief E. A. Gripp said the station long has been recognized as a hazard, but was built before it was incorporated in the city, and ordinances were not retroactive, and the city therefore could not abolish the station. He expressed belief that despite the fact the fire at one time rose to the top of the highest dyke protecting the city, other smaller dykes below likely would have checked the fiery flood.

Mr. Stevens and Mr. Sperry, however, said the company wanted to take into consideration the human element as much as the residents did, and stands ready to increase the dykes to accommodate 150 per cent slopover in place of the present ones of 120 per cent; also to put steel splash boards on top of the dykes to hurl back the boiling oil into the pools.

While further action will be deferred until the committee reports, indications point to a satisfactory arrangement without removal of the tanks.

The question also arose as to the menace to shipping from the new Pan-American loading station soon to be constructed on the outer harbor with several great tanks. Amendments to the old municipal charter, it was pointed out, failed to specify whether oil plants could be established there, and the City Attorney's opinion will be sought on that point.

Raps Angelenos for Kicking Predecessors About

Declares Pay of Policemen Far From Adequate

"The day that a man offends should be the day preceding his departure for the penitentiary," Chief of Police Vollmer yesterday told members of the Los Angeles Masonic Club at a luncheon at the Alexandria in sketching his plans for combatting crime in Los Angeles. He prefaced this statement by declaring that what this city really needs is a "cleaning up of justice."

"Too much time elapses between the time of a man's arrest and trial," he asserted. "Please understand me when I say that I have no quarrel with any one of your jurists. I know not a single one of them. I am assailing the system.

TWO JOBS DIFFER

"In the days that are to come you will discover that it is not such a difficult thing to catch a criminal but to convict one is something else again."

This situation is brought about partly by the fact that the criminal classes are well organized, Chief Vollmer explained.

"The American form of government is at stake," he asserted, "and we must know whether we are to be governed by the denizens of the underworld or by people of your caliber. The police department is the hub of your city and when the police department is clean there is little chance for graft. But, just as surely as you fail to give us your undivided support and confidence, just as surely will the sinister forces of vice and corruption creep in.

"You have failed other chiefs of police in the past, and let me say now that you have had at times at the head of your police department just as honorable and capable men as could be found anywhere, but you have kicked them about, robbed them of their health and reputations and given them little opportunity to serve you well."

Here Chief Vollmer gave some indication of what he plans for the immediate future by pointing out that members of the police department were not paid commensurately with the duties they perform.

"Drivers of taxicabs and milk wagons are paid more money than you pay your policemen," he declared.

STUDYING PERSONNEL

At present he is confining his work almost entirely to a study of the personnel of the department, he explained. Shortly he is to have a number of recommendations to lay before the City Council, he said, but what changes he would advocate he did not state.

An unusually large number attended the luncheon, a daily affair given by the club, drawn by the desire to see the new Chief of Police and to hear him.

Irving Mitchell, president of the club, acted as toastmaster and the club orchestra pleased the diners with a program of melodies popular thirty years ago.

THE ARMY OF A MILLION CROOKS

house detective may bar the exits before the thief can get away.

Moll buzzing is one of the easiest games for the dip and that is why so many women have gone in for it. The female of the species is notoriously careless with her effects. She leaves books, umbrellas and bags on street cars and in trains and it is this tendency that makes her slipshod in caring for money. Quite frequently she will carry diamonds and other jewelry about with her for no apparent reason except to startle her friends by their display.

The "cutting" method is not infrequently applied. The moll buzzer will sidle up close to the woman, who is too absorbed in her own vanity to see anything else, and will slit open her handbag with a sharp knife. By use of two fingers, or even the whole hand, she will drag everything through this slit into her own pocketbook. Then she will walk calmly away. By long training the girl crooks become so adept at this that they can slit a handbag without the owner being aware.

Robbing women is generally more remunerative because they have a larger collection and better diamonds than men.

The stone-getter is in luck if he can crowd into a department store alongside a rich woman who has diamonds around her neck, on her fingers and in her hair. While he cannot get the finger rings, he will be able to "lift" any pendants, lockets, earrings and diamond-studded combs she may have.

Sometimes the dip will gather $1000 or $2000 worth of stones from one victim without the person "tumbling."

The professional pickpocket knows stones and is rarely deceived by imitations. Austrian Max once said that if the world knew how many wealthy women wear paste diamonds the people would be astounded.

However, once in a while some pickpocket will nip a paste stone and then the other members of the profession have the laugh on him.

WEBB TO TAKE PART IN EMPLOYMENT-FEE SUIT

Atty Gen. Webb will personally conduct the case of the State in the hearing on the amendment covering employment fees, to be held in Department 24 of the Superior Court, September 11. The hearing was originally set for September 5, but was postponed at the request of the Attorney-General to permit him to be present.

The case will be the final hearing on the suit for permanent injunction filed by W. W. Payne, doing business as the Fisk Teachers' Agency, vs. Commissioner of Labor Mathewson. Payne, acting on behalf of most of the employment agencies of this city, asks that Mathewson be enjoined from carrying out the provisions of the amendment to the labor law, allowing employment agencies a maximum fee of 10 per cent of the applicant's wages for the first month as renumeration for obtaining employment. A temporary injunction was granted by the Superior Court in a recent hearing. This temporary writ was consented to by the State to expedite the test of the law.

THREE HURT IN COLLISION

Terrific Blast and Spectacular Blaze Follow Long Beach Accident; $15,000 Loss

Staff Correspondent of "The Times."

LONG BEACH, Aug. 22.—An explosion and spectacular blaze, entailing a loss of $15,000 and the injury of three men, marked the newest grade crossing accident in this city's long list of similar occurrences today, when a Pacific Electric car struck car a Shell Oil Company truck at Cherry and Nineteenth streets, shortly before noon.

The injured men are Gerald Forbes, 32 years of age, driver of the truck; J. J. Criss, 746 South Main street, Los Angeles, motorman of the Pacific Electric car, and H. H. Young, 1206½ Douglas avenue, Los Angeles, conductor of the car.

Forbes was thrown clear of his truck and escaped with cuts and bruises. Criss, the motorman, was dragged from the front vestibule of the electric car in a dazed condition. He was suffering from cuts inflicted by broken glass. Both men were treated at Long Beach Hospital. Young's injuries did not require hospital attention.

Forbes, according to witnesses, failed to notice the approach of the fast-moving electric car until he was directly on the tracks. The car struck the tank truck, demolishing it. Sparks from the truck battery ignited the escaping oil and an explosion followed that rocked houses and broke windows in the immediate neighborhood. The electric car caught fire from the wreckage and both truck and car were virtually destroyed. The Long Beach Fire Department extinguished the blaze.

BANK GUN LINKS BANDIT IN THEFT

SHOULD DO AS TOLD

"Another piece of advice to people at large is that when they are being 'stuck up' by any of the profession—do just exactly as they are told. If the bandit says lie down, lie down. It's the people who start yelling or start to pull their gats out that cause the shootings in hold-ups. Very few men in holding up places want to shoot anyone, but sometimes some foolish people make it necessary. As for me—any time any stick-up gets the drop on me he can have what I've got. You can get lots of money but you can't get another life.

"But say—I'd like to have one of those fellows examine my head!"

Recovery of about $500 taken by Taylor in two Southern California robberies last week, was momentarily expected by deputy sheriffs last night.

Sheriff Traeger is confident that Taylor was playing a "lone wolf," and that he was not one of the band of five who held up and robbed the Belvedere State Bank at 8347 Whittier Boulevard, Tuesday.

CAPTURED WITHOUT FIGHT

The robber was captured without a struggle yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriffs Dewar and Modie, who traced him to a house at 610 North Alameda street, where he had gone in search of whiskey.

Taylor drove to the house in a Ford car, closely followed by the two deputies. He got out and went into the house, and upstairs. The deputies waited.

When the bandit came back, another Ford was standing beside his car. He climbed into the wrong machine, and tried to push his key into the lock. While he was leaning over the lock, Deputy Sheriff Dewar slipped up behind him, and thrust a gun in his face.

At the same time, the deputy threw a pair of handcuffs into the robber's lap, and commanded him to put them on. Taylor obeyed.

"You've got me," he said. "I've got no gun. But I guess there's no objection to my taking another drink."

As he spoke, he reached his handcuffed hands toward his hip pocket, and managed to pull out a .38-caliber pistol. Dewar knocked it out of his hands, and at the same time Deputy Modie stepped up with a rifle.

The deputies brought the convict to the Sheriff's office and searched him. He had only $8 of the $4500 which he is said to have taken in two robberies since his escape on the 11th inst. But the gun he carried was identified as that stolen from the California Branch Bank on the 13th inst., when Taylor, it is charged, held up the bank without aid, and took $4300 in cash.

Sheriff Traeger said after the capture that he is satisfied Taylor had no part in the robbery Tuesday of the Belvedere State Bank at 8347 Whittier Boulevard, when five hold-up men got $20,000 in cash and negotiable securities.

RENTED CARS TRAILED

The veteran bandit was traced through the joint efforts of Sheriff Traeger, Chief Deputy Wright and a score of deputies, who pooled all information obtained in the search late Tuesday night. It was learned Tuesday that a man answering Taylor's description had rented a Ford car, from the Pacific Ford Rental Company on South Broadway, and all cars put out by this company were being trailed.

Taylor escaped from a moving train while he was being brought back to Los Angeles from the Folsom prison by David Larimer of the Sheriff's office to testify in the case of his pal, Joe Giannelo, accused of robbery.

As the train neared Madera, the convict climbed out on the steps of a car, and Larimer grabbed him by one hand. As Larimer reached with the other hand for the bell rope to stop the train, the robber broke loose, and jumped.

Larimer was in the Sheriff's office yesterday when Taylor was brought in. "Hello, Taylor," he called. "Hello, Mr. Larimer," answered the bandit cheerfully.

Larimer then asked him what happened after he jumped. Taylor said he rolled over and over in a field, and got up only slightly bruised. He said he ate nothing for forty-eight hours, and then came straight to Los Angeles, getting here on the 13th inst., while Larimer was hunting for him around Madera.

On the same day he got here he held up and robbed the California bank, it is asserted. Two days later he robbed a creamery in Long Beach, getting several hundred dollars, deputies declare.

He virtually admitted both hold-ups after his capture, but declined to throw any light on what has happened to the money.

Since the second robbery the deputies have been close behind Taylor all the time, as he went about Los Angeles, keeping in the city most of the time. On Monday night they almost captured him. He was surrounded in a house at Thirty-sixth street and Maple avenue, where he had driven in an Essex sedan.

JUMPS FROM WINDOW

As two deputies approached the house Taylor looked out of the window and saw them coming. He jumped out of a second-story window, leaped over a back fence and escaped between two houses. At that time deputies reported that he wore a brown suit, light shirt, a straw hat and no collar. He was dressed in the same clothes when captured yesterday.

When he escaped Taylor had not completed a long sentence at Folsom, where he was sent for robbery. He admitted thirty-nine robberies here, and police say that he has been an active participant in at least seventy-five jobs.

Taylor's capture was effected by the new co-operative plan instituted by Sheriff Traeger. Deputies working on the case reported all their findings to Chief Deputy Wright and were assigned to special phases. Those active in the chase included Deputies Bell, Peoples, Sweesy, Allen, Catlin, Stensland and Aguirre.

Meanwhile, the search is being continued for the five bandits, one of them wounded, who robbed the Belvdere Bank, Tuesday. They were last sighted late Tuesday night by the city marshal of Fullerton. He reported that their stolen car speeded through Fullerton, crowding another machine off the street, wrecking it. The bandit car proceeded at terrific speed toward Santa Ana Canyon. Deputies Bell and Peoples are directing the search.

Special Deputy Sheriff James Brown yesterday denied the report that these bandits had wrested his gun from him.

DEPUTIES COMMENDED

Sheriff Traeger, through Undersheriff Biscailuz, sent the successful deputies a letter of commendation which read as follows:

This will serve to commend the efficient service given by Deputies Frank Dewar, F. W. Modie and others detailed, who co-operated in the capture of Jesse Taylor.

Not alone a high quality of physical courage was shown in the arrest, but a sustained regard for the discipline established was largely instrumental in this capture.

WOMEN TO HIKE

The hiking group of the Business Women's Club will leave the Pacific Electric station at 10 p. m. Saturday for a moonlight hike of six miles up the trails of Mount Lowe to the peak, which will be reached in time to view the sunrise. The hikers will breakfast at Alpine Tavern. This is the third of a series of small foot journeys over Southern California trails.

VETERANS WILL FIGHT UNIVERSITY

Plans Laid to Keep Up Battle for Resumption of Studies Here

"We didn't give up fighting during the war, and we will keep on fighting now," said W. H. Wilt last night at the Disabled Veteran's Hall on South Hill street, in reporting to a group of veterans at the University of California, Southern Branch, the work of his committee.

"The university has as much as said to us, 'Get out, we haven't any room for you here.'"

The dispute between the trainees and the University arose when on the 9th inst., W. W. Campbell, president of the University of California, declared that owing to lack of space and accommodations at the Southern Branch, special classes for non matriculated Federal trainees would not be continued.

The direct effect of this action by the University is to bring to an abrupt stop the education of about 200 veterans, so far as the Southern Branch is concerned. They denied their studies in architecture and in electrical courses could be effectively continued at other western institutions.

The students are more than satisfied with the work they have so far pursued, which has been under the direction of Prof. H. W. Mansfield, director of rehabilitation.

Charges that they were receiving instruction in unnecessary subjects was emphatically denied by Wilt. The committee reported the complete failure of its negotiations with the university at San Francisco last week to remedy the situation, and urged a further campaign for the reinstatement of the courses for disabled veterans.

The solidarity of the Federal trainees as a group was evidenced when a motion to empower the committee to draft a set of resolutions to be presented to President Campbell, urging reconsideration of the action of the university, was passed without a dissenting vote, and by incorporating the phrase in the motion the resolutions were backed by the indorsement of every trainee.

Chases Burglar Suspect Out of Home; Nabs Him

What started out in the manner of a Keystone chase ended very differently yesterday afternoon for Sol Fleming, 25 years of age. Fleming resides at 1441 West Fifty-ninth street, but is now a guest of the city, being held on a charge of suspicion of burglary.

When W. L. Tanner, proprietor of the City Sash and Door Company, returned to his home at 3908 South Western avenue, for lunch yesterday, he saw Fleming in the act of plundering his home, he reported to police. Tanner said he made one terrific lunge at the asserted burglar. Fleming was too quick and Tanner fell, clasping only the hat of his intended captive. Carrying the screen door with him, Fleming ran from the house, jumped into a roadster and fled.

A few seconds later Tanner gave chase with the aid of a passing motorist. After several blocks of dodging in and out in traffic and going at a fast clip, Tanner headed Fleming's car into the curbing. The police were called and the arrest followed.

Change Made in Fall Maneuver Plans of Fleet

A change in the program of fall practice maneuvers for the United States battle fleet was announced last night by Admiral S. S. Robison at Los Angeles Harbor. Instead of returning here on September 13, as originally intended, the superdreadnaughts Idaho and Nevada will come back on September 1, and maneuvers off this port will extend from September 5 to 19.

The fleet will leave Bellingham, Wash., on the 27th inst., conducting maneuvers en route. The remainder of the fleet will stop at San Francisco on the 31st inst. This will include eight superdreadnaughts, headed by the cruiser Seattle, flagship of Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander of the United States Fleet.

Admiral Robison's ship, the California, will remain in the north until September 30.

PARENTS GONE; CHILD IS ALONE

to police today by Mrs. William Bruce of 1044 East Sixth street, this city, brought to the notice of the authorities a pitiful story of the fruitless search of a father and his little girl for a missing wife and mother and the possible tragic story of the death of the father through despondency.

Dorothy's mother, Mrs. Viola Mangan, disappeared from her home in Omaha on July 4, last, leaving behind her husband and only child, Dorothy.

WIFE IN CALIFORNIA

Cecil Mangan, the father, after searching through the Middle West for his wife, got word that she was in California and came to Long Beach, bringing Dorothy with him.

Here he learned that Mrs. Mangan had been living for a time at 246½ Virginia Court, but that she had left several days before he arrived, leaving word that she was going to Los Angeles. Mangan took up the search in the larger city, returning to temporary rooms here each evening, unsuccessful and discouraged.

Last Friday, however, success seemed to be near and he left for Los Angeles, leaving Dorothy in the care of Mrs. Bruce. He told her before he left, Mrs. Bruce said, that he was going to meet his wife and both would return for the child in the evening.

FATHER GONE NOW

Mangan did not return, however, and after waiting several days, Mrs. Bruce appealed to authorities today for advice. She said she will be forced to turn the child over to the latter to be placed for adoption in the event that Dorothy is not claimed within a few days.

In the meantime Dorothy's cries, which were all for "mama," have now changed and she cries almost incessantly for "daddy." Police fear that Mangan, failing to locate his wife, may have killed himself.

BANKER'S LIFE IS THREATENED

cers remained there throughout the night, but their vigil also proved fruitless.

This morning, however, another note bearing the local postoffice stamp arrived at the bank. It was opened and found to be worded in the same manner as the first, although it was written out, instead of being printed, and signed "Perato Serrano."

The police are virtually without a clew and, fearing that an attempt might be made on Mr. Walker's life, have assigned several detectives to guard him constantly for the next few days.

Anti-Drug Drive for Members to be Opened Today

Help Our Fight on Dope! is the slogan of a campaign for 100,000 members to be started in Los Angeles this morning by the American Narcotic Crusade.

The sale of small bronze shields indicating that membership has been purchased, speeches in cafes and theaters by motion-picture actresses and others and the personal appearance of stars in "The Great Menace" will feature the day's program.

The progress of the campaign is to be registered on a "thermometer" in front of the organization's headquarters, in the Garland Building, 740 South Broadway.

COMPENSATION ASKED

Man Hurt Wouldn't Obey Doctor, His Employers Assert

Charges that the patient and claimant failed to follow instructions of doctors and nurses and counter-charges that after he had gone to the hospital a nurse had "made life miserable" for him and finally ejected him from the institution, were contained in papers filed with the Industrial Accident Commission yesterday in connection with the claim of Louis Smith, 1012 West Temple street.

Smith asks approximately $900 damages, $20.83 per week for thirty-five weeks and $10.46 for twelve weeks, for an injury asserted to have been received by a fall of thirty-five feet to the bottom of a steel tank while in the employ of the Western Pipe and Steel Company, September 10, 1922.

As a result of this, he says, his right knee and right hip were injured.

Employers assert Smith refused to follow the directions of physicians and nurses engaged to treat him.

Smith asserts that after his entry into the hospital a nurse there accused him of faking. Finally, he states, he appealed to his attorneys, Salzman & Kornblum.

RATTLE THE BOX

When there is a skeleton in the closet some one in the family is usually ready to shake the bones.

SAFE AND SANE

Mrs. Coolidge was a New England school-teacher before her marriage, so that there is no room for worry over her ability to adapt herself to the unusual conditions that arise.

CLOSE-UP OF A CLOSE UP

A Minneapolis Alderman tried to hold up all building permits unless there was an agreement to employ none but union labor. That would be one way to kill a town, but the idea was not permitted to extend very far.

LONG-FELT WANTS

There is a world in waiting for a glass that will bend and for a process that will permit vulcanized rubber to repeat indefinitely. But they do say that what we are really crying for is a soft drink that will keep its strength and body and at the same time retain an enduring appeal to the palate. We want something that doesn't spoil and yet is a sparkling thirst quencher.

THE SOUTHERN INVASION

Bascom Slemp may become something more than secretary to President Coolidge. He is accepted as one of the cleanest and cleverest politicians of the new South. He not only served several terms in Congress, but he has been chairman of the Republican State Central Committee in Virginia for a dozen years and never has failed to turn up at national conventions with a delegation for the winner. He has never been associated with a losing cause, even as a Republican in a Southern State. If it were desired to line up the southern Republicans for President Coolidge a lot of the preliminaries are well under way. The connection of Bascom Slemp would mean that much. Speaker Gillett is credited with the choice, but President Coolidge was very willing.

UNCLE SAM'S ARMY

The American Army is running light and it is hard to keep it up to the minimum strength as determined by the last Congress. The War Department is encouraging enlistments in every way. For instance, there is a set of illuminated posters setting forth that Uncle Sam's soldiers visit all parts of the earth and see action in many lands. Yet a few seasons back some of our political alarmists were frightening America into the belief that the malignancies of Article X of the League covenant would call some of our soldier boys abroad. The League has now been running for some years and nobody has heard so much as a whisper about Article X and here the War Department is hinting at Old World sights in order to stimulate recruiting. Do we wish to flock by ourselves or do we not?

CHANGE OF HEART

For eight years the French people would read no books that criticised the war or questioned any angle of its conduct. So far as the novelists and magazine writers were concerned the French could do no wrong. They never sinned or made mistakes—they were never even defeated. But in the last few months the ground has been broken. Several books of pacifist drift have found great favor and been widely sold and circulated. The profiteers are coming in for rhetorical trouncing and mistakes in the conduct of the war are being found. Anatole France may have inspired this amelioration of the public mind, but numbers of writers are extending it to a remarkable degree and in another season the Parisians will be complaining at the poor quality of clay in the feet of their idols. War is not the greatest thing in life or in the world. Even Poincare may yet suffer for his harshness toward the Germans. The French are subject to changes of heart.

TAKE IN THE SIGN

In several suburban communities the real estate men are calling in their signs. In one place they had a parade and a bonfire. In another town the signs were turned over in a bunch to be used as highway or traffic-makers. In another community the signs are restricted by ordinance to one for each lot. In another signs must be placed at least twenty feet apart. But the idea is that the business of a realtor is being dignified. Instead of locating the property first and then going out to hunt up the agent the investor is now expected to first consult the realtor and then consider the investments offered by him. The business of sticking corner lots so full of signs that they look like a dying porcupine is at an end. Ten years ago a single corner lot in the Wilshire district was messed up with the cards of no less than fifty-seven agents and not one of them could get a bid for it. Now the speculators are fighting for a chance to get at a man who has a corner to sell. That is why people do not believe in signs to the old extent. Under the new real-estate law signs will have to be more modest and truthful, anyhow, and this encourages some of the agents to rid themselves of most of their sign-board publicity. The newspaper is the great clearinghouse for real estate and gets the eye and attention of the multitude.

A REAL PACIFIC OCEAN

Nature was in a tranquil mood when she framed the mighty ocean of the Western Hemisphere. She vented her petulance and her passion on the wild Atlantic, but over the waves of the Pacific she whispered, "Peace, be still."

So the navigation of western waters beyond Darien and Cape Horn have for the sailor, buffeted and beaten by the fretful Atlantic, brought ease and respite, as his vessel swam more easily over long, smooth swells under bluer, kindlier skies.

But there was ground for fear that the peace of nature's restful ocean might be broken by the act of man. The bed of the old Atlantic is strewn with the ribs of brave ships and the bones of brave men sacrificed not to the fury of the elements, but to the more deadly spites and rages of peoples, groups and governments. War has devastated the ocean lanes from every port in Europe. Must war some day likewise devastate the trade routes between California, Oregon and the shores of the Orient and the Antipodes?

There was always a chance for the war storm to break some day over the good Pacific, while nations ruinously competed in building armaments to destroy the commerce and shipping of other people. There was always danger of the Pacific being turned into an amphitheater for international drownings and sinkings, so long as nations with interests in its navigation formed enmities or alliances and left solution of their difficulties to the gusts of popular passion.

That fear of war on the Pacific was apparently ended on August 17, when the four powers, the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan, affixed their official signatures to a treaty, agreeing to arbitrate questions affecting their Pacific interests that threatened otherwise to lead to hostilities and to cease a ruinous competition in building naval armaments.

With this first practical achievement toward international peace the name of Warren Harding will always be inseparably connected. It will be an eternal monument to his firm conciliatory policies during the short time he occupied the highest office on earth.

To the people of California the signing of this treaty means much. It is a pledge to them that they can continue to develop their commerce with the peoples of China, Japan and Australia without fear of so bloody an interruption as the death-dealing submarine inflicted for four years on Atlantic navigation.

It is an insurance policy for every vessel that sails the western ocean against loss and destruction by the act of warring nations. Under the guarantee of the four nations having the leading interests in the Pacific Ocean there will be no strife of navies for mastery of the seas, no unexpected and ill-considered outbreak of hostilities on its blue and peaceful waters. So far as human foresight can ordain it that ocean shall be true to name.

For all this California owes a debt of gratitude to the Harding administration in that it inaugurated the conference that brought about this happy result. Our people want peace on the Pacific, not only the peace of God, but also the peace of man. They will not forget to whom they were indebted for this priceless boon. Nor will they be instrumental in returning to power any candidate for office who is opposed to this peace-promoting policy.

WHO WON THE WAR?

After the signing of the armistice in 1918 a futile and sometimes acrimonious discussion raged as to which of the Allied nations "won the war." At that time winning the war referred to the defeat of the armed forces of the Central Powers of Europe. Even in this limited sense the dispute was barren of any practical results and only damaged the prestige of the victors.

Possibly it is too soon yet to decide the question of who won the war, for in the final analysis the victory belongs to the nation that obtains the greatest advantages from the ensuing peace. Since the United States never expected to make any selfish gains from the military efforts of her army and entered the fight on broader principles our people are removed from the ultimate contention as to which nation won the war, according to the readjustments brought about by the various peace pacts.

There are only two methods of winning a war. One is the Christian way employed by the McKinley administration after the war with Spain, where the peace terms were so generous as to bind the two countries together in closer bonds of friendship.

The other is the pagan way by which the legions of Rome consolidated the fruits of the conquest of Carthage by wiping the entire Carthaginian people off the face of the earth and writing on the sands of time, "Carthago delenda est."

Half-way measures are fatal; a compromise peace may undo the brilliant achievements of the best generals in the field. Napoleon won many battles—he never won a war.

Present conditions in Europe are the result of treaties and agreements that lack the courage of Christianity and the brutality of paganism. So to date they have decided nothing in the nature of a complete victory.

In the fall of 1923, five years after the military defeat of the Central European combination, it looks as though the nation that has the clearest title to winning the war is Turkey. Ten years hence it is not impossible that Turkey, Russia and Germany may be engaged in an acrimonious discussion as to which deserved the chief credit for defeating the provisions of the Versailles Treaty.

CARELESS CAMPERS

State statistics show that since January 1 there have been 854 destructive forest fires in California. Ten thousand five hundred acres of government land and 12,500 acres of property owned by private persons have been completely burned over by these, most of the fires occurring in heavily timbered areas. Officers of the United States Forest Service state that more than 50 per cent of all fires are caused by campers, who heedlessly wander away and leave their camp fires burning.

Forty-four of the offenders were arrested and convictions were only obtained in thirty-seven cases. Even where the culprits are arrested and convictions obtained against them the punishment is declared inadequate, considering the gravity of the offense. More drastic laws will have to be passed, the officials declare, if the superb forests are to be preserved for California. The person who leaves a fire burning in a beautiful grove, in which he has secured free camping space, and so causes the destruction of valuable property as well as great natural beauty, should be charged with arson and punished accordingly, the Forest Service insists. If this is not done the government may have to revoke the privilege of encampment, thus punishing the many for the offenses of the few.

"Good Work!"

WOBBLIES IN THE SOUTH

The cotton, sugar and tobacco industries of the South not only deplore the shifting of so much of their colored labor to the cities of the North, but they are apprehensive over what they are getting as a substitute. The Wobblies are coming in. Some of the big industries of Louisiana are carrying advertisements in the New Orleans papers urging the black help to remain and declaring that there are no less than 3500 Wobblies now marking time in New Orleans with the idea of driving out the colored workers and putting their own organized forces in command. The Commune worked among the negroes in the effort to stir them into revolutionary mood, but the average southern darky makes a poor anarchist. He does not see red. His mind is not fired by the flaming philosophies of Old World radicals. He has lived rather comfortably and pleasantly among the cotton fields. He has not worried much and his environment has suited him. But the agitators kept at him and provoked unrest. They filled the colored brother with tales of the huge wages that could be garnered in the motor industries in the northern cities and started him forth on the great adventure. They pried him loose from his time-honored moorings and now they are themselves seeking to command the labor situation in his old field. There is friction all around. Colored labor is not particularly welcomed in the North. The negroes miss the outdoor life and the amiable sunshine of the Southland. Their lives are shortened and their comforts are curtailed. They are still discontented. But that is the way the Wobblies would have it. They use the negro against his own wish and interest and the flames of disorder are fanned. They take the places of the colored labor in the South, but they will not do the work. They only create friction and strife.

THE UNKINDEST CUT OF ALL

Few utterances of Hiram Johnson have attracted as much attention or occasioned as much comment in the Senator's home State as his famous letter to McClatchy in which Johnson candidly admits his own weakness in California. Imagine, however, with what mixed feelings the local Hearst exponents must have read that letter, after having exhausted their every political device in the interests of Johnson. Johnson writes:

"What friends we have in Los Angeles . . . do not command the confidence of the general public. No newspapers can be counted on there, as we have learned to our cost."

THE MODERN MENTOR

To a stranger the name of C. Bascom Slemp of Big Stone Gap, Va., doesn't sound redundantly impressive. Yet the new official secretary to President Coolidge is a picturesque and distinctive personality. He knows his Washington well and has been in politics long enough to know almost every angle of the game. Likewise, he has had much legislative experience. He comes from one of the first families. His father was a Congressman from the Ninth Virginia District and on his death the son was elected to succeed him. There he remained for fifteen years—retiring last year to pursue some business of his own. In Congress he was efficient and he ranked next to Uncle Joe Cannon on the Committee on Appropriations. He has been chairman of the Republican State Committee in Virginia for eighteen years—which is a wonderful record for stability in itself. He has also served his State and party on the national committee. He was on terms of intimacy with President Harding, who would have made him an Ambassador, but the offer was declined. So it may be accepted that the present designation is fortunate all 'round.

PIE OPENS THE DOOR

Mrs. Katharine Voyaki, who had emigrated to the United States from Egypt to carve her fortune in the land of the free, was held for deportation because the quota for immigrants from her country was full. While she was sadly awaiting the day when she was to be returned to her native village the Ellis Island cook found himself short of helpers and sent out distress signals for an assistant who could concoct a toothsome pie.

The immigrant from Cleopatra's land gladly responded to the S.O.S. as offering an opportunity to kill the tedious hours of waiting. That evening Uncle Sam's boarders set up and took notice with a vengeance, when apple and lemon meringue pies of the sort that only an American mother of a bygone generation was supposed to be able to make graced the festal board. Her fame as a pie expert spread and all the Ellis Islands officials promptly sampled her wares and decided that it would be a crime against America to deport her and recommended her case to the highest officials for consideration.

These sent for her and, upon learning of her prowess in the pie line, promptly revoked her deportation order. Anyone who could bake the toothsome American pastry was certainly capable of assimilation. So the happy Mrs. Voyaki is now en route to Phoenix, Ariz., to open a pie shop and spread happiness in that city.

FALSE COLORS

Official Germany is resenting letters and appeals sent to America by German citizens asking for help or relief. It is said that there are organizations in the Fatherland now making a business of soliciting money and subscriptions in America upon many charitable pretexts. Numbers of these are entirely fraudulent and the administration is said to be trying to suppress them. Germany is necessarily poor, but there is a national pride that forbids any recognition of organized beggary.

HOW IT STARTED

BY JEAN NEWTON

"Piping Hot"

In the expression, "piping hot," to describe food that has just come from the oven, we have an interesting echo from a long bygone day. It takes us back to a time when the details of daily living were very different from what they are in this miracle day of ours.

The phrase "piping hot" comes to us from the medieval custom of the baker blowing his "pipe" (horn) to announce to his customers that his bread was just "drawn" and still hot.

The medieval baker and his pipe are no more, but the phrase "piping hot," chiseled in the indestructible stone of language, has remained as a monument to his memory!

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE USEFUL AUNT

As I take my daily ramble countless women are in sight; I behold them loaf and gambol in their gorgeous robes bedight; countless dames are gallivanting on their errands fierce and vain, but my aunt is busy planting rhubarb bushes in the rain. Idle women idly blowing coin for which their husbands scratch; dizzy females shopward going, with a piece of yarn to match; silly women bearing poodles worthless as a tinker's whoop; but my aunt is making noodles for a bowl of wholesome soup. Oh, I watch the women drilling to some social jamboree, and I see them make a killing at a pink or yellow tea; and I turn with admiration to my aunt, who's making pies, and she says, with animation, "Industry is always wise." I behold the women yawning in the boudoir and the den, fully-cheeing and doggoning, bored to death and back again; they are doing nothing useful, they accomplish nothing sane; but my aunt is planting juiceful rhubarb bushes in the rain. Oh, my aunt is never weeping, never weary of the grind, and her household cares are keeping rust and mildew from her mind. She is blithe and glad and chipper, she is healthy, keen and spry and she soaks me with the dipper when I swipe a chunk of pie.

ALAS, POOR HAROLD!

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Oh, golly! Civilization is tottering again.

No less a personage than Harold Bell Wright peeped out of his Arizona ranch window and caught it in the act.

Whatever will he do for inspiration for those nice stories about nice, respectable people, with just the merest soupcon of villainy thrown in for contrast, if civilization persists in rushing straight to the devil en masse like that?

But there is one thing about civilization, it has tottered so long, like a veritable Tower of Pisa—or Harold Lloyd on the edge of a twelve-story building—that we can't complain it sprung a surprise on us. Quite a number of anxious souls all the way from Billy Sunday to Elinor Glyn have given us fair warning, too. And Father Bernard Vaughn predicted it in his sermons on the "Sins of Society" when I was too young to know what sin meant.

But civilization has been tottering more or less regularly ever since. It totters most every time the Paris dressmakers change the fashions. It tottered shockingly when cubist and futurist art and vers libre came in. It positively spun on jazz music.

But every so often it gets rescued, too. France, you know, has saved civilization several times. America and about twenty-seven minor nations lent a hand in 1917 and thereabouts, and before that even Germany had done quite a bit to prop it up.

France saved it again when she lengthened our skirts last year. And everybody knows that prohibition has saved it quite a bit.

But here is the dissipated old thing tottering again. And this time, by golly, Harold is going to save it—if it isn't too late.

"This," says Harold, "is an age of moral cupidity. Man is pursuing woman and she is leading him a merry chase."

Now that isn't a very good beginning. That condition impresses me as being so respectably normal. Now if woman was pursuing man. . . . or even if the lady were turning round and meeting her pursuer half-way. . . . but, no, civilization is tottering rather conventionality this time.

"Woman has been forced into the business world—where she does not belong—and her womanhood has been relegated to the background," says Harold.

Oh, you Woman's party! Oh, you Hetty Greens! Oh, you smugly, triumphantly misguided and deluded army of careerful, self-expression females! Wasn't the "forcing" process just awful? Remember how we had to goad the dear men into "forcing" us into their business and professional preserves! Harold knows. Harold knows.

And aren't we just happily surprised to discover that our womanhood jolly well has been relegated to the background at last? Kind o' feared it wasn't—once or twice—didn't we? If only some of us could be sure that hubby's stenographer's womanhood was properly and completely backgrounded! But it must be all right—Harold knows.

But, dash it all, why does civilization go and totter over a comfortable, entirely moral condition like that? Now if only our womanhood wasn't relegated to the background, but, au contraire, was plastered all over the foreground. . . . Oh, well, I'll bet civilization would totter its fool self just as much and a bit more that way, too.

Oh, but it's getting worse. Listen to this.

"Woman, too, is murdering man because of an instinctive hatred for him," says Harold.

Maybe civilization wouldn't totter so much if we murdered man from instinctive love. But once before, when civilization was tottering, Lucretia Borgia used neater methods. Or maybe "them was the good old times" before it began to totter.

I think Harold ought to be more explicit.

Of course, my own impression was that women loved men so much that when men ceased loving them they just had to murder them—and guns are kind of cheap and handy just now, anyway. Clara Smith Hamon murdered for love. So did Mrs. Campbell of Santa Ana. So did Clara Phillips, only she saved the man.

Oh, no, Harold. I am afraid you are too modest on behalf of your sex.

But men often killed women—and each other—in the days when civilization wasn't tottering. Pesky old thing, why does it always begin to totter so disgustingly directly women do anything? It is not respectful to the men. Can't they ever make it totter?

And then today "Men and women are like squirrels in a cage, dashing madly, unreasoningly in a circle, seeking an unattainable goal of happiness."

So, of course, civilization was not tottering when Harold wrote those poignant stories in which he always killed off all the horrid people, so the nice ones could live happily ever after in the last chapter. But he did have to kill off quite a few in, for instance, "The Shepherd of the Hills," didn't he?

But Harold had a suspicion that civilization was about to totter when he wrote the "Re-Creation of Brian Kent." Oh, but there was a naughty country club set in that. Awful naughty. Danced, played cards, smoked cigarettes, used slang and drank—yes, really, a quite naughty drink, the kind that isn't allowed any more.

By the way, was there ever a time, in the pristine glory of civilization's proud, innocent, strong and noble youth, when there were not naughty sets? Or has civilization been tottering ever since it was born Old Popys, for instance, naughty old gossip . . . ahem, was civilization at its untottery zenith, then? But I think dear old Oliver Cromwell jumped in and saved civilization around about that time.

Oh, well, ANYWAY, with Harold Bell Wright, Elinor Glyn and Billy Sunday all recognizing the totter and prepared to step in and save it, maybe civilization will last for another 100 years.

But, don't you dare or tempted to write a tottering thing ever all. It makes me so sea-sick.

Soprano and Tenor Combine Their Art

Hungardt Gives Facts About Planet Mars

studio with Albert Angermayer, violin virtuoso; Margaret Fern Melrose, the exquisite soprano, and Manly Price Boone, a fine tenor. These four artists combined to give a recital of definite standard, provocative of appreciation from those who love good music.

We hope that Mrs. Brearley will find the same success in concert work and teaching in Los Angeles that she has won elsewhere. She studied with Leschetizky, the famous Viennese pianoforte scholar. Her sound qualities of brilliance, delicacy and dramatic instinct were called upon last night in selections of apt variety.

From the intensity and nobility of the Chopin "Ballade in G-Minor" she ranged to the delightful and airy "Capriccio in B-Minor," by Brahms. That fascinating and difficult transcription, "The Eri King," by Schubert-Liszt, was more than adequate in technique and interpretation.

Mr. Angermayer's sensitive faculty for warmth, color and tone-shading were happily revealed in violin selections of genuine appeal. There was hue and magic to his rendition of "Scherzo and Tarantelle," by Wieniawski, with yet an undercurrent in the changing melody of something untamed; or, perhaps, the surge of the Neapolitan heart in the increasing tempo of the dance.

His execution of a Schubert Serenade and a Chopin Nocturne bore the stamp of a musician's insight. The former, arranged by Remenyi, held a love theme; the latter, arranged by Sarasate, was a lovely, meditative mood. "Minuet," by Milandre, a worthy number of this class, completed his offerings, all capably accompanied by Mrs. Angermayer.

The clarity and sweet sympathy of Margaret Fern Melrose's soprano tones made choice favors of her songs. She is well known as a teacher and singer.

We liked particularly her sentiment and expressiveness, an important phase, second to the refreshing timber of her voice. "Ave Maria," by Gounod, was given with feeling. "Indian Love Song," by Lehmann; "Hindoo Song," by Bemberg, and "Love's Old Sweet Song," by Brigham-Mulloy, were highly pleasing. As an encore she sang "Life and Love," a lyric by Emile Pinter to which she had written the music. Carrie Preston Rittmeister gave excellent accompaniment to these numbers.

Tenor solos by Manly Price Boone, accompanied by Helen Ethel Myer, added to the enjoyment of the program. His voice was rich and his meanings well defined, the compositions being of a virile, poetic type. He sang "In Arcady By Moonlight," by Branscomb, a romantic melody; "To a Hilltop," by Ralph Cox; "The Open Road," by Scott, and "A Song of Life," by Terry. Reserve force and ease of rendition were apparent.

The regular Wednesday-night popular science lecture by Dr. Mars Baumgardt concluded the program. He spoke in interesting, matter-of-fact fashion about the planet Mars, telling the gist of scientific knowledge concerning this body and its relation to the planetary system.

Luella Leon, pianist, and Mrs. Milton Burnett, contralto, gave the matinee musicale.

The pianist is a pupil of Eunice Ferrahian. She favored with a Chopin program with the addition of a Mendelssohn composition, "On Wings of Song." The Chopin numbers, "Nocturne in F Sharp," "Waltz in G Minor" and "Waltz in F Major" were played with skill and with a discernment of the melody values.

Mrs. Burnett pleased with "Wing Song," by Rogers, and "Little Lad of Dreams," by LeMont, her fine voice endearing the selections.

The children's program featured Mabel Hope Justis, soprano, and Helene Pirie, young screen favorite.

The singer, with a voice of beauty and an understanding of how to sing for children, was accompanied by Mrs. T. W. Miles. Her numbers were appropriate, including compositions by Jessie L. Gaynor, John Barnes Wells, Manna-Zucca, Barbara Hope and Ethelbert Nevin. "The Big Brown Bear," "I Love the Old Doll Best" and "Mighty Lak' a Rose" were examples.

Mary Elizabeth Hughes, 12 years of age, and Helen Edwina Hughes, 9 years of age, came to visit the studio and favored hearers with a charming little bird song.

Helen Pirie, 6 years of age, sang and gave readings. She is a pupil of the Ernest Belcher Celeste School of Dancing, but unfortunately could not illustrate the American ballet by radio. "My Shadow" was the title of a song and "Camping On the Lawn," a reading, by this charming little actress.

Vera Leavitt Owens, mezzo-soprano, whom listeners-in know well, sang during the noon hour, being given piano accompaniment by Carrie Preston Rittmeister. "California Is Calling Me," by Gilbert, and "At Dawning," by Cadman, were two of her enjoyable offerings. Songs by Sydney K. Johnson and piano solos of popular form by Janet MacDonald contributed to the success of this broadcast period. They came to the studio by request to fill vacancies caused by cancellations.

Council Bars City Bureaus to Lobbyists

War on City Hall lobbyists who are charged with securing favors from city employees was officially declared yesterday by the Board of Public Works after the adoption by the City Council, on motion of Councilman Gregory, of a resolution declaring, in effect that lobbyists of companies interested in paving and other contracts must keep out of the department offices and transact their business at the public counters.

In enforcing this resolution, President Treat of the Board of Public Works said yesterday that it had been reported that city employes had been asked to push forward improvement petitions by agents of companies interested in contracts and he said that if this report was found to be correct and city employes had shown favors to individuals, these employes would be dismissed. Councilman Gregory said that it had been reported to him that in one case a petition for street improvement from the Van Nuys district which asked for concrete pavement had been changed before it reached the Council to request asphalt pavement. This report is being investigated.

TWO HELD ON DRY CHARGE

Avers Husband Often Returned Home Besotted

Dr. Fred Milton Tyron, prominent local physician, disregarded the most important precept to good health by remaining out late nights and frequently coming home inebriated, his wife, G. Louanpa Tyron, says in a divorce complaint filed yesterday.

She charges cruelty. This consisted, the complaint sets forth, of his habit of remaining out until early morning hours or failing to come home at all. On frequent occasions, she says, he returned home in a sad state of intoxication. He also refused to tell her where he had been after returning home from these asserted sprees, she declares.

She also asks for all the community property and $500 a month alimony, stating that his income is approximately $1000 a month.

The Woman and Her Job

by Valerie Watreus

[Questions of general interest, bearing on the vocational training of women and their employment problems, will be answered by Mrs. Watreus in this column if addressed to her in care of The Times.]

JUST TWEED

Until last week I would have described a certain woolen material very generally used for motoring or outing suits as "tweed." I would also have said that the price paid for such a suit would depend upon how much cotton there was in the fabric, the manner in which the garment was finished, and the shop in which it was purchased. That was last week.

But not this week. I've been educated.

The other day a friend took me shopping with her. She can afford to patronize the exclusive shops, and to such a one she went to buy a knicker suit for a motor trip.

She was shown several, one of which was most appealing, but thought something lower in price would answer her purposes, and said so.

"Perhaps it might," the saleswoman smilingly agreed, "but this will outwear a cheaper suit, and will look its value even after long service. These are the finest tweeds we have ever had. See how well it is woven." With that she pulled and twisted the cloth vigorously. "There's no give to the threads, you see, yet the fabric is as soft as a piece of fine leather."

"Yes, but the price—"

"This yarn was spun by hand from the best longstaple wool, and woven on an old-fashioned hand loom. This fabric comes to us guaranteed as preshrunk, and that means that moisture will not affect it. There is nothing like Scotch tweed for service—it is good for five years of hard wear. After a long and dusty trip, have this suit cleaned and pressed, and it will come back to you as bright and fresh as it is today."

She caressed the cloth with an air of pride, as though she loved it, and under her fingers it took on an added value.

"The colors are so exquisitely blended, they make one feel the whip of October winds across the moors of Devonshire. Here is the gold," the saleswoman pointed out, "the soft reds, the touches of sere brown, and the faded greens of the autumn season. And here and there are the wee purple flowers that hide in the frost-kissed grasses." She stopped suddenly, with a word of apology. "I love the northern counties of England, and these tweeds bring back so many happy memories."

But our eyes were shining, too. This was not a woolen fabric made into a motoring suit, it was the creation of an artist into which colorful autumn had been woven.

"Will you let me try that coat again, please," my friend requested.

The saleswoman slipped it on, adjusting buttons and belt with practiced fingers.

"See how well designed it is—as perfect as though made to measure for you. The workmanship is the highest grade, the lining and finish are the finest quality, and, best of all, it has a dominating dull-green tone that emphasizes the fine clear texture of your skin."

It was so sincerely said there was no hint of flattery. The suit was very becoming.

"I'll take it; it is more than I wanted to pay, but I might not be so well satisfied with a cheaper material."

When the sale was closed, the saleswoman walked with us toward the elevators, quite as a hostess might accompany a guest.

"Thank you both, so much, and when you return I'd be glad to have you call on me again."

We promised, and went our way.

"Goodness me!" my friend exclaimed when out of hearing. "I never knew there was anything special about tweeds, did you?"

My dear Edna: Your letter is very indefinite. The vocations you mention are so different in character. Surely there is some one thing you really want to do. Think it over and write me again.

Dear Alice: Since you "hate kitchen things" and love books, why don't you go to the employment manager and tell him that. It will pay him to give you the work you like because you will sell more goods, and you should give him the chance to make the transfer rather than seek work in a book department of some other store. Don't be afraid of him; go and tell him the truth.

My dear Mrs. B.: Remember you have been out of the business world for twelve years. Accept what comes to you until you can get a foothold. Work attracts work; take the job you've been offered, there is no knowing where it may lead you.

ALTAR RITUAL IS READ AT NOON

South Pasadena Girl Weds Angeleno

[Edgar L. Bowman Photo]

Mrs. Louis Jay Filley

ONE of the handsomely appointed weddings of midseason was that of Miss Helen Louise Godfrey and Mr. Louis Jay Filley yesterday at high noon, seventy-five of the relatives and close friends of the two families witnessing the service at the home of the bride, 1414 Spruce street, South Pasadena. Rev. B. D. Snudden read the ritual.

An altar was erected in the pergola adjoining the drawing-room, wherein an arch of white asters and greenery with a wedding bell of white blossoms was arranged, beneath which the bridal vows were taken. Leading to the altar was a path of white roses with satin streamers forming the aisle for the bridal party.

The bride was in white crepe with lace panels. The gown was in the new sleeveless vogue, and enveloping the whole was the bridal veil, held in place with a coronet of point lace and orange blossoms. She carried a shower of butterfly orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss Emily Huntington Miller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Alfred Miller of South Pasadena, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of coral georgette with which she wore a hat of gray haircloth trimmed in varicolored garden flowers. Her arm bouquet was of Columbia roses. Nancy Garret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Garret, was flower maiden. She wore a quaint white frock and carried a basket of Happy roses.

Mr. Edward Pryor Filley was his brother's best man. Miss Margaret Northrup sang "The Vow" and "You." Miss Elizabeth Cover, harpist, with Mrs. H. E. Andrews at the piano, play the "Lohengrin" march.

The ceremony was followed by an informal reception and wedding breakfast. The bride's table was in white and pink and about it were seated the bride and bridegroom and Miss Emily Huntington Miller, Miss Elizabeth Akerman of San Diego, Miss Estelle Bean, Miss Mabelle Williams of San Francisco, Miss Nancy Garret and Messrs. Edward Pryor Filley, Fay Spener Reeder, Robert Atwill and Roy Pearson.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus L. Godfrey and attended Mills College and the University of Southern California. Since the announcement of her betrothal in June at a formal tea at the Vista del Arroyo she has been the incentive for a round of teas and luncheons. One of the last was the bridge luncheon at the San Gabriel Country Club Monday afternoon, when Miss Estelle Bean was hostess to a group of twenty-four of the younger set.

Mr. Filley is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Filley of 1065 Fair Oaks avenue, who returned from Europe to be present at the wedding. He is a Stanford and Boston Tech man and a member of the Zeta Psi Fraternity at the northern college. Mr. and Mrs. Filley have motored to Lake Tahoe for their honeymoon. They will stop at Santa Barbara and Del Monte, and upon their return about the fifteenth of October they will occupy their beautiful new home at 1929 Edgewood Road.

You won't know how good fried chicken can be—or an egg—or a trout—until you have tried frying with Wesson Oil.

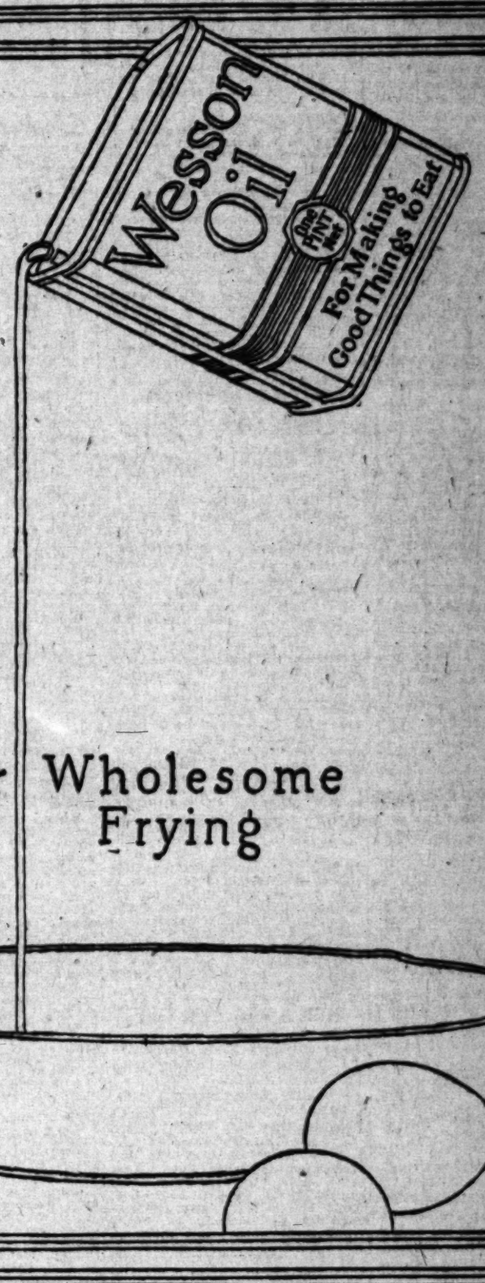
Wesson Oil is not only a delicious frying fat—it is a wholesome frying fat, very wholesome and easy to digest.

It is burned fat that is responsible for most of the objections to fried food.

At the right temperature for frying many fats "break down," smoke—that is, burn—and have a tendency to upset digestion.

The wholesomeness of Wesson Oil as a frying fat is due to the goodness of Wesson Oil and to the fact that it can be heated hot enough to fry crisply long before it burns.

A crispy brown crust forms so quickly that the food does not absorb too much fat and, inside this thin crust, cooks to a tempting lightness and daintiness.



Have you ever wondered why the Wesson Oil can is soldered on the outside? Solder doesn't improve the flavor of oil. (Really it is the flux—rosin or zinc chloride—used in soldering to make solder stick to tin, that spoils the flavor of an oil.) So the can that is to hold Wesson oil is soldered outside. This isn't handsome—but handsome is as handsome does. After all, the inside is the important side of a can. That rough solder on the outside is evidence that on the smooth inside you will find Wesson Oil a pure light color and more delicate and delicious in flavor than any oil you ever tasted before.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours

—A— and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Allenrhu relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.—[Advertisement.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

ARREST MEDIUM IN CROWN CITY

Mme. Alice Barker Had Beautiful Certificate

Told Officer She Expected Him to Return

He Did, Now She'll Explain It All to Judge

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Aug. 22.—Rev. Mme. Alice Barker, F.B.P.I., was arrested by Pasadena police today on a charge of violating the city fortune-telling ordinance. Instead of settling domestic disputes and revealing future happenings to the unhappy, this particular crystal reader caused family differences, all of which led to her arrest, the police declare.

So popular were Mme. Barker's crystal readings in the Crown City that appointments had to be made days in advance in order to secure an audience. Women frequented Mme. Barker's den at 405 South Hudson avenue more than the men, the police state.

SOMETHING TO HAPPEN

"I feel as though something unusual was about to happen. I feel a tightening about my throat and something tells me that you will return in quest of something." Thus spoke the fortune teller with Officer W. A. Beal as her subject. That her prophecy would come true was realized today when Officer Beal returned and caused her arrest.

When arrested Mme. Barker displayed a certificate of ordination from the Los Angeles Spiritual Temple of Truth. The certificate stated that the temple was duly chartered by the authorities of the Lord and Savior. It further stated that the temple had been convinced by signs and other work that Alice Barker, a disciple, had been especially endowed and, therefore, the temple gave her permission to go forth and do the work of the Master.

SIGNED BY OFFICERS

The beautifully engraved certificate was signed by Rt. Rev. A. M. Morrison, P. I. C. Williams, president; Henrietta McCue, secretary, and Edna L. Dean, pastor. It said it was recorded at the Hall of Records and was sworn before Sylvia Kennedy Hawkins, notary public. All were declared to be officers of the Temple of Truth.

Two large crystals and a black sofa pillow were confiscated by the police. According to Officer Beal, who lead the raid, Mme. Barker kept her subject locked up in a stuffy room for thirty minutes. During this time she would observe their actions from behind a curtain. She would allow them to enter into her "sacred quarters" after they had been duly impressed by surroundings, the officer declared. Readings could be had for $5.

"When these women would go home and practice on their husbands what this woman had told them, a row immediately resulted," declared Officer Beal today. Complaints by the husbands caused the investigation, he said.

Mme. Barker declared today that she had worked in three foreign countries and that she had never been bothered before. Her trial was set for Friday morning before Judge Dunham.

OFFERS CHAMBER AID

Los Angeles Will Assist Venice in Reorganization

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Aug. 22.—The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has offered the assistance of an expert organizer to start an immediate campaign for the reorganization of the local body, it was announced today.

Although local officials are anxious to see the chamber reorganized and brought back to an equal standing with other civic organizations, the large cost of such a move deterred action.

In the communication explanation is given that it is the policy of the Angel City body to give assistance to smaller organizations. No cost will be attached to the movement, it was said.

Due consideration of the matter will be given at the regular session Friday night.

Both contractors will rush the paving to completion. The necessary legal preliminaries were completed a week ago. In advance of the paving additional sewer mains and laterals are being laid. These are a part of the $90,000 sewer extension system for which bonds were voted on the 7th inst.

OIL STATION ROBBED BY ARMED MEN

Bandits Kidnap Operator, Are Thought Part of Gang Headed by Jesse Taylor

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Aug. 22.—After robbing L. T. Hampe, night station operated at the Shell Oil filling station at Holt and Garey avenues at 12:15 this morning of $29.40 as he gazed into the muzzles of two automatics, three bandits, one of whom was driving a high-powered automobile, ordered the victim into the tonneau of the machine and fled at a high rate of speed. Hampe was forced at the point of pistols to sit quietly in the machine as it sped away and when at a point midway between Covina and San Dimas, was shoved from the machine and told to keep his mouth shut.

Hampe stated upon his return that the men spoke good English and were conversing throughout the trip of another hold-up naming an accomplice "Jesse," which leads police to believe that they are a part of escaped convict Jesse Taylor's gang.

Only a meager description of the men was given by the victim, but he stated that they all seemed to be between 20 and 25 years old. Two were dressed in dark clothing while one wore a whipcord suit and cap to match. Up to a late hour this afternoon no clews had been obtained by the police, although an alarm was sent to surrounding cities and towns to be on the lookout for the men.

SEA HOLDS BODY

Remains of J. J. Hague, Drowned at Anaheim, Still Missing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANAHEIM, Aug. 22.—Although constant watch has been kept along the beach at Anaheim Landing and word has been sent to other cities along the Southland's coast, the sea still refuses to give up the body of J. J. Hague, Los Alamitos man who was drowned while bathing in the surf east of Anaheim Bay.

If the body is washed ashore in this county, Coroner C. D. Brown will conduct an inquest, he declared today. If found in any other county, authorities there will have charge of the investigation. Hague was drowned while surf bathing with his wife and her brother. When both of the men were caught in a vicious riptide, Mrs. Hague, who is an expert swimmer, answered her brother's call for help, not realizing, until too late, that her husband was in danger.

SANTA MONICA SEEKS STATE PAVING RECORD

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 22.—This will be the best paved city in Southern California, according to predictions of city commissioners, based on the statement of W. H. Carter, commissioner of public works, that every street in the city will soon have a permanent pavement. "Property owners are finding that paving pays," he commented. "The way property has increased in value on streets which have been given a permanent pavement has convinced property owners on near-by streets and the paving spirit is spreading."

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Aug. 22.—A flivver, "lit up" like a comet, passed through the local streets late yesterday afternoon with the driver, whose name was not learned, apparently unaware that possible death lurked behind him. Pedestrians, startled by the spectacle, yelled lustily, attempting to attract the man's attention.

"Hey, your gas tank's ablaze!" they cried. The driver turned slightly, nodded, evidently believing it was a good joke.

Not until K. D. Kennison, a filling station operator, rushed to the street, fire extinguisher in hand, stopping the machine, did the driver know what was causing the commotion. The gas line which had sprung a leak was afire.

GERETY NEW VENICE MAYOR

Temporary City Chief Named to Post Permanently; Demands Department Heads Resign

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Aug. 22.—At a special meeting of the City Board of Trustees here today, Edward A. Gerety, who has been acting for three weeks past as Mayor of Venice, was appointed to the position permanently.

Mr. Gerety formerly was Mayor of Venice and now succeeds John H. Harrah, who resigned three weeks ago. The appointment today was made on motion of Trustee Fred A. Church, seconded by William D. Lutz.

The new Mayor's first move was a startling one. He placed a motion before the Trustees that resignations be demanded immediately from all department heads appointed by the previous Mayor. These include Chief of Police McCausland, City Engineer Griffin, Police Judge Rennie, Street Superintendent Dodds, City License Inspector Cresson and Fire Chief Hubbard.

The motion carried and the Board of Trustees demanded that these resignations all be put in the hands of City Clerk Hanna by next Saturday noon.

The new Mayor declined to comment on his action, except to say that the move was "the usual routine of reorganization."

MERCHANTS INVOLVED IN FOOD HIATUS

Dealer Denies Charge He Was Paid by County for Undelivered Supplies

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 22.—At a special session of the Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon, Charles L. Hunt, merchant, branded as wholly untrue the charges of Anson West, a coffee dealer, who asserted Hunt had secured compensation from the county for undelivered supplies.

West, who sprang a bombshell a few days ago when he charged that he was paid by the county before delivering an order to the County Hospital, was not present at the hearing. He sent a letter stating that he wanted to appear before the grand jury. West had previously asked the supervisors to investigate.

John Marshall, steward at the General Hospital, with whom West is asserted to have had the irregular dealing, has charged that West attempted to secure county business by offering whisky to hospital employees. As West is chairman of the County Dry Federation this charge proves to be more sensational than the original one. West has refused to answer Marshall's counter-charge.

It developed yesterday that West cashed the county warrant he contended was irregular and that he had delivered $40 worth of coffee. The warrant was originally drawn for pudding, which was unsatisfactory, Marshall said. By agreement between West and Marshall the coffee was substituted for pudding, the latter testified.

Piru Creek Fire Circled and Is Under Control

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 22.—The Piru Creek fire, near Tejon and the Ridge Route, is under control, it was reported late today by the local Forestry Office. The official received word from the rangers in charge of the fire-fighting crews that the flames have been circled and a change of wind is carrying the fire back on itself.

The fire started late yesterday and spread over the southern slopes of Alamo Mountain, finally beginning to descend the creek and threatening the General Petroleum properties, 12 miles below. The oil company placed its full crew of seventy-two men at the disposal of the forestry service.

"Danger threatening the General Petroleum Company's property is over," says a forestry officer, "and unless a big change in the situation develops the fire will be under control by morning."

Forces have been sent out from communities about Saugus and also from Bakersfield. Rangers have impressed automobile drivers passing over the ridge where temporary service was called for to check the flames at certain points. It is estimated 150 men have been on the fire lines during the day.

At Charles Blank's station at Tulare and Angus streets the thieves got $35 in cash and the register, and scrip books worth between $125 and $150. At a lonely spot on California avenue, the register was smashed open, emptied and thrown into an irrigation ditch, where the police found it today.

AVIATORS AGAIN TO SEEK RECORD

San Diego Pair to Repeat Refueling Fete

Hope to Break Continuous Flying Marks Monday

Mexico-to-Canada Trip Will be Tried Later

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 22.—Capt. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. John B. Richter, who mastered the feat of refueling while flying in mid-air, will make another attempt, starting Monday, to establish a world's record for entrance, distance and speed. These two airmen startled the aviation world last June when they succeeded in making contact with another plane, flying overhead, and transferring gasoline, oil and food while in flight.

On that occasion they were in the air twenty-three hours, their attempt to establish new records being balked when their plane dropped into mud flats off Rockwell Field.

PLAN CANADIAN TRIP

Much interest has been aroused in army aviation circles here by a plan of Capt. Smith and Lieut. Richter to attempt a non-stop flight from the Mexican border to the Canadian line, with refueling operations at Sacramento and Eugene, Or. This flight probably will be attempted in November.

Improvements in refueling methods suggested by the flight last June will materially increase the chances of success in next week's attempt, the aviators believe. Two planes will be used in the refueling operation instead of one. Capt. Robert G. Ervin and Lieut. O. R. McNeil will pilot one and Lieuts. Virgil Hanes and Frank Stefert the other. A larger hose, 1 1-4 inches in diameter and forty feet long, will enable the airmen to take aboard 90 to 100 gallons of gasoline within less than three minutes.

Starting the flight at 5 o'clock Monday morning, Smith and Richter will take on supplies at 10 a.m. and every two hours thereafter until dusk, when their tank will be filled to capacity. It holds 225 gallons and the planes are expected to burn on an average of eighteen gallons an hour. By this method the two flyers hope to be able to fly all night without the necessity of refueling.

FOGS MAY INTERFERE

In the event that heavy fog banks obscure the fifty-kilometer triangular speedway, the airmen will refrain from endeavoring to make new speed records and will fly throttled down until the fog lifts sufficiently for them to take aboard gas and oil safely By this plan they hope to smash the world's record of 36 hours and 5 minutes, held by Lieuts. Macready and Kelly.

Capt. Smith and Capt. Ervin have been nominated for the army's entries in the Pulitzer races at St. Louis October 1, 2 and 3. When they return serious thought will be given the proposed non-stop flight to the Canadian line.

GIRL AND MAN HELD

Young Woman in Psychopathic Ward for Observation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Aug. 22.—Arraigned this afternoon before Judge Fields of San Dimas, sitting for Judge White of this city, Hazel Wilson, 18 years of age, of Yorba Linda was ordered taken to the psychopathic ward of the County Hospital and held for observation, and John L. Stacy, alias J. L. Kelly, was committed to the custody of the Sheriff in lieu of $1000 bail. The pair were charged with a statutory offense following their arrest at a local apartment-house where they were registered as man and wife. The couple disappeared from Anaheim a week ago and a wide search for the girl has followed.

Today Stacy is said to have admitted to officers that he is married and has a wife and child living in Long Beach. The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson, together with a number of other relatives and Dr. Neal, pastor of the church which the girl attended in Yorba Linda, were present at the arraignment.

RED CROSS BUILDING WILL BE APARTMENT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, Aug. 22.—Once the hive of busy war workers, preparing thousands of bandages and scores of first-aid articles for wounded soldiers, the wartime headquarters of the American Red Cross in this city have been forced to give way before the advance of business. The Red Cross building on Fair Oaks avenue is the last remaining evidence in this city of war-time activities. It is a large two-story house but workmen started today to move it to another location where it will be remodeled into a duplex apartment. On the lot vacated a business block is to be erected.

This is the lowest price for which bread has been sold here since the pioneer days. Low price of flour and keen competition in the baking field is said to have influenced the reduction.

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 22.—Within approximately $25,000 of the amounts requested by the heads of the different Kern county departments, the grand total on which the tax levy will be made for the ensuing year will be $920,957.05, exclusive of the school funds for which $151,739 have been requested, and exclusive of an allotment made for the mosquito abatement fund.

PREACHER IS PROBLEM

Keeps Jail Inmates Awake, and Defies City

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 22. Police and Police Judge Bledsoe are puzzled to know what to do with W. H. Banks, curbstone evangelist, now in the City Jail. They say other prisoners object because he keeps the lights burning a large part of the night while reading the Bible.

Banks was arrested for pitching a tent in Baptist Alley here. He held up traffic while preaching and refused to take out a permit for meetings or move to other quarters. His arrest was on a charge of disturbing the peace, sworn to by a neighboring property owner.

Banks has newspaper clippings from several eastern cities showing that he has adopted practically the same procedure elsewhere.

LARGE REALTY DEALS CLOSED

Six Transactions Involve About $2,500,000

House of Good Shepherd Will Construct Home

Subdivision to be Opened on Western Avenue

Approximately $2,500,000 is involved in new realty transactions made public yesterday by real estate firms, architects and others. The deals include the purchase of a large subdivision acreage on Western avenue, the building of a new home for the House of the Good Shepherd and five other construction projects.

Negotiations were closed yesterday by the John P. Mills Company of Long Beach for the acquisition of 160 acres of choice land on Western avenue near the intersection of Florence avenue, for a reported consideration of $825,000. The local property was purchased from the Richard Dillon estate.

It is the intention of the new owners to put the subdivision on the market as soon as legal matters have been successfully completed. A sum in excess of $275,000 will be expended for the installation of new roads, sidewalks, electricity, gas and other modern conveniences.

PLAN NEW HOME

Preliminary plans have been formulated for the erection of a new home for the House of the Good Shepherd on Pico street, near Arlington avenue, it was stated by Albert C. Martin, architect, who has been commissioned to draft the plans. It is planned by officers of the local organization to erect the buildings by units and to spend more than $500,000 in their construction.

The first unit to be built will cost $140,000 and will provide quarters for 100 girls. According to Architect Martin, the building will be four stories high, fifty feet wide and 165 feet deep, and will contain space for the sewing department, dining-rooms, kitchen and bedrooms. Brick and reinforced concrete will be used.

A three-acre tract on Westmoreland avenue, between Lexington avenue and Santa Monica Boulevard, was acquired recently by the Jewish Orphanage with the intention of erecting a group of orphan asylum buildings to provide accommodations for twenty children. S. Tilden Norton and Frederick H. Wallis have been selected as the architects and, according to specifications provided by them, the structures will represent an investment of $150,000.

APARTMENTS STARTED

Work has been started on a five-story apartment-house to be erected at Broadway and Magnolia avenue, Long Beach, it was announced by R. A. Butterfield, owner and builder. The lot has a frontage of seventy feet on Broadway and 173 feet on Magnolia. Specifications show that the structure will contain seventy-eight apartments of two and three rooms each, equipped with tiled baths, heating and refrigerating units. Cost is $300,000.

Plans and contracts have been completed for the erection of a four-story apartment structure at 1716 West Ninth street by P. M. Ruthfield. The Meline Company-Koerner-Gage organization is in charge of building operations and it is estimated by them that the cost will be approximately $192,000.

Architectural drawings are being worked out for the construction of a two-story building in Fullerton by Architect W. Horace Austin of Long Beach. Several stores will be located on the ground floor with offices above. More than $225,000 will be spent in its erection.

Mrs. Neomie Regner is having plans prepared for a new apartment-house at 7650 Sunset Boulevard to cost $40,000. T. B. Edwards Building Company will erect the structure within two months. The structure will be sixty-five feet wide, seventy-five feet deep, two stories high and will contain five stores on the lower floor.

LOVE LETTER WINS DIVORCE

Wife Gets Decree from Army Captain When Note From "Marion" Telling of Devotion Is Read

Capt. John Edward Grant, U.S.A., lost his wife, Mrs. Stella Cass Grant, yesterday by decree of Judge Wood, father letters a woman named Marion is asserted to have written him and letters exchanged between her and Mrs. Grant, were read into the record. Desertion was the charge. The couple were married in 1917 and separated four years later.

A letter from Marion to her husband which Mrs. Grant said she intercepted, read in part:

"My dearest: I feel so lonely without you that I could just cry, dear. Oh, how grand it would be out here in the mountains with you! I carved our names on a tree today. Whatever you want me to do I will do; can't you come here? We could have a wonderful time away on top of a mountain where there would be no one to talk but just you and I. You have all my love, darling, and I am sending it across these old mountain-tops. I am your own little girl."

Mrs. Grant said she wrote Marion demanding an explanation and received this reply:

"I wish to apologize for having gone with Jack and most of all for bringing this sorrow into your life. I did it both innocently and unknowingly. Not only has he ruined your life but he took me, a girl just fresh from a convent, innocent of the wicked world, and taught me to love and trust him. But through all I have learned never to trust any man again.

"You are wondering why I asked him to come and see me after I received your letter. I wanted to make him feel the wrong he had done, for I am returning to the convent. Yet before I gave up the world I wanted to see him again, but he didn't come. I cannot find him. But God will some day make him pay and if you will accept true contrition from a girl, please accept mine for I am sorry for the grief I brought you. I did it innocently, that's all."

VERDICT ON HEATH CASE IS EXPECTED

Police Commission Believed Ready to Render Official Opinion Today

Indications that the Police Commission may reach a verdict on the application of Capt. R. Lee Heath for reinstatement to the police department, some time today were obtained yesterday following a conference between Mayor Cryer and Police Commissioners De Coo and De La Monte at the Mayor's office. The matter has been under advisement by the commission for nearly a week.

While none of the commissioners would discuss the status of the case to date it was learned that some of the points on which the commission failed to agree have been settled and that some action may be expected today.

Regardless of the findings, it was indicated, the commission will probably attach a report on the case along with its verdict. That this report will be a frank statement by the commissioners regarding the testimony offered at the Heath hearings is considered probable.

Capt. Heath's friends were optimistic on the subject of his reinstatement to the department but not so certain that Capt. Heath would receive a cost of official whitewash in connection with the charges of political activity and the other charges made against him by former Chief of Police Oaks.

Whether the commission has gone beyond the record in the case, as it can properly do under the rules governing its conduct could not be learned. Statements that the commission desired to get all the facts in the case and look into all the angles and questions raised by the charges that the police department was handicapped by the interference of a political ring, were made by two of the commissioners during the hearings.

Police Commissioner De La Monte is scheduled to leave the city today and a quick decision is expected.

AVOID GAS AFTER EATING

Bloating and distention of the abdomen, drowsiness after eating, pressure and pain around the heart, hands and feet, cold and numb nervousness, are the more common symptoms of this torment—gas.

All is due to the fermentation of food in the stomach.

Physicians state that the best absorbent they have found for this foul gas is Standard No. 10 Gastritis. These little tablets also quickly relieve the pain and distress that come after eating.

If people would only give some attention to their diet and carry these wonderful tablets for emergency use they would quickly find that many of these ailments and symptoms would permanently disappear.

On sale only at the Standard Homeopathic Company, 216 South Broadway, Los Angeles, or mailed Parcel Post for 50 cents.

LEAVES FOR TEEPEES OF RED SKINS

Local Expert on Indians Goes Again for Material for Large Work

For the twenty-sixth consecutive year Edward S. Curtis yesterday left the haunts of white men for his annual voluntary exile among the Indians of America.

Curtis will be gone for three months gathering data for Volume No. 16 of a twenty-volume work on the American Indian made possible by a foundation of $250,000 given by the late J. Pierpont Morgan. The Indian authority goes to the tepees and wigwams for his scientific research in an entirely different work atmosphere, for in his everyday employment he is a motion-picture cameraman for Cecil B. De Mille. This photographic staff is headed by Bert Glennon.

Besides his scientific investigations, Curtis is perhaps best known as a photographer of Indians. His Indian photograph, "The Vanishing Race," is said to be the most popular still picture ever made. More than a quarter million copies have been sold.

The new investigations of Curtis will be among the fast-lying mountain Indians of Northern California—the Klamaths and the Modocs; and such desert tribes of Arizona and New Mexico as the Zuni, Acoma, Pojuque, Piquira and Jemez.

Curtis was an intimate friend of the late Theodore Roosevelt, and some twelve years ago he guided Teddy and his sons into desert Indian country for which he is again headed.

Mrs. Claus Spreckles of Coronado Beach and her 5-year-old daughter were slightly injured yesterday afternoon when their automobile collided with a Pacific Electric car in front of the Montmartre Cafe, 6757 Hollywood Boulevard.

They were given first-aid treatment at the office of Dr. F. C. Ferry, 5300 Hollywood Boulevard and returned to the Beverly Hills Hotel, where they have been guests for the past three days.

INCIDENT OF RUSSIAN CROWN JEWEL ENDED

The Russian crown jewel incident was officially closed yesterday, when Collector Schwaebe received notice from Washington to turn over to A. J. Jarmuth of the Windsor Apartments, 970 Orange street, a tiara, set with rose cut diamonds, that had been seized about a year ago for alleged nonpayment of duty. The action of the Treasury Department was made on a report submitted to the Department at Washington by E. G. Langley, Abilene, Tex., that not only the tiara but also a solitaire platinum diamond ring, a gold stick pin, a gold chain necklace and a half dozen diamond stick pins had been smuggled into the United States without the payment of duty and Langley demanded 25 per cent of the duty and costs assessed in the case. But the tiara was the only article located by Collector Schwaebe and the records of New York showed that the regular duty had been paid on it. So there was nothing to do but return the ornament to Jarmuth and this was done yesterday.

GEM THIEF SAYS HE MAY PAY BACK LOSS

"I'm a hop-head. I need the money for I'm trying to break the habit. Some day maybe I'll pay you back." With these words, a bandit yesterday afternoon locked F. B. Haynes, proprietor of an apartment-house at 522 South Union street, into an empty closet and departed with a $3000 ring and $2 in cash he had taken from Haynes a few moments before. Haynes told Detectives White and Bligh that a well-dressed man had applied to him for a furnished apartment. When Hayne led the stranger into an empty apartment and turned to show his prospective customer how spacious a closet was, the man pulled out a long-barreled pistol, leveled it at Haynes and took his five-carat diamond ring and the small change he had in his pockets. After several minutes confinement in the closet, Haynes was able to attract attention of his tenants who released him.

DECISION ON INCOME AID FOR WOMEN

Rights of Wives Outlined by Federal Commissioner Under Revenue Act

An important decision affecting the rights of married women living in California to return as separate income under the Revenue Act of 1921, money they have earned under agreements entered into with their husbands, was received yesterday by United States Collector of Internal Revenue Goodcell.

It holds that under the Civil Code of California, a husband and wife may enter into a partnership and if there is an agreement which shows that the intention of the parties is to create in the wife a vested interest in the partnership as her separate property, such intention will change the character of their property from community to separate property. In such cases the wife is entitled to report as her separate income all amounts earned by her under such agreement.

The decision was the result of an inquiry sent to Washington by Collector Goodcell, requesting advice as to whether a written agreement entered into between a Los Angeles married man and his wife and son constituted parties thereto partners, and if so, whether the earnings which the wife received from the partnership formed her separate property.

Commissioner Blair in summing up the case, said that it was clear that the taxpayer did intend to give his wife, as her separate property, a vested interest in the partnership formed, and from the California decisions cited it was apparent that the courts of the State would not hesitate to give effect to the intention of the wives, where such intention was plainly evidenced. The conclusion was reached that the wife of the taxpayer is entitled to report as her separate income all amounts earned by her since January 1, 1920, through her interest in the partnership.

SUNSET INN CLOSES AT SANTA MONICA

After one of the most successful seasons in its history, Sunset Inn at Santa Monica was closed last evening with the weekly Photoplayer's Frolic. Each year the inn has been opened for the summer but it is probable now that the establishment will remain closed as it is planned to switch events heretofore given at this place to the Plantation Cafe on Washington Boulevard near Culver City. Sunset Inn was one of the oldest cafes in California. It was owned and operated by the Winter Garden Corporation, which was dissolved this week. The lease on the building has expired and it is probable that the establishment will be remodeled and rented out for some other use. It was announced last night that Photoplayer's Frolics will in the future be given Wednesday nights at the Plantation.

OTHER WOMAN BLAMED FOR MARITAL TROUBLE

The actions of Elliot Caziaro, a retired army officer, who frequently wrote to another woman whose picture adorned his desk, caused her much mental suffering, Mrs. Elsa D. Caziaro declared in a divorce complaint filed yesterday. Mrs. Caziaro stated that her husband, whom, she declared receives a pension of $270 a month from the government, said that he loved a woman named Margaret Code, with whom he exchanged letters, and told his minor children that this woman was the "sweetest girl on earth." Her husband also tried to force his attentions on one of her friends, the wife asserted, and told this friend that he would elope with her.

FUNERAL FOR AUTO VICTIM IS DELAYED

The body of Miss Fern Reeder, pretty 19-year-old Minneapolis girl, who was killed in an automobile wreck Tuesday night while riding in the machine of R. H. Hobday of 1005 Noble street, is awaiting instructions from the girl's parents for funeral arrangements. Miss Reeder had been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Smith of Casario Francisco Court, 5409 Hollywood Boulevard, for the last two months. Hobday was operated on at the County Hospital yesterday morning for fracture of the clavicle and minor lacerations. He is being held by the county authorities on a charge of manslaughter, it being asserted that the girl's death resulted from his reckless driving.

SAYS MATE STAYED FIRM

The high intellectual standards of Mrs. Wanda Adelle Cutler received no consideration at the hands of Edward Warren Cutler, the wife declared in a complaint for divorce filed yesterday in which she charged her husband with cruelty. Cutler persisted in remaining at home and refused to allow her to go out or to form the ordinary friendships which their station in society entitled her to, the wife asserted.

'WAYFARER' RECRUITING ALL NATIONS

Thousand More Actors Cry of Pageant Chiefs; Scenes Rehearsed Daily

Kings and queens of historic story, Cleopatra types, Babylonian slaves, Japanese, Chinese, Syrians and all nationalities and races are wanted at "The Wayfarer" headquarters, 410 West Ninth street, to enroll for the great international scene, "The March of the Nations," the finale in "The Wayfarer," which will be given at the Coliseum, September 8 to 15.

Kathleen Terry.

All applicants will be welcome into this "melting pot" scene and may report at rehearsals which are held every Tuesday and Thursday evening at the University of Southern California gymnasium under Montgomery Lynch, director-in-chief. Singers may still enroll at headquarters or they may register at chorus rehearsals every Monday and Friday evenings at Bovard Auditorium under William Tyroler.

Vincent Y. Veitch, who has been an enthusiastic member of the organization work of "The Wayfarer" and in recruiting the chorus, will register applicants for singing places. Mr. Veitch has never missed a rehearsal.

Those who carry the speaking parts of "The Wayfarer," Mr. Kachel, as the Wayfarer; Katherine Bodkin as Understanding; Kathleen Terry as Mary Magdalene, and Miss Benedict Collamore as the Angel, rehearse every afternoon at the Coliseum with Director Lynch.

Although the regular cast of 4000 actors is already enrolled, about 1000 more persons are needed for the "March of the Nations." This should include people from every part of the city, and from every race represented in the city, occidental and oriental. The tickets are selling rapidly at the downtown box office at Philharmonic Auditorium and the public is urged to make purchases now in order to avoid the inconvenience of waiting in line at the Coliseum the evenings of the performances.

ELECTRIC CLUB WILL TAKE TRIP ON BOAT

VISIT TO SAN DIEGO IS ON PROGRAM AS PART OF YEARLY OUTING

Picnic dinners, organ concerts, a boat trip to San Diego, sports events and many other happenings are scheduled for the first annual outing of the Electric Club of Los Angeles, to begin tomorrow.

The steamer Ruth Alexander has been chartered for the occasion, according to the announcements, while a special train will carry the excursionists to Los Angeles Harbor. The party will return Sunday morning.

ORDER IN RAPARIAN PRIVILEGE TO DITCH

Notice to vacate judgment was received by the Attorney-General's office yesterday in the case of the Rincon Ditch Company, Whittier State School, et al. versus Frank Pellissier, Cross Land and Water Company et al. Defendant gave notice that the motion to vacate judgment will be filed in Department Nine of the Superior Court, September 4. The case concerns the raparian rights to the ditch known as the Rincon Irrigation ditch. The Whittier State School claimed the right to use water from the ditch to irrigate the school lands. This contention was upheld in the Superior Court hearing recently and the school was granted the water rights to the ditch.

DRY AIDES DUE HERE

Rutter and Dolley Coming South; Force Increase Rumored

Samuel F. Rutter, State prohibition agent, and Harold H. Dolley, in charge of the field operations in California, both of San Francisco, will be in Los Angeles, today on official business. It is presumed that the visit at this time has something to do with the proposed increase in the number of Federal enforcement agents in this city, as such an arrangement has been on the books since the beginning of the fiscal year.

The testimony taken a week ago, relating to the proposed cancellation of liquor permits now held by offending druggists, will also be looked over, it is announced. About thirty cases are ready for the approval of State Agent Rutter and Commissioner Haynes.

The visit of the officials at this time is likely to result in the fixing of another bargain day for the benefit of the bootleggers who want to get in out of the wet. The success of the last series of bargain days has encouraged the officers to hold out the inducements again. More than $100,000 in fines was collected on that occasion.

BOND ELECTION IS ASSURED

Sufficient Signatures to Mulholland High Way Scenic Drive Gathered to Insure Success

City Clerk Domingues yesterday completed in record-breaking time the task of checking the petition filed by the property owners in the Hollywood foothills section, asking that a district bond election be called to provide funds for the construction of the Mulholland High Way over the crest of the Santa Monica Mountains.

The City Clerk reported to the City Council that the petition was more than sufficient to authorize the calling of the special election.

Of the 921 registered voters in the assessment district where the election is to be called, 361 valid signatures were found upon the petition, while ninety-two would have been sufficient under the law. It is expected that when the bond election is called the bonds will be voted. The amount will probably be $1,000,000, to be used for the construction of a scenic drive over the mountains from Cahuenga avenue in Hollywood to Ventura Boulevard, near Calabasas.

The new highway will be twenty-five miles long and forty feet in width and will be one of the world's greatest scenic drives. The bond district in which the election will be held is twenty miles long and eight miles in width. The Council yesterday directed the preparation of an ordinance calling the district bond election.

WOMEN ARE SLASHED IN SEQUEL TO FEUD

COLORED GIRL IS ARRESTED FOLLOWING NEIGHBORHOOD QUARREL

As a sequel to a neighborhood feud that recently was aired in Police Judge Richardson's court without satisfactory termination, Leonette Thomas, 22 years of age, and Mrs. Lucinda Wilkins, 29, were slashed across their breasts yesterday as they were walking on Hooper street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets. Both are negresses.

Bessie Proutt, 17, also colored, residing at 507 East Fifteenth street, was arrested by the University police following the affray, and charged with assault with a deadly weapon. Both the wounded women were given treatment at the Receiving Hospital. They are not in a serious condition.

FEDERAL AGENTS HERE IN IRVINE RANCH CASE

A force of Federal land agents reached the city yesterday from San Francisco and will be engaged for the next week in marshaling the evidence of the government against Dr. W. R. Price and Ben McLendon, charged with misuse of the mails in connection with the Irvine Ranch. The asserted misuse of the mails arose in connection with a scheme whereby numerous persons were secured to make homestead entries on portions of the Irvine lands, under the plea that the original grants were invalid and therefore title rested in the government, making the lands subject to entry. This has been held groundless by the federal authorities, who decreed that existing titles were valid. Adam Wilhelm of the local Land Office, who furnished the evidence on which the arrest of Price and McLendon was based, is

STAR WITH STAHL

DOROTHY PHILLIPS IN "WHY MEN LEAVE HOME"

By Grace Kingsley

Dorothy Phillips is to be one of the principal reasons in John M. Stahl's film production of Avery Hopwood's play, "Why Men Leave Home," to be made for Louis B. Mayer. This matter was settled yesterday by Messrs. Mayer, Thalberg and Stahl. Out of a couple of dozen stars interviewed Miss Phillips was selected as the young actress best calculated to convince the public in the role of the lady for whom men would leave their happy homes.

Dorothy Phillips

The principal man to leave home will be Lewis Stone, who likewise has been signed for the production.

And when I add that Mary Carr has been signed for another big role you will be able to see what a fine cast Mr. Stahl is gathering together for this picture.

Dorothy Phillips's appearance in an all-star cast after her years of individual stardom is a distinct tribute to Stahl as a director and another indication of the fact that the cast of this picture is really to be all-star in character as well as in name.

"Why Men Leave Home" will mark Mr. Stone's third picture under Stahl's direction. "The Child Thou Gavest Me" was the first, and the second, "The Dangerous Age," is said to represent the greatest performance of his picture career.

As a stage offering "Why Men Leave Home" was one of the big successes of the past season in New York. Stahl has a flair for the handling of delicately balanced themes and subtle human-interest angles, and there seems no doubt that he is going to have another big success in this picture. A. P. Younger is making the adaptation.

The filming of "Why Men Leave Home" will be started as soon as Stahl completes the editing of his latest attraction, "The Waters," a comedy drama of much promise, according to those who have had a look at it. The director is spending every spare moment collaborating with Mr. Younger on the adaptation of Hopwood's comedy. To facilitate matters, when the day to start shooting finally arrives, a committee of art directors and technical men is working night and day on the plans for the sets. As most of the action transpires indoors, the drafting and construction of the sets for this picture are being made on an elaborate scale.

Carl Miller with Tourneur

It looks as though Carl Miller's work in Chaplin's "A Woman of Paris," in which he played the male lead opposite Edna Purviance, is going to land him as near to stardom as any actor gets in these days of all-star casts.

Maurice Tourneur liked Miller so much when he saw the preview of the Chaplin picture that he sent for the acter and signed him up on a nice contract to play a leading role in his new picture, "Jealous Fools," in which he will appear in dramatic scenes with Jane Novak and Earle Williams.

Fatty Arbuckle in Ohio

All reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Lou Anger is authority for the statement that Roscoe Arbuckle is now making personal appearances in vaudeville and picture houses throughout the Middle West, where he is scoring a big success. Recent cable dispatches reported Arbuckle in Berlin making comedies. Arbuckle is in Ohio at present.

Max Linder Weds

Following the hectic romance in which Max Linder, noted French comedian, indulged when he eloped with 16-year-old Helene Peters over in Paris, several weeks ago news comes from the French capital that Linder has married the girl. The mother of the girl at that time followed the two to Nice, threatening to prosecute Linder.

Vola Vale Buys Home

Training right along with the poets who declare there's no place like home, Vola Vale has purchased a lot on Vine street, up among the hills, and is building a residence thereon.

Miss Vale has just returned from Wheeler Springs where she went for a short vacation.

Harry Singer on Vacation

Harry Singer, western representative of the Orpheum circuit, started this week on a well-earned vacation, the first since he came to this coast a year and a half ago. Having spent most of the past eighteen months commuting between here and San Francisco, Mr. Singer, to keep himself in trim, took a drawingroom for Chicago as the first step in his outing. He will look over the field there and in New York—and play a little golf—before he returns.

To Mr. Singer's efforts is largely due the quite unprecedentedly successful summer season which has been enjoyed by all the houses on the Orpheum circuit, which have kept open, and to the fact that several houses not usually open during the heated term have remained open.

Chick Sale Busy

If fate doesn't double cross us, we are due to get a peek at Chick Sale's first comedy within a few weeks. He is now working away at it. And he's making it without the rube scenery.

The comedian recently made a test during a week of vaudeville, playing his act at one performance without recourse to make-up and wigs, and at another presenting the entire sketch in pantomime. The results caused Sale to decide on straight parts in his screen ventures. He believes that many of the fine points in his characterization will be lost on the screen if his face is draped with beards and wigs.

Louise Fazenda Is Loaned

It does seem as if poor Louise Fazenda just can't get away from black-and-blue comedy. Miss Fazenda, who recently signed a long-term contract with the Warner Brothers as featured player, is not to have any time to play marbles between pictures even if she is going to prove a sensational success as Mabel in "The Gold Diggers" as everybody predicts. Instead she has been loaned by the Warners to Hal E. Roach for a western feature with the temporary title of "Rex," and has now begun work with Fred Jackman director.

Lewis Stone.

O'BRIEN OPENS AT MASON ON MONDAY

Eugene O'Brien, stage and screen star, will be seen in "Steve," a new romantic comedy by Robert L. Dempster, at the Mason Opera House next week. Mr. O'Brien comes here after a tour of the principal cities of the east and directly from a run of five months at the Princess Theater, Chicago.

The play was written for Mr. O'Brien and gives him splendid opportunity to act big love scenes, a proclivity for which he is noted. The supporting cast to be seen here is the same that accompanied Mr. O'Brien throughout the eastern tour. It is headed by Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, who now in her seventy-ninth year is still as sprightly as of yore and said to be adding another triumph to her achievements by her artistry in the interpretation of "Granny Lubee." Others in the cast are Kathleen Wallace, Peggy Whiffen, Mille Stevens, Louise Prussing, Isabel Winlocks, Homer Barton, Earle Larimore, Will Corbet, Barry Curran, William Wing and Bennett Finn.

"GERTIE'S GARTER" IS STILL GOING STRONG

Not in many theatrical moons has a farce so caught the public's fancy as has the Avery Hopwood-Wilson Collison piece "Getting Gertie's Garter," which is doing its bit toward making history at the Egan Theater. For over two months it has made Los Angeles theatergoers chuckle with merriment.

Another clever performance is added to William Burress's many fine achievements as Allen, the butler. Others in this splendid cast that are largely responsible for the success of the farce are Marjorie Bennett, Brady Kline, Florence Printy, J. Frank Glendon, Fred Cummings, Ewen Burroughs, and Hazel Buckham.

VILLAIN SO POPULAR THAT FANS HATE HIM

George Seigmann has played so many brutal human beasts on the screen that the fans almost hate to see him!

His biggest "heavy" role is in "Merry Go Round," now showing at the Mission Theater. He is the brute master of a large section of the Prater, Vienna's "Coney Island." Others who impersonate the freakish characters of the amusement section are Mary Philbin, Dale Fuller, Cesare Gravina, George Hackathorne, Edith Yorke, Lillian Sylvester, Maude George and several whose "bits" in the picture aren't large enough for them to be identified but whose names are big in professional circles.

CHARACTER STUDIES IN "DAYTIME WIVES"

Aside from being a society drama, "Daytime Wives" which comes to Grauman's Third-street Theater Monday offers a series of interesting character studies. It shows the unselfish, self-sacrificing type of business woman who aids her employer in his success in contrast with the selfish, self-satisfied feeling displayed by a rich man's wife with nothing to do but play. While there is a psychological moral on the value of a woman in a man's life, yet this theme is merely made the background for a beautiful love story.

The cast includes Wyndham Standing, Grace Darmond, Derelys Perdue, William Conklin, Edward Hearn, Katherine Lewis, Kenneth Gibson and Mickey McBan.

FRANCES WHITE PAYS HOME TOWN A VISIT

Frances White, a famous musical comedy star now, but, in earlier days the livel ylittle soubrette of many a show here in her home town, is to make a return visit and headline the Orpheum bill Monday. Miss White is now the reigning favorite comedienne of New York.

On the same bill are John T. Murray and Vivien Oakland, also New York musical stars, who will purvey some songs and tales, and Chief Caupolican, noted Indian baritone, who is to sing in native tongue and costume.

VOLA VALE AS HOST

Vola Vale will be host tonight at the weekly dancing contest at the Palais Royal. She will award the prizes.

Complicating Chinese Intrigues

Priscilla Dean,

Flashing star of "Drifting," now showing at Grauman's Third-Street Theater.

Program at Bowl Nears Perfection

A program that in many ways was about as near perfect as programs ever get was given Tuesday night at the Bowl. It was request night, the numbers selected being taken from a majority of votes as to popularity. The Tschaikowsky "Pathetique Symphony," the Peer Gynt Suite by Grieg, and miscellaneous numbers of attractive order made up the evening's program.

The Russian symphony was given a rendition that was in every way inspiring. The orchestra was thoroughly familiar with the music and responded beautifully to the direction. The themes, taken in places almost as so much metered conversation between the various sections of the orchestra, came out with lovely transparency. Occasionally one could wish for perhaps another ten violinists to balance the horns, which continue to be a bit noisy in places, and as well less from the cymbals. However, these are matters somewhat of personal tastes in interpretation. Then again the horns have greater carrying power than the strings, so that where balance is perfect in one place, and for certain instrumental combinations it may not be quite so perfect in another.

"Badinage," by Herbert is one of the most popular of the shorter numbers programmed this season. The balance in tempo rubato, certain delicacies in accelerandos and ritards and clean cut phrasing, and the lightsome melodic appeal won for this number great applause. "Shepherd's Hey," one of the sunniest and as well one of the cleverest bits of orchestration written in half a century, brought about a well deserved repeat. This number indicates a healthy development in the style of modern composition. The program closed with the Strauss "Blue Danube Waltz."

GLORIA SWANSON AT METROPOLITAN NEXT

"Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," the latest picture starring Gloria Swanson, will be the feature at Grauman's Metropolitan beginning Saturday. The picture is an adaptation of Alfred Savoir's Parisian farce, scenarized by Sada Cowan and produced by Sam Wood. The cast includes Huntley Gordon, Paul Weigel, F. R. Butler, Robert Agnew, Irene Dalton, etc.

New feature acts and musical attractions will further enhance the program.

ANOTHER SHOWING FOR "COMMON LAW"

Robert W. Chambers's novel, "The Common Law," will be shown on the screen of the Alhambra Theater beginning Saturday.

Corinne Griffith, Conway Tearle, Elliott Dexter, Hobart Bosworth, Bryant Washburn, Phyllis Haver, Miss Du Pont, Harry Meyers and others of note appear in the cast.

BEST FIGHT YET

Struggle in New "Spoilers" Surpasses First History-Maker

"The King is dead, long live the King."

For years the memorable fistic encounter between William Farnum and Tom Santschi in the first picturization of "The Spoilers" was referred to whenever such things were mentioned among those interested in the movies. This battle made film history and probably did more to make motion pictures a popular form of amusement than any other one thing.

Now that fight has been surpassed and, strange as it may seem, the fight that overshadows that struggle occurs in the second picturization of the same story which is now showing at the California Theater.

Old-timers who remember the first production were skeptical regarding the ability of the producer, director and players to film this scene to even equal the old one. But they came to scoff and remained to cheer, for Milton Sills in the role of Roy Glenister and Noah Beery as McNamara put up a battle that drags the audience to the edge of the chairs at every performance.

TWO BADLY HURT

Men Probably Fatally Injured in Traffic Accidents

Two men were probably fatally injured in traffic accidents yesterday. L. L. Pullman of 5330 Baltimore street was thrown out of his automobile when he crashed into a Los Angeles Railway car at North Broadway and Savoy street. He suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries. Pedro Varquez, a laborer for the Los Angeles Gas Company, was knocked down and run over by a truck on West Sixteenth street near Rosedale Cemetery.

SOLOIST AT BOWL TONIGHT

Ossip Gabrilowitsch at Piano This Evening; to Conduct Saturday

Ossip Gabrilowitsch, will be the solist at the Bowl concert tonight. This great pianist and famous conductor will appear this evening as a pianist, playing the Weber Concert-piece for piano and orchestra in F minor, and Saturday night, as guest conductor, he will wield the baton. To hear Gabrilowitsch play with Oberhoffer conducting is a musical event of a life time, for both musicians represent the utmost in quality.

There are few artists who challenge the attention as does this Russian poet of the keyboard. After he had made a name for himself in the pianistic world that placed him in the front row of the world's greatest, he became conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. This was some seven years ago, and at the time was a surprise to most musicians. When asked last evening about the transition from pianist to conductor, he said: "There was no transition really. It was merely that people had come to know me as a pianist. I have always been extremely interested in orchestral music, have always studied it, and have known many of the scores for years. Transitions like this do not and cannot come at a moment's notice. It must be the result of the study for years."

One of the outstanding musical "stunts" performed by Gabrilowitsch years ago was the playing of nineteen piano concertos with orchestra within the period of a month.

"It was this work," went on Mr. Gabrilowitsch, after being asked about the concerto playing, "that enabled me to know much about orchestra. Not only is it necessary to know the piano part, but one should know the part of every single instrument, if the highest mastery and musicianship is to be attained. I have always, even since I was a youngster, wanted to conduct a symphony orchestra, and my associations as a boy and as a student held me in good stead for this. One who aspires to do great things must study and prepare over the years for this, and when the time comes it may come as a surprise to the public at large, but it is in reality a logical development.

"Last night was the first time that I was ever in the Hollywood Bowl, and I cannot tell you how impressed I was with it. I went up, farther and farther, for every number, in the last half of the program. And the higher one goes the better one hears. The unified effect of the orchestra is marvelous and the acoustics are amazing. Every city should copy Los Angeles in so far as they can in giving music to the people. Here you are singularly blessed, for you have a natural amphitheater, perfect climate, a music-loving people enthusiastic patrons to sponsor the season, one of the ablest conductors—in fact just everything."

Mr. Gabrilowitsch is the husband of Clara Clemens Gabrilowitsch, daughter of Mark Twain. Mrs. Gabrilowitsch, who is now ill in Santa Barbara, and was unable to accompany her husband to Los Angeles this week, is also famous, but as a singer rather than pianist. As a student she aspired to become a great pianist, and studied hard on this instrument. Then she found that she also possessed a beautiful voice, and in studying this as well as piano, she found that her real ability and talent was as a singer. Mr. and Mrs. Gabrilowitsch frequently appear together in joint recital.

Successfully Brings Depth to Photoplay

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—In glowing words George K. Spoor of the old Essanay Film Company has just painted his conception of the motion picture of the future, following experiments on three dimensional films which culminated successfully in his laboratory last week.

The new movie will be as far beyond the present article as the latter is beyond the film projected from the old-fashioned hand-crank cinematograph, Mr. Spoor says. His three-dimension film, which is said to give "natural vision," he heralds as completely "revolutionary."

The "fade out" will fade out, he says. The "close up" will dindle far, far away. Other features of present-day films are due to give place to full life pictures, he asserts, which will afford an impression of depth as well as the present two dimensions of height and length.

Seven years of work and more than $1,000,000 have gone into the new superfilm, according to the announcement.

Carlton Here From India to Resume Career

Having been under contract with D. W. Griffith for two years after the war, Douglas Carlton, director and actor, has arrived in Los Angeles after spending six years in Africa, India, and China, and is now awaiting word from Griffith before resuming cinema work in this country.

While in Calcutta Mr. Carlton directed and took the leading part in "The Underground Mystery of China," which was made in seventeen reels for a chain of theaters in India. He has also directed and acted in "King Solomon's Mines," and "Voortreckers," which were produced at the Kallano studio in South Africa.

Mr. Carlton, whose real name is Dr. J. Rigby, is a surgeon, and also served as an aviator in the war, having won a Distinguished Flying Cross for his bravery.

GERAGHTY IS BACK

Tom J. Geraghty, production editor with the Thomas Meighan unit, has returned from a week's trip in the High Sierras near Fresno, where the company made exteriors for "Woman Proof," the George Ade story which Albert E. Green is directing.

STREET WORK PROGRESSING

Four Major Projects Are Well Under Way

Second-Street Tunnel to be Open Soon

Extension of Hill Will be Completed in Spring

The most important of the projects designed to permit a greater and faster flow of traffic to the west and south from the congested district will be finished within two years, several of them in the next few months. This was learned yesterday by a compilation of the most recent reports on the progress of the various works made by D. M. True of the city engineering department.

These major projects number four and are plus the thirty-five important projects formulated by the Traffic Commission and other bodies. The City Council has appropriated $10,000 to be expended at the rate of $2500 a month for the necessary surveys preparatory to the Traffic Commission program, and this will require some time.

The encouraging thing to traffic-weary automobilists and harried street-car riders is that the four major projects already are under way. Their status and the prospects for completion are as follows:

READY IN JANUARY

The Second-street tunnel should be opened for traffic by January 1. All of the masonry work is finished, and the work of removing the core of earth will be completed in thirty days. This project requires considerable street improvement, which should be finished with completion of the tunnel itself. This includes the lowering of Hill street; the work of lowering the west side is nearly done, and work soon will start on the east side. Also it is necessary to change the grade of Second street from Broadway to Hill street. The paving of these altered levels will follow, and should be finished by the time the paving of the tunnel is finished.

The construction work on the extension of Hill street already has begun. This project calls for the opening and paving of Hill street between Washington and Santa Barbara. Traffic down Hill now is diverted to the west and east at Washington, but with the improvement it can continue on south. This improvement will be finished, according to the contractors' agreements, on March 24, next year.

TO OPEN FIFTH STREET

The Fifth-street cut will be finished within a year if all goes well. By it Fifth is to be opened from Grand west, passing the new Public Library site and on to Flower; then west as soon as title to the necessary land can be obtained. It then will connect with Sixth street at the top of the hill in front of the new Salvation Army Building. The grading of the first division of this work has been finished between Grand and Flower. An action at law brought by a Flower-street property owner is delaying the project, but soon should be settled.

The widening of Tenth street, the fourth of the major projects, will consume about two years because of the magnitude of the project and the legal complications in condemnation of the necessary right of way. The street is to be widened from sixty feet at present to 100 feet, permitting almost a double flow of traffic. This will be done for its length from the eastern city limits at Indiana street to a connection with Country Club Drive, where the pavement begins in front of the Los Angeles High School.

PEN UP FOWLS AT SAWTELLE

Chickens Regulated Now That City is Part of Los Angeles

Now that Sawtelle is a part of Los Angeles, residents of that section have informed the City Council that as befitting conditions in a metropolitan city, the practice of keeping chickens—feathered variety—in the residential parts of Sawtelle should be stopped. One of the first petitions to arrive came from Frances L. Kudner of Berry street, Sawtelle, who told of a barnyard nuisance near her house, which she said was injurious to her health and peace of mind.

"We have come here for quiet and pure air," wrote Miss Kudner, "and the City Council should see that we get it."

The City Council instructed City Prosecutor Friedlander to get busy and yesterday the City Prosecutor reported that the Sawtelle barnyard nuisance had been abated.

WARRANTS ARE ISSUED FOR WOMEN

Speed Court Disciplines Four in This Way for Refusal to Appear Before It

Police Judge Chambers, whose judicial handling of speeding motorists is seconded in severity only by the famed Judge Cox of Santa Ana, received a suprising shock yesterday when four prominent local women refused to appear in his court for trial. The women are now due to receive a return surprise. Warrants for the arrest of the four were ordered by the judge.

Those for whom warrants were issued, after they had disobeyed the court's orders, were Miss Maude H. Tittlebach, 254 North Rampart Boulevard, charged with driving thirty-one miles an hour; Mrs. T. H. Dudley, 407 Seventh street, Santa Monica, thirty-one miles; Miss Evelynn Starr Leslie, 4806 Melrose street, thirty-three miles, and Mrs. P. A. Lord, 1508 Fremont avenue, thirty-three miles. Miss Maxine Lowe, 1410 Norman Way, who was to have appeared before Judge Chambers Tuesday, is to appear for trial today, she told the court.

S. Margeson, charged with driving thirty-five miles an hour, was fined $50 by Judge Chambers yesterday. Harry Klanberg, who was arrested by motorcycle officers after it was asserted he drove at the rate of forty miles an hour along Griffith avenue near West Adams street, was committed to jail and will receive his sentence today.

DE MILLE ON TRIP AFTER SWORDFISH

Cecil and His Brother Depart With Completion of "Ten Commandments"

Cecil B. De Mille and his brother, William C. De Mille, left Los Angeles Harbor in the former's schooner yacht Seaward yesterday, just twenty hours after the completion of what Hollywood claims to be one of the largest motion pictures ever made within its borders. This is "The Ten Commandments." Story by Jeanie MacPherson, on which Cecil B. De Mille has been engaged for four months. It has been a focus of unusual interest, as it is the first attempt to use the world's most famous code of laws as the basis of a dramatic photoplay.

William C. De Mille has just completed "The Marriage Maker" for Paramount. The present trip is in the nature of a consolation prize for the two producers. Cecil De Mille early in the summer entered the Seaward in the Santa Barbara-to-Honolulu race which has just been concluded. Because he could not finish his picture in time he was forced to withdraw.

The De Mille brothers will devote the next several weeks to a consideration of swordfish and their habits, in place of their usual cinema contemplations. With them is Rudolph Berliner of New York and Montreal.

Aviator Accused of Endangering Boatmen's Lives

A puzzler for criminal lawyers was placed before Dept. Dist-Atty. Powell yesterday in the question of whether an airplane constitutes a deadly weapon. The question is raised in the case of A. C. Burns, and aviator, arrested at Catalina on complaint of Fred W. Forrester of Avalon. Mr. Powell will go to Catalina to decide it.

Mr. Forrester asserts Burns is in the habit of making nose dives and other swoops too near small craft in the vicinity of Avalon harbor. A short time ago, the complaint declares, Mr. Forrester and his son had to throw themselves on the bottom of their boat to escape being struck by Burns's plane.

Burns was arrested Monday, pleaded not guilty and had his hearing set for Saturday before Justice Windle of Avalon.

WIFE SAYS MATE BIT HER

The intervention of her parents after her husband had dragged her from bed and had bitten her on the shoulder saved Anita Rossi form further injury at the hands of Allessandro Rossi, the wife declared in a complaint for divorce filed yesterday in Superior Court. On another occasion Rossi chased her around the house with a butcher knife and threatened to kill her, the wife stated.

Where every home pays dividends

EVERY foot of property in the magic city of Glendale is inevitably destined to increase in value.

Already the record-smashing expansion of this forward-marching city has made fortunes for the property owners who have used good judgement in hanging on in the face of tempting offers for their holdings.

But past gains in value are as nothing to the future profits that are still to be made here in the key-city, lying midway between Hollywood and Pasadena but closer to Los Angeles Center than either.

It is not too much to expect any well selected home or home-site in Glendale to increase in value at a rate far in excess of all interest and taxes thus paying actual substantial dividends to the fortunate owner as well as serving as an attractive all-the-year-round residence in one of the beauty spots of Southern California.

Glendale's population has increased from 13,356 in 1920 to more than 42,000 today,—and the greater part of this amazing growth has taken place in the last 12 months,—proof positive of accelerating volume.

Glendale today is a modern city in every respect,—hardly a downtown building now exists that is more than 5 years old,—the entire beautiful residence section is new and architecturally delightful—schools, churches, clubs, stores, and all city improvements are fully up to the exacting standards of the genuine American citizenship represented here in the Northern gateway to Los Angeles.

Study Glendale's position on the map,—learn more about Glendale as a place to live happily and profitably.—Write for the new beautifully illustrated Glendale booklet, just off the press and full of facts.

Forward-marching Glendale must grow!—bringing actual tangible profits to every home owner in the city.

Glendale like a WEDGE of GOLD pierces almost to the center of Los Angeles, holding the key position in the growth of a mighty city. Glendale must Grow.

Mail From San Francisco to New York Made in Twenty-eight Hours

Postal Officials See Cheaper Service by Air Transportation

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Running ahead of schedule, mail planes landed in New York and San Francisco today, completing the second trans-continental test-flight, while the other mail planes were speeding across the continent ahead of their schedules in the third test-flight.

The plane carrying mail that left the Golden Gate yesterday morning in the second flight, landed at New York at 12:22 p.m. spanning the continent in twenty-seven hours, fifty-six minutes, four minutes under the estimated twenty-eight hours.

The westbound plane, with its burden of letters from the Atlantic seaboard, completed its trip across the country when it landed at San Francisco at 1:45 o'clock, two and one-half hours ahead of its estimated time.

Meanwhile the third flight gave promise of equaling or bettering the record of the second. The mail plane left New York this morning and arrived here at 5:58 p.m. Central standard time, and the plane carrying it hopped off two minutes later, fifty-nine minutes ahead of schedule and with prospects of making a greater lead during the night flight over the 835 miles of the allotted airway to Cheyenne.

The eastbound plane, scheduled to leave its companion during the night, was roaring across the plains with prospects of making better time than the night schedule called for. It arrived in Cheyenne, the east end of the night airway trail, at 7:37 p.m., Mountain time, over an hour ahead of schedule.

The sixth flight, scheduled for today, was called off to give the pilots a rest, it was announced yesterday by Postmaster-General New and Assistant Postmaster-General Glover, who added that the mail flights had proved the feasibility of transcontinental mail planes.

Planes were scheduled to leave New York and San Francisco tomorrow on the fourth
